HOOVER LAUNCHES GIANT CHILD WELFARE PROJECT

Experts Asked to Find Method for Youth to Meet Demands of Complex New Age

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19. (AP)—President Hoover tonight laid a vast engineering project of the utmost magnitude before 3000 selected experts in child welfare.

Opening his White House conference on child health and protection, the President called upon its members for a solution of the problem of giving children the mental and physical health needed to meet the demands of the magic age of machinery and associated endeavor into which they will grow.

The audience into whose hands the President gave the question selected experts in every phase of child well-being. Educators, welfare workers, scientists, physicians—men and women who have worked in laboratories, among the poor, in hospitals and sick rooms—took up the heaping the task of blazing a new trail for humanity to meet the crowding complexities of modern life.

PREPARED FOR YEAR

To serve for guidance, as a compass, and as information assembled from the far ends of the nation, the findings, observations and opinions of little knots of men and women experts who have delved into the secrets of child training during the past year.

These are bound into volumes giving the views of 1200 child experts. They embrace special studies of children, mentally and otherwise, and of handicapped children. After months of discussion the delegates will take the information they have gained back to their homes to apply it in performing their daily work.

The President was introduced by Dr. Ray Lyman Wilbur, the chairman of the conference. Around him on the platform were grouped men and women prominent in the government service and notable in child problems.

"NO PRECEDENT"

"The problems of the child are always the problems of the future," he said. "In the vision and hope of our social fabric, we have projected new ambitions, we have produced a complexity of life for which there is no precedent. With machines we have increased man's power and capacity enormously, extending his physical world into a wholly new realm, and we must be prepared to develop new contacts and new relations. They must be physically, mentally and spiritually placed to meet the increasing pressures of life. Their problem is not one of physical health, but of mental, emotional, spiritual life.

"These are the problems that I have come here to present to you to answer. This task is one that we have come here to perform. It is one that has never been done before. These problems are not easily answered, they reach the very root of our national life. We need to think squarely and to accuse

SOS CHEATS SEA'S FURY

Hundreds Saved in Shipwrecks

Vessels Lost but Wireless Makes Possible Rescue of 568 Persons

Victims in One Case Follow Ancient Code in Taking Long Way to Safety

By the Associated Press

The magic of wireless, plus the traditional heroism of the hardy men of the sea, saved the lives of 568 persons on storm-tossed seas yesterday.

Twenty-seven men and one woman followed the ancient code of the ocean and rowed half a mile through raging waters to reach the liner Mauretania, summoned by the SOS after they had abandoned the distressed Swedish freighter Ovidia off the Grand Banks of Newfoundland.

The United States liner America, veteran of many rescues, was closer and the United States freighter Endicott also was near by, but the valiant twenty-eight pulled farther for the Mauretania, obeying the unwritten law of the deep that the first boat on the scene makes the rescue.

Far to the other side of the Atlantic, 535 men and women were taken safely off the liner Highland Hope in lifeboats and lodged in Lisbon, after their vessel had crashed on the rocks off the Portuguese coast. Only two casualties were reported.

Up in the North Sea five seamen drowned after a collision of the British steamer Continental freighter and the British steamer Hebble in Antwerp Roads. The Continental freighter sank but five others of her crew were rescued.

Shipping circles were concerned for the small Swedish steamer Tanja which dropped out of sight in the South Baltic after she left Danzig ten days ago.

STORM TOLL RUNS HIGH

Nineteen Killed in Southwest

Oklahoma, Arkansas, Kansas Areas Swept by Tornado Injuring Hundred

Property Damage Great as Winds Wreck Buildings Over Wide Path

By the Associated Press

Sweeping parts of Oklahoma, Arkansas and Kansas, tornadic winds whose violence centered at Bethany, Okla., have exacted a toll of nineteen dead, injured scores and done great property damage.

The greatest damage was reported at Bethany, seven miles west of Oklahoma City, where eighteen lives were lost. At least 100 persons were injured and more than 200 buildings were destroyed. A large portion of the business district at Ola, Ark., was wrecked. A city official there was killed.

A schoolhouse was razed at Victoria, Kan., where sixteen children were injured. None of those injured was hurt critically. Much property near by was damaged.

Twenty buildings were swept down at Neal, Kan. One man was struck on the head by a flying board.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Nov. 19. (AP)—A tornado of terrific force today cut a swath of death and destruction through the little church colony of Bethany, seven miles west of here.

Eighteen persons were killed, one hundred were injured and approximately 200 buildings were destroyed. Several persons were injured so critically that they first were included in the death list.

Striking during a heavy rainstorm, the tornado leveled a 200-yard path through the eastern edge of the town, burying many persons in the splintered wreckage of their homes.

Dropping first a few miles south of Bethany, the twisting funnel of death wrecked the Camel Creek schoolhouse, killing four pupils and injuring the teacher and ten other children.

Floyd Roetiger, 12 years of age, a pupil, described how Miss Mary Procter, the teacher, attempted to save the children and how he called an ambulance and removed two dead from the ruins.

"It kept getting darker all the time," he related. "I was looking out the window. Soon I heard a loud noise, I shouted, 'Here it comes!'

"The kids screamed. Miss Procter told us to be quiet and all to fall on the floor. Every one did. But before we were all down, it seemed the school was sliding. Then all of a sudden it crashed.

DEAD CARRIED OUT

"The next thing I remember was a man telling me to call an ambulance. When I got back, I carried Delbert Sharp to the Zorline house. I knew he was dead. Then I found Marguerite Zorline also dead and also carried her to her mother."

The tornado whipped on north through the eastern side of Bethany. State headquarters of the Nazarene Church and home of Bethany Peniel College, a denominational school.

The first organized relief workers into the wreckage were the football team of the near-by Putnam Consolidated School. Two members of this group alone carried eight dead from the wrecked homes.

When Mrs. W. L. Burton saw the storm approaching she caught her baby in her arms and sheltered it as the house collapsed. Her husband found her, shivering in the rain, the child still clutched in protection.

The baby escaped with minor scratches but Mrs. Burton was badly lacerated.

LIST OF DEATHS

The death list stood tonight as follows:

R. L. Hoover, Mrs. I. E. Murphy, E. K. Dixon, Marguerite Zurline, Delbert Sharp, Clyde Sharp, Helen Sharp, Mrs. Fleta Wright, Roxie Wright, Mrs. Carl Robinson, Richard Robison, Mrs. R. E. Davis, Mrs. James Stephens, Mrs. A. E. Manning, William M. Dobbs, Marvin Murphy, Reynolds, baby; Mrs. John Douglas.

Farm residences three miles south of Hillsdale, Okla., were demolished by the terrific wind. Only one person was believed seriously hurt.

ONE KILLED, TEN HURT IN OLA (ARK.) STORM

OLA (Ark.) Nov. 19. (AP)—A storm of tornadic proportions struck here tonight, killing a city official and injuring ten other persons. It destroyed half the business buildings in this town of nearly 1000 inhabitants.

D. D. Powell, City Recorder, was killed instantly when his home was blown down. Both of Mrs. Powell's legs were broken, and her niece, Miss Josie Page, was seriously hurt.

Train Wrecker Caught in Act

HAMMOND (Ind.) Nov. 19. (AP) Stanley Socco of Chicago was arrested here today after he is asserted to have attempted to wreck the Michigan Flyer passenger train en route from Chicago to Boston.

Shortly before the train passed through here Al Holfin, a section foreman, came upon Socco strewing steel spikes along the rails. Holfin overpowered the man and cleared away the obstruction.

Parents Reopen Closed School

OKLAHOMA CITY, Nov. 19. (AP)—Rebellious parents who objected to the closing of the Wheeler public school because of its proximity to oil and gas wells today conducted their own classes in the building.

Facts About Longevity

The longest-lived people in the world are New Zealanders. The average age is 62 for men and 64 for women.

In Europe, Denmark shows the best figures—60 years for men and 62 for women.

In France the average is about seven and one-half years shorter than in England. In Germany, the figures are the same as ours. In America the average life is 59 years.

The figures for India are startling. The average age is only 23. For males and 22 for females.

Out of every 1000 persons born, six live to be over 80 years old. All of us who have begun the seventh decade have beaten the average.

HAWAII FLOOD TOLL RISES

Ten Bodies Found and Twenty Missing as City of Honolulu Clears Away Debris

HONOLULU, Nov. 19. (AP)—With ten bodies recovered and twenty reported missing today, the death list lengthened as workers searched debris piled by the flood which swept Northern Honolulu late yesterday. Most of those drowned were Orientals; others were Hawaiians and Portuguese.

Among the dead and missing were many children. Japanese mothers said the children were swept from their homes by water which raged through the buildings before they were able to remove the children to safety.

MUCH DAMAGE DONE

Property damage by the sudden torrent from the mountains above the city was estimated at $150,000 by the Honolulu engineering department.

The entire island of Oahu was drenched with rain yesterday, three inches falling within a few hours.

Late in the day the flood crashed down the Kalihi Valley, through the Kalihi district of the city into the ocean.

Northern King street, main artery leading to Fort Shafter, was inundated several feet and many houses were tossed from their foundations. One structure was deposited in the middle of King street, which with Queen street was filled with wreckage.

Under clear skies today, hundreds of men repaired bridges, and removed debris from Kalihi Valley, Fort Shafter gulch and Moanalua Valley, which were covered with uprooted trees, boulders and mud.

WATER STILL RUNS

Water late today still ran several inches deep across King street, where a six-foot stream had carried automobiles off the road.

The road to Schofield Barracks was closed by the washing out of a bridge eight miles from Honolulu.

Hundreds of automobiles were abandoned by officers and navy yard workers between Pearl Harbor and Honolulu. Other roads to the city from other parts of Oahu Island were blocked with machines, stranded when water flooded the engines.

The main pipe supplying water to the Pearl Harbor navy yard was washed out. The hospital was supplied with water today from a small reserve tank, and a large force of men began repairing the main pipe. The navy yard, submarine base and naval air station at Luke Field were without water for general use.

COLD WAVE SWEEPING EASTWARD

Storm From Rockies to End Period of Record November Heat

CHICAGO, Nov. 19. (Exclusive)—All-time heat records for late November were established today in Chicago and other parts of the Central States while a blizzard howled its way eastward out of the Rocky Mountains into Nebraska, Kansas and Missouri. Chicago is in for wintry blasts tomorrow.

The mercury in Chicago reached 74.9 deg., surpassing the previous high mark for late November set on November 20, 1913, when 72.3 was recorded. Carbondale and other towns in Southern Illinois sweltered at 80 deg. and Indianapolis reported butterflies out and larks singing in temperatures above 80.

The western cold wave, however, is moving rapidly eastward and the Chicago Weather Bureau tonight predicted probable showers for early tomorrow, with severely colder weather late in the afternoon.

Denver tonight is under twelve inches of snow and transcontinental air mail is paralyzed over both the northern and southern routes across the Rocky Mountains, while automobile traffic was halted as far east as Sidney, Neb., with no indication of a let-up in the snowstorm which began along the Pacific Coast last Sunday and since has been making its way steadily eastward.

AUTOMATIC PLANE PILOT SUCCESSFUL

New Device Holds Craft Level or Takes It Through Climbs, Banks and Turns

CLEVELAND, Nov. 19. (AP)—A new type airplane-piloting robot was acclaimed here today after a successful flight from Cleveland to Buffalo with the mechanical contrivance in complete control of the craft except during the take-off and in landing.

Earl F. Ward, operations manager of Colonial Western Airways, and Maj.-Gen. John F. O'Ryan, vice-president of the Aviation Corporation, made the experiment yesterday. The robot is the invention of Otto H. Green of Elyria, O.

Green's device holds a plane in level flight, takes it through glides, climbs, turns and banks. It uses vanes placed between and ahead of the wings to direct the control.

Army pilots also have made successful experiments with a gyroscopic control, but the gyroscope device will not handle the plane for banks and turns, it is said.

MICHIGAN AREA FEELS TEMBLORS

Recurrent Shocks in Lake Region Scare Many but Cause No Damage

PONTIAC (Mich.) Nov. 19. (AP)—A large section near Oxbow Lake was shaken tonight by what was believed to be an earthquake.

The shocks were most severe in the regions of Oxbow, Union, Green, Cass, Orchard and Straits lakes, near here. There were no reports of damage.

At Kego Harbor houses were shaken so violently that many persons ran into the streets. Dishes were rattled and scores of persons, aroused from sleep, telephoned the police and fire departments.

Lava Spurts as Isle's Fire Gods Stir Kilauea Pit

HONOLULU, Nov. 18. (AP)—The Interisland Navigation Company here received a radio today from the manager at Volcano House, Island of Hawaii, stating "Halemaumau is active." Halemaumau is the pit of Kilauea Volcano, the largest of the island chain.

A later message said three fountains are erupting in the south corner of the pit. Lava was tossed 150 feet high from one fountain while the other two were erupting to a height of seventy-five feet.

The volcano pit averages about 1200 feet in depth.

War Secretary's Pilot Missing in Arizona Storm

TUCSON (Ariz.) Nov. 19. (AP)—Lieut. Cornelius Causland, personal pilot for Secretary of War Hurley, is believed missing tonight somewhere in the storm-beaten Southwest in an army plane.

The pilot left Tucson at 9 a.m. today and had not reported from El Paso, his designation.

From Rockwell Field, San Diego, came word that five or six army pursuit ships under the command of Lieut. Mallory will leave the coast city for Tucson early tomorrow to await orders for a search.

Belasco Gains Against Illness

NEW YORK, Nov. 19. (AP)—David Belasco, 76-year-old theatrical producer, was declared by his physician tonight to be slightly improved in his fight against lobar pneumonia which caused him to be hurried home from Baltimore to a sick bed Monday night.

THREE BODIES TAKEN FROM WRECKAGE OF LOST PLANE

Missing Air-Mail Craft Discovered Shattered on Foothill of Tehachapi Range

Telescoped into a misshapen ball of wreckage, and with its three occupants dead, the missing Pacific Air Transport mail-and-passenger Boeing transport biplane, for which scores of other planes and hundreds of men afoot had been searching since early Tuesday, was found yesterday on the rolling rocky slopes of the Tehachapi foothills, about six miles east of Gormans.

An ironical touch was lent the tragic discovery by the fact that the wreck's location is but a mile and a half, in a northerly direction, from the emergency airport established on the edge of Antelope Valley, following news of the plane's disappearance, and used since then as the base of searching operations.

FOUND BY RANGER

Edward E. Newsom, a forest ranger, stumbled upon the wreckage unsuspectingly about 3 p.m. while riding the barren wastes in line of duty. In the open cockpit of what had been the speedy night-mail carrier, was the body of Flavius A. Donaldson, veteran military and commercial pilot. Some feet from the twisted mass were those of George A. Rogers, the company mechanic, and Miss Jean Schmidt, 21-year-old passenger on the ill-fated aerial voyage.

Putting the spurs to his mount, Newsom raced to the emergency airport and broke the news of his find. And a moment later Pilot Jack Parshall of P.A.T., set down his plane and confirmed the tragic message. He had observed the wreckage from the air at about the same time.

PLANES LAND

Led by Thomas F. Hamilton, president of United Airports Company of California, a party went at once by automobile to the foothills, while Parshall, re-entering his ship, circled above and indicated the exact spot. Meantime, word of the discovery was flashed by radio to the twosecore planes which were searching vainly over the ridges and canyons miles away, and they converged to the area above the wrecked ship's resting-place. A number of them, in fact, ventured landings in the immediate vicinity, despite the undulating and rock-studded terrain.

A careful examination of the wreckage revealed that the plane had struck nose first and plowed up the upward slope of the hill a distance of 150 feet. The heavy motor itself was a complete wreck, the cylinder heads having burst their bonds in the terrific impact with earth. The 319 pounds of mail the plane had been carrying to Oakland and Portland, however, was intact in its sacks.

Five hundred feet from where the ship finally piled up a furrow in the ground indicated that it may have struck on one wing before hurtling forward on its nose, it was stated by R. Parish, one of the first to reach the scene. An aileron was found 500 feet away—evidently spun through space by the impact, Parish said.

SEVERAL THEORIES

Several theories were advanced as to the cause of the fatal crack-up.

Lieut. Fred Solter, pursuit pilot attached to the Eleventh Bombardment Group, Rockwell Field, San Diego, stated he believes the formation of ice on the wing surfaces of the plane was responsible for the crash. He was among those who flew over the scene and made an inspection of the wreckage. He pointed out that Donaldson's last radio report had complained he could not force his plane higher than 11,000 feet, whereas the Boeing ship normally should have been able to attain 15,000 feet.

Donaldson's confessed inability to exceed 11,000 feet, therefore, according to the army flyer, indicates that ice accumulated on his wings as he circled desperately above Lebec in the sleet and snow of Monday night's storm, and thus reduced the ship's lifting power. The formation of ice, according to aeronautical theory, cuts down the necessary vacuum for lifting power by diverting the rush of air to an improper angle.

OTHER SUGGESTIONS

Another airman theorized that Donaldson cracked up in spiraling downward with a view of seeking a landing spot, and that the extremely poor visibility cut off his view of the gently sloping hillsides.

UNIVERSITY TO REVAMP

Chicago Upsets Traditions

Long-Standing Fixed Course Idea Slated for Discard in Unusual Test

Time Limits to Be Ignored; Graduation in Year or Less Possibility

CHICAGO, Nov. 19. (Exclusive)—The University of Chicago announced today that the trustees and faculty have sanctioned the beginning of a new and radical experiment in educational and teaching methods.

The antiquated machinery of a fixed and formal education is to be scrapped and, in place of the present undergraduate course with its four years, certain numbers of credits and degree at the end, a new type of college is to be created in which the student will be able to graduate whenever he can pass a comprehensive examination.

A genius may get through in two months, a brilliant student in a year. One who enjoys the social side of college life may loaf along for four years. Then there is a passing and a weeding, but no degree. The students upon whom the university thinks it worth while to spend more time and money then will go on in special courses, but still with no time limitations, where they will be given degrees.

COURSE OF OPERATION

The present graduate school is to go and in place of this and the present undergraduate courses, the nonprofessional training will divide into five main sections, each with a dean. These are the social sciences division, the physical sciences division, the biological sciences division, the humanities division and the college.

This reorganization forms the framework around which the new educational method is to be built. It may be extended, if found successful, into the professional schools, shortening courses there, so that it will not take so long to be a doctor or lawyer, but one will be a better doctor or lawyer.

AIM OF EFFORT

This experiment challenges the attention of the whole educational world, for it is an effort to answer the question of whether college is worth while and to put the burden of this largely on the individual. It is a flowering of tendencies which have been noted for the last few years in several American institutions.

It began at the University of Chicago several years ago in the honor courses under Dr. Max Mason's presidency.

It is now looked upon by President Robert Maynard Hutchins and the university authorities as a sort of "five-year plan," for if by that time its good effects are not apparent in the student world and in research and in teaching, it may be changed for a better plan or abandoned.

"In this new institution which we are starting we hope to teach the teacher how to teach as well as the student how to study," said President Hutchins. In the old method

MOISTURE CLOSE TO NORMAL

California's Rainfall, Withheld in Recent Years, Everywhere Approaches Seasonal Average

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 19. (AP)—California, which often in recent years has failed to get its normal moisture rations, is closer to the normal mark this autumn, United States Forecaster Bowie said today.

Much of this moisture is in the form of snow which lies in a thick blanket over the far western mountains and higher hills.

At Soda Springs, otherwise known as Summit, Cal., the Weather Bureau's checking point for the Sierras, the snow is thirty inches deep as a result of two storms within the week. Usually on November 15 the snow there is only ten inches deep.

INCHES TO FEET

Elsewhere, over the uplands from British Columbia to Southern California, the snow varies in depth from a few inches to six feet. The rainfall also has been more than usual to date. Both snow and rain came from cyclonic disturbances over the Pacific which brought vapor inland to be condensed when it struck colder inland currents.

Truckee had four inches and the Siskiyous an average of six inches of snow. Figures gathered by the Pacific Gas and Electric Company at its mountain plants show the rain and snow in the Pit, Feather and American River regions have already reached the yearly average for the last thirty-six years and are many times greater than at this time last year.

YEAR'S RAIN TABLE

Station—	1930	1929	Normal
San Francisco	2.43	.01	2.83
Los Angeles	1.08	.32	1.45

BODIES OF TRIO FOUND IN PLANE

Inquest Today May Reveal Tragedy Cause

Ranger and Airman Find Fallen Craft

He probably believed, this pilot said, that he still was well over the floor of the Antelope Valley.

A third theory ascribed the triple tragedy to a downdraft, the dread of all flying men. In the terrific gales prevailing Monday night and early Tuesday, it is quite possible such a draft may have caught the ship in its deadly grip and swirled it downward to destruction.

At all events, it was agreed by all experts who inspected the wreck that Donaldson was on his course and headed northward. Only the darkness and accompanying storm contributed to the disaster, the pilots pointed out, for the numerous landings yesterday established that Donaldson could have come to earth with his craft safely under ordinary conditions.

BODIES REMOVED

Shortly before sundown the bodies of Donaldson, Rogers and Miss Markow were removed to Bakersfield. There an inquest probably will determine the exact cause of the fatality.

Why the wreckage was not sighted before Newsom stumbled upon it in his rounds was attributed by all searchers to the fact that it had never occurred to them Donaldson might have been seeking a landing in the valley. To a man they were of the belief he had come to grief in one of the many forbidding canyons of the Tehachapis, more to the westward, and it was in and over this part of the country that they concentrated their search.

The discovery yesterday brought to an end a search that had endured for forty-three hours. Renewing the systematic search proceeded Tuesday, the fleets of planes and hundreds of land searchers, set out at dawn again yesterday. In the sky were ten army Boeing pursuit planes, three twin-motored army bombers, one trimotored army Fokker, two Marine observation planes, three navy planes, and more than twenty commercial ships, all reconnoitering under the general supervision of P. D. Bush, Los Angeles division operations manager of P.A.T., and C. E. Johnson, Pacific Coast operations director, basing at the Antelope Valley emergency field. The land crews were directed by President Hamilton of United Airports Company.

REWARD OFFERED

During the day the search was spurred by the offer of $1000 reward. The offer was posted by Hamilton and provided for the payment of $1000 "to be paid the party or parties locating and first reaching the P.A.T. mail-and-passenger plane which has been lost in the mountains near Kelso since 2:07 p.m. Tuesday. Should more than one person actually locate or find the missing plane the reward will be divided evenly between the successful searchers." Fred Denslow, United Airport manager, announced the offer in behalf of Hamilton.

Three women were in a state of collapse last night as a result of the tragedy. They are Mrs. Donaldson and Mrs. Rogers, wives of the pilot and mechanic, respectively, and Mrs. L. M. Schmidt of 806 South Schmidt, the lone passenger.

Throughout the day both Mrs. Donaldson and Mrs. Rogers kept up a constant vigil in the P.A.T. offices at the United Airport, and a short time before the wreckage was found Mrs. Donaldson, unable longer to endure the suspense, asked to be driven to the Antelope Valley field. She received the news there and was flown back to the United Airport by Pilot E. L. Remlin.

VETERAN FLYER

Pilot Donaldson lived at 1027 North Alameda street, Burbank, with his wife and widowed mother. He was born in Milford, Iowa. Known as "Putch" he started his career as an automobile racing driver and when he was 16 years of age, won a race in which his father, also a driver, was killed. With his three brothers, Grant, Orville and Louis, he later bought four airplanes and went on a barnstorming tour of the country. He had 600 hours in the air to his credit when he enlisted in the Army. On his discharge he resumed flying, as a commercial pilot, and came to Los Angeles on his honeymoon in 1924. He had a total of 4900 hours in the air on his commercial flying record.

MADE NUMEROUS TRIPS

Miss Schmidt, it was learned at United Airport, had made numerous plane trips up and down the Coast. Her last began at San Diego Sunday night. She flew here, stopped over a day with her mother, and then boarded Donaldson's plane Monday night, bound for Portland, Or., to visit friends. Her mother tried unsuccessfully, she said, yesterday, to dissuade her from making the trip.

While deploring the mishap to the Donaldson plane, Pacific Air Transport officials, in a statement made in Seattle, last night pointed with pardonable pride that since it began business three and a half years ago its planes had flown a total of 12,000,000 miles—half of them at night—with the loss by accident of only one pilot and three passengers. Until Donaldson's plane cracked up, the record was 7,000,000 miles flown with no fatality.

BROTHER IN CRASH

Donaldson's brother, Grant, also a P.A.T. pilot, figured in a spectacular air crash October 2, 1928. Flying between Medford, Or., and Portland, at that time, he attempted to get under a fog in the pass between Glendale, Or., and Canyonville, and struck Canyon Mountain, shearing off the tree tops and piling up against a cliff. A passenger, B. P. Donovan of Los Angeles, was burned to death and Donaldson was burned seriously in an effort to rescue him and the mail. He spent nearly a year in the hospital. At present Grant is flying the San Jose-Oakland route, but was ordered here Tuesday to aid in the aerial search for his brother.

MORE JOIN SEARCH FOR LOST PILOTS

Wreckage Reported Found in Canada May Be Clew to Some of Missing Six

PRINCE RUPERT (B. C.) Nov. 19. (AP)—With the entry of two more United States Navy planes in the search for six missing Canadian and American flyers in this region, a report reached here today of plane wreckage being sighted on Banks Island, seventy-five miles south of here.

Pilot Robin Renahan, Sam Clerf and Frank Hatcher, flying to the rescue of Pilot "Paddy" Burke, Emil Kading and the prospector, Bob Marten, who have been missing nearly six weeks in the interior northeast of here, disappeared in the vicinity of Banks Island three weeks ago.

Rescue pilots hope to be able to investigate the report of wreckage there tomorrow.

While the two United States Navy planes were being prepared for flight from Seattle to Ketchikan, Alaska, tomorrow, two more were reported at Medford, Or., on their way northward.

The patient, Joseph Baskin, recovered temporarily from several attacks of the illness, his wife said, but collapsed Monday night. Numerous physicians high in the profession here have given their assistance to the sufferer.

LOCAL FORECAST FAIR WITH LIGHT FROSTS

While the cool weather period yesterday extended over the coastal plain of Southern California in the wake of a rainstorm accompanied by gales, weather observers last night predicted warmer weather in some areas and no danger to the citrus orchards from frosts.

The local Weather Bureau forecast more fair and cool weather, light frosts in the interior and exposed places and moderate northeast winds.

San Diego yesterday experienced the second coldest day of the year when the mercury dropped to 42 deg. January 8 was the lowest at 41 deg.

In the citrus regions light frosts were expected this morning on the more exposed ranches, although no widespread smudging was advised by weather observers.

Last night a light northeast wind was blowing over the Santa Clara Valley orchards and with the storm apparently past the menace of frost was believed averted, according to E. S. Ellison, observer at Santa Paula.

F. D. Young, meteorologist at Pomona, reported last night a degree colder than Tuesday night at 26 deg. He said no particular danger existed, but some ranchers in the exposed districts might light their orchard fires early this morning.

STRANDED TOURISTS REOPEN ROAD

TRUCKEE, Nov. 19. (AP)—Stranded tourists, whose automobiles were blocked by heavy snows on Donner Summit, reopened the pass today after highway officials decided the road was closed for the winter. One hundred cars had been abandoned in the heavy snow.

When the tourists had reopened the road, State rotary plows were put back on the job to make the highway more passable and keep it open.

UNIVERSITY CLASSES AT WASHINGTON WET

SEATTLE, Nov. 19. (AP)—At a University of Washington junior-senior class meeting today about 400 men and women students cast an almost unanimous vote for modification of the prohibition law, only two standing to register negative votes. Student speakers referred to "debauchery during the past week-end" on the occasion of the Washington-Washington State football game.

SAVING OF TIME

"It has been the complaint in this country that too much time is wasted in education and that it is not worth while. We can at least save time for the average student and give him a better education than he now gets, although the question of just what is a good education is one that will have to be worked out in the course of this experiment.

"It will permit a student to make an honorable exit from college after he has passed satisfactory examinations. For those of high degree of excellence the way will be clear to higher and more special scholarship. And here is where we hope to find the answer as to whether it is worth while. In the upper divisions the classes will be smaller and the teachers will be on closer terms with the students. They will enter an atmosphere of serious effort and I think they will react to it."

Gangster Guilty of Tax Dodging

CHICAGO, Nov. 19. (AP)—The government took Jack Guzik out of the beer business tonight, winning a conviction before a United States District Court jury, on three counts charging evasion of income tax. The maximum penalty on each count is five years in prison and $10,000 fine.

Guzik is one of twenty-eight gangsters described by the Chicago Crime Commission as "public enemies." He is said by police to have been the collector for "Scarface Al" Capone from beer sellers.

REDWOOD CITY, Nov. 19. (AP)—A brief holographic will was found today among the effects of Henry C. Finkler, 72 years of age, secretary of the State Supreme Court, who committed suicide yesterday.

It bequeathed his estate, valued at $200,000, to two friends—B. Grant Taylor, chief clerk of the court, and Michael J. Purcell, both of San Francisco. Relatives were left $10 each.

GIGANTIC NAVAL OUTLAY SOUGHT

Britten Says Program Seeks $100,000,000 in Year

Proposals Will Be Offered to President at Once

West Coast Aircraft Base Included in Projects

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19. (AP)—A tentative one-year naval building program which experts said will cost about $100,000,000 was outlined today by Chairman Britten of the House Naval Committee as having been drafted from recommendations made by the Navy General Board.

The recommendations soon will be presented to President Hoover for approval and preparation for Congress.

Britten outlined the program after a conference with Secretary Adams. He said he expects the Secretary to submit the program to President Hoover within the week. Specific figures and tonnages will not be announced until President Hoover has studied the program.

Britten said under the program recommendation was made for selection of a site and construction of a west coast air base; provision for building one flying-deck cruiser but no six-inch gun cruisers; modernization of three battleships and construction of a small number of destroyers and submarines.

It is estimated at the Navy Department the cost of such construction will approximate $100,000,000, twice as much as Navy expenditures for building during the last three years.

Whatever becomes of the program in its entirety, Britten said he will endeavor to obtain sufficient appropriations to insure modernization of the battleships New Mexico, Idaho and Mississippi.

HEAVIER NAVY CUT URGED BY RUSSIAN

GENEVA, Nov. 19. (AP)—Maxim Litvinoff, Russian delegate to the preparatory disarmament meetings, today moved to reduce the maximum tonnage of capital ships to 10,000 tons with twelve-inch guns. The commission, however, declined to enter into the merits of the question.

The draft under consideration contains the maximum figures of the Washington Treaty—35,000 tons with sixteen-inch guns—as submitted by the great naval powers.

The soviets, said Litvinoff, wish to do away with arms of an offensive nature, regarding present-day battleships as belonging to this class.

Lord Cecil said the British government favors such a move as Litvinoff suggested but feels that the Preparatory Commission is not competent to fix the figures.

The commission adopted Article B and C of the naval draft embodying the principles of limitation by category and the privilege of transferring part of tonnage as in the London treaty.

FOG FOILS AIR QUESTS OF WOMEN

Ruth Nichols Forced Down in Hop; Miss Miller Returns to Pittsburgh

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 19. (AP)—Fog, described as impenetrable and baffling, today thwarted the efforts of two prominent women of the air—Miss Ruth Nichols, trying for a speed record, and Mrs. J. M. Keith Miller, with distance as her objective.

Miss Nichols, a New Yorker, was forced down in a farmer's field at Mann's Choice, a Bedford county town, after having taken off at Cincinnati. Her ambition was to better the present record flying time of four hours, seven minutes, between Cincinnati and New York, held by Herman Bayless of Cincinnati. Her ship was not damaged and she will take off tomorrow if the weather allows.

Mrs. Miller, Australian aviatrix, turned back not long after she had started a projected one-stop journey to Havana, Cuba, from Pittsburgh. Mrs. Miller, who said the fog was the worst she had ever encountered, will make a second try tomorrow if conditions warrant. She had planned to make a stop at Jacksonville, Fla.

EX-JUDGE HELD AS BANK BANDIT

Suspect Later Employed by Two State Offices

SACRAMENTO, Nov. 19. (AP)—S. E. Schluer of Berkeley, police judge in Woodland for ten years and subsequently an employee of two State departments, was arrested here today and police assert he confessed he held up and robbed the Sumitomo Bank of California, a local Japanese institution, of $1000 earlier in the day. He was charged with robbery.

The police said they had arrested him on information from a taxicab company in whose car he had been riding. When they found $902.50 in his pockets they asked him about the bank hold-up and he confessed he was the robber, they said. He said he had not worked since last May and needed the money.

Schluer told the authorities he was a police judge in Woodland from 1919 to 1929 and that he then worked for the State Division of Motor Vehicles and later the Department of Professional and Vocational Standards.

Police found that after the bank hold-up he went to the State Capitol where he changed clothes, wrapped his gun in the garments he had worn and took the bundle to friends in the State Motor Vehicle Division for safe keeping.

The difference between the amount stolen from the bank and that found on Schluer was the sum paid A. Ispen, taxicab driver, who identified the man as his fare to and from the bank.

Ispen said Schluer changed a $20 bill in the State Treasurer's office to pay the $7.50 taxicab fare.

October Shows Pay Roll Gain

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 19. (AP)—The number of employees in California manufacturing plants was about 18.7 per cent lower in October this year than a year ago, the State labor statistics bulletin, issued today, said.

While the comparison with last year was unfavorable, there were a number of gains from September to October, notably in the pay rolls. The State's earnings averaged 1.5 per cent higher in October than in the previous month. The most notable gain in pay rolls was in the textile group, where pay was up 6.3 per cent.

NEW DISORDERS ALARM SPANISH

Communist-Inspired Strikes Extend Wider

Royal Parade, Shouting Insults to King

MADRID, Nov. 19. (AP)—Spain's new labor disorders extended to Seville and Cordoba today and alarmed government dispatches said at points where they were needed most as a bulwark against the development of revolution.

Officials believed it had uncovered a revolutionary plot by agents sent into Madrid with orders by any means to break up meetings.

The labor unrest spread to two cities where the feeling of comparative security appeared to evaporate. Workers shouted insults at the king and government. At Seville strikers fought with police in the streets. At Barcelona for the past two days considerable, although the "Sindicato Unico" which proclaimed the strike has not ordered its members to abandon the walkout and return to work tomorrow.

Premier Berenguer remained on duty in Madrid, ready for any emergency.

A small army of Communist agitators was ordered in the provinces so the government could not get a foothold there. Reports that the army was involved in a revolutionary plot were denied.

NEW YORK, Nov. 19. (Exclusive) Members of Aimee Semple McPherson's party here today announced that it will likely be several days before the Los Angeles evangelist's health will permit her to make the journey to the West Coast. While her illness is nothing to become alarmed over, they declared, Mrs. McPherson's condition is such that she needed a complete rest before undertaking the trip.

Mrs. McPherson returned here Sunday from Central America, where she went in an effort to recuperate from a nervous breakdown, members of her party said. The evangelist, it is understood, has lost thirty-nine pounds since she left her West Coast home several weeks ago. Mrs. McPherson was met at the docks here by F. C. Winters, her business manager.

DRYS ENLIST NEW SUPPORT

Leaders Organize National Group to Fight Wets

Outstanding Men Sought to Match Opponents

Anti-Saloon League Backs Plan, McBride Says

BY LAURENCE M. BENEDICT
"Times" Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19. (Exclusive)—Dry leaders revealed today in an announcement by F. Scott McBride, superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League, that they are at work on the formation of a national group of "business men of the highest standing" to come to the support of the Eighteenth Amendment, and that they already have made considerable progress with the organization in the eastern section of the country.

The plan, as interpreted here, is to set up a militant, contributing organization of wealthy and influential business leaders to counteract the galaxy of names on the rolls of the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment, and the work that organization is doing toward repeal of the dry laws.

WET STRENGTH CITED

This wet group which has been at the helm of the fight against prohibition the past several years, is dominated and financed by such figures in the business world as John J. Raskob, the Duponts of Delaware, former Senator James W. Wadsworth and W. W. Atterbury. Now the friends of prohibition evidently have set out to show the country that for every important man in industry and finance who has joined the wet cause, they can enroll one, and perhaps two or three, names just as dazzling, carrying just as much weight, on the dry side.

It has been the view of observers here that it would have been wise for the drys to have started such a counter-organization two or three years ago, before the antiprohibition group became so well intrenched.

McBride's statement today listed twenty-five leaders in business, banking and other circles already enlisted in the battle for "more active and greatly increased financial support" of the prohibition structure.

SUPPORTERS LISTED

The names, given as a preliminary list with many more soon to come is as follows:

Willis J. Abbot, editor, Christian Science Monitor; P. H. Callahan, president, Louisville Varnish Company, Louisville, Ky.; William F. Cochran, capitalist, Baltimore; W. H. Hoover, president, Hoover Company, North Canton, O.; Frederick M. Jackson, president, Jefferson City Building and Loans Association, Birmingham, Ala.; Dr. John Harvey Kellogg, head of Battle Creek Sanatorium, Battle Creek, Mich.; Senator Arthur Capper, Topeka, Kan.; E. S. Collins, lumber operator, Portland, Or.; Fillmore Condit, caultalist, Long Beach, Cal.; Foster Copeland, president, City National Bank and Trust Company, Columbus, O.; Col. Fred N. Dow, retired banker, Portland, Me.; Newell Sanders, former United States Senator, owner of Newell Sanders Plow Company, Chattanooga, Tenn.; Homer C. Selby, vice-president, Selby Shoe Company, Portsmouth, O.; Admiral William S. Sims, Hugh Strange, Neenah, Wis.; Eugene N. Foss, former Governor of Massachusetts, president B. F. Sturtevant Company, Boston; Dr. Howard A. Kelly, head of Howard A. Kelly Sanatorium, Baltimore; D. O. King, president, Granite Trust Company, Quincy, Mass.; Henry M. Leland, founder of Cadillac and Lincoln Motor companies, Detroit; Joseph W. Marsh, president, Exchange National Bank, Pittsburgh; T. H. Maytag, Maytag Company, Newton, Iowa; L. B. Musgrove, coal operator, Jasper, Ala.; Robert Owen, former United States Senator from Oklahoma; Joseph M. Steele, president, William Steele & Sons Co., Philadelphia, and Howard D. Taft, brother of former President Taft, head master Taft School, Watertown, Ct.

MOVEMENT SPREADS

According to Mr. McBride's announcement, the new dry movement started in Philadelphia, and in less than a month spread into Maryland, Delaware, Washington and many cities in Pennsylvania.

"Industrial leaders," declared the Anti-Saloon League head, "declare that now is the time to gird for action against wet propagandists who seem to have as their veiled objective the return of the saloon in some form or other. Large employers of labor insist every possible step must be taken to prevent the nation slipping backward on the great moral issue of temperance."

SHEPPARD SCORES WETS AT W.C.T.U. CONVENTION

HOUSTON, Nov. 19. (AP)—The "Father of the Eighteenth Amendment," Senator Sheppard of Texas, delivered before the National Woman's Christian Temperance Union today a bitter denunciation of alcohol and the opponents of prohibition.

Senator Sheppard asserted the "purchaser is in a sense guiltier than the maker, carrier or seller because he is the creative force behind them all," and "those who patronize and stimulate outlawry are outlaws themselves."

"Believers in prohibition," he declared at the start, "have every reason to rejoice in the fact that after the recent elections both the United States Senate and the national House of Representatives remain overwhelmingly dry.

"As a matter of fact, all the Morrowites and all the Raskobites in both the Republican and Democratic parties cannot prevail against prohibition.

"If the Volstead Act needs anything it needs to be made stronger. It needs a provision inflicting upon the purchaser the same punishment that is imposed on the seller."

The national organization, through action of its executive committee, appealed today to merchants to stop "advertising, exposing for sale and selling" hip-pocket flasks.

REDISTRICTING FOES PREPARE

Aliens and Negroes Chosen as Issues for Battle

Determined Fight Against Change in Prospect

California's Gains Target of Opposition Group

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19. (AP)—Aliens and Negroes have been chosen as the issues of the forthcoming dispute in Congress over reapportionment of House representation.

Representatives of agricultural States, losers under the figures made public yesterday by President Hoover, said today they will seek to exclude aliens from the reapportionment count to prevent large gains in California, Michigan, Texas, New York and New Jersey.

Efforts to block this attempt are to be made by Representatives of industrial States with a move to reduce representation in Southern States in proportion to the disfranchisement of Negro they charge exists there.

It was these issues that almost brought defeat to the existing reapportionment act in June, 1929.

Representative Dickinson, Republican and Senator-elect from Iowa, a leader of the antialien bloc that formed with the Democrats to exclude the aliens in the 1929 contest, said he will renew his efforts at the short term.

From Representative Rankin of Mississippi, ranking minority member on the House Census Committee, came the declaration that "the outstanding evil" in the reapportionment plan lies in the fact there are included in this census more than 7,500,000 aliens, who are not American citizens . . . yet, representation is being taken away from our American citizens in old settled States, such as Virginia, Mississippi, Kansas, Iowa and Minnesota, and is given to these foreigners . . . who owe their allegiance to a foreign country."

An investigation, he said, should be made of the census of California, to which nine additional seats are awarded under the Hoover figures. He said there are thousands of Mexicans and oriental aliens in that State.

VITALITY IS LOW AMONG WORKERS AT FOUR O'CLOCK

Fatigue During This Zero Hour Can be Overcome by Sugar

Finishing the day's work "dead tired" is neither wise nor necessary. Everybody knows that a fatigued system is readily susceptible to the common ills. To maintain vitality during the last half of the day is therefore essential, not only for the sake of health but efficient work.

One of the simplest ways to combat fatigue is eating a food or drinking a beverage that contains refined sugar. Candy, ice cream, cookies and cakes are ideal in this respect. Best of all, they can be bought readily and cheaply everywhere.

Medical men have made many experiments with workers and sugar foods in mid-afternoon and have found the results most satisfactory. The sugar quickly nourishes the body without taxing the digestive system. When the body is nourished in this way, fatigue disappears.

Such sweet snacks as those previously mentioned can be kept in one's desk and eaten while at work. For a sweet beverage, a glass of water containing sugar — the "athlete's cocktail" — is most invigorating. Many famous athletes drink this prior to a hard game. Most foods are more delicious with refined sugar. The Sugar Institute.

During these years he gave his patients a substitute for calomel made of a few well-known vegetable ingredients, naming them Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets. Know them by their olive color.

These tablets are wonder-workers on the liver and bowels, causing a normal action, carrying off the waste and poisonous matter in one's system.

If you have a pale face, sallow look, dull eyes, pimples, coated tongue, headaches, a listless, no-good feeling, all out of sorts, inactive bowels, take one of Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets nightly for a time and note the pleasing results.

Thousands of women and men take Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets—now and then to keep fit. 15c, 30c and 60c.—[Advertisement.

ourselves as frankly as possible, to see all the implications that trail in our wake, and to place the blame where it lies and set resolutely to attack it."

THREE CATEGORIES

Mr. Hoover divided the task into three categories, the protection and stimulation of the normal child, aid to the physically defective and handicapped and the problems of the delinquent. In concluding he told the delegates:

"From your explorations into the mental and moral endowment and opportunities of children will develop new methods to inspire their creative work and play, to substitute love and self-discipline for the rigors of rule, to guide their recreations into wholesome channels to steer them past the reefs of temptation, to develop their characters and to bring them to adult age in tune with life, strong in moral fiber and prepared to play more happily their part in the productive tasks of society."

TEXT OF ADDRESS

The full text of the President's address follows:

Something more than a year ago I called together a small group of representative men and women to take the initial steps in organization of this Conference on Child Health and Protection. Under the able chairmanship of Secretary Wilbur, and the executive direction of Dr. Barnard, organization was perfected and enlarged until by the fall of last year something over 1200 of our fellow-citizens were enlisted from every field of those who have given a lifetime of devotion to public measures for care of childhood. These skillful and devoted friends of children have given unsparingly and unselfishly of their time and thought in research and collection of the knowledge and experience in the problems involved. Their task has been magnificently performed, and today they will place before you such a wealth of material as was never before brought together.

I am satisfied that the three days of your conference here will result in producing to our country from this material a series of conclusions and judgments of unprecedented service in behalf of childhood, the benefits of which will be felt for a full generation.

APPRECIATION EXPRESSED

I wish to express my profound appreciation to all those who have so generously contributed the time and thought and labor to this preparation, and to you for giving your time to its consideration. The reward that accrues to you is the consciousness of something done unselfishly to lighten the burdens of children, to set their feet upon surer paths to health and well-being and happiness. For many years I have hoped for such a national consideration as this. You comprise the delegates appointed by our Federal departments and by the governors of our States, the mayors of our cities, and the representatives of our great national associations, our medical and public health professions. In your hands rest the knowledge and authority outside of the home itself.

In addressing you whom I see before me here in this auditorium, I am mindful also of the unseen millions listening in their homes, who likewise are truly members of this conference, for these problems are theirs—it is their children whose welfare is involved, its helpful services are for them, and their co-operation is essential in carrying out a united and nation-wide effort in behalf of the children.

"MOST WHOLESOME"

We approach all problems of childhood with affection. Theirs is the province of joy and good humor. They are the most wholesome part of the race, the sweetest, for they are fresher from the hands of God. Whimsical, ingenious, mischievous, we live a life of apprehension as to what their opinion may be of us; a life of defense against their terrifying energy; we put them to bed with a sense of relief and a lingering of devotion. We envy them the freshness of adventure and discovery of life; we mourn over the disappointments they will meet.

The fundamental purpose of this conference is to set forth an understanding of those safeguards which will assure to them health in mind and body. There are safeguards and services to childhood which can be provided by the community, the State, or the nation—all of which are beyond the reach of the individual parent. We approach these problems in no spirit of diminishing the responsibilities and values or invading the sanctities of those primary safeguards to child life—their homes and their mothers.

After we have determined every scientific fact, after we have erected every public safeguard, after we have constructed every edifice for education or training or hospitalization or play, yet all these things are but a tithe of the physical, moral and spiritual gifts which motherhood gives and home confers. None of these things carry that affection, that devotion of soul, which is the great endowment from mothers. Our purpose here today is to consider and give our mite of help to strengthen her hand that her boy and girl may have a fair chance.

MOTHERS PRAISED

Our country has a vast majority of competent mothers. I am not so sure of the majority of competent fathers. But what we are concerned with here are things that are beyond her power. That is what Susie and John take on when out from under her watchful eye. She cannot count the bacteria in the milk; she cannot detect the typhoid which comes through the faucet, or the mumps that pass round the playground. She cannot individually control the instruction of our schools or the setting up of community-wide remedy for the deficient and handicapped child. But she can insist upon officials who hold up standards of protection and service to her children—and one of your jobs is to define these standards and tell her what they are. She can be trusted to put public officials to the acid test of the infant mortality and service to children in the town—when you set some standard for her to go by.

These questions of child health and protection are a complicated problem requiring much learning and much action. And we need have great concern over this matter. Let no one believe that these are questions which should not stir a nation; that they are below the dignity of statesmen or governments. If we could have but one generation of properly born, trained, educated, and healthy children, a thousand other problems of government would vanish. We would assure ourselves of healthier minds in more vigorous bodies, to direct the energies of our nation to yet greater heights of achievement. Moreover, one good community nurse will save a dozen future policemen.

THREE PROBLEMS

Our problem falls into three groups: First, the protection and stimulation of the normal child; second, aid to the physically defective and handicapped child; third, the problems of the delinquent child.

Statistics can well be used to give emphasis to our problem. One of your committees reports that out of 45,000,000 children—35,000,000 are reasonably normal, 6,000,000 are improperly nourished, 1,000,000 have defective speech, 1,000,000 have weak or damaged hearts, 675,000 present behavior problems, 450,000 are mentally retarded, 382,000 are tubercular, 342,000 have impaired hearing, 18,000 are totally deaf, 300,000 are crippled, 50,000 are partially blind, 14,000 are wholly blind, 200,000 are delinquent, 500,000 are dependent.

ATTENTION NEEDED

And so on, to a total of at least 10,000,000 of deficients, more than 80 per cent of whom are not receiving the necessary attention, though our knowledge and experience show that these deficiencies can be prevented and remedied to a high degree. The reports you have before you are not only replete with information upon each of these groups, they are also vivid with recommendation for remedy. And if we do not perform our duty to these children, we leave them dependent, or we provide from them the major recruiting ground for the army of ne'er-do-wells and criminals.

But that we be not discouraged let us bear in mind that there are 35,000,000 reasonably normal, cheerful human electrons radiating joy and mischief and hope and faith. Their faces are turned toward the light—theirs is the life of great adventure. These are the vivid, romping, every-day children, our own and our neighbors' with all their strongly marked differences—and the more differences the better. The more they charge us with their separate problems the more we know they are vitally and humanly alive.

From what we know of foreign countries, I am convinced that we have a right to assume that we have a larger proportion of happy, normal children than any other country in the world. And also, on the bright side, your reports show that we have 1,500,000 specially gifted children. There lies the future leadership of the nation if we devote ourselves to their guidance.

AID FOR HANDICAPPED

In the field of deficient and handicapped children, advancing knowledge and care can transfer them more and more to the happy lot of normal children. And these children, less fortunate as they are, have a passion for their full rights which appeals to the heart of every man and woman. We must get to the cause of their handicaps from the beginning of their lives. We must extend the functions of our schools and institutions to help them as they grow. We must enlarge the services of medical inspection and clinics, expand the ministrations of the family doctor in their behalf, and very greatly increase the hospital facilities for them. We must not leave one of them uncared for.

There are also the complex problems of the delinquent child. We need to turn the methods of inquiry from the punishment of delinquency to the causes of delinquency. It is not the delinquent child that is at the bar of judgment, but society itself.

Again, there are the problems of the orphaned children. Fortunately we are making progress in this field in some of the States through the preservation for them of the home by support of their mothers or by placing them in homes and thus reducing the institutional services.

PROBLEMS OF EDUCATION

There are vast problems of education in relation to physical and mental health. With so many of the early responsibilities of the home drained away by the rapid changes in our modern life, perhaps one of the most important problems we shall need to meet in the next few years is how to return to our children, through our schools and extra scholastic channels, that training for parenthood which once was the natural teaching of the home. With the advance of science and advancement of knowledge we have learned a thousand things that the individual, both parent and child, must know in his own self-protection.

And at once the relation of our educational system to the problem envisages itself, and it goes further. The ill-nourished child is in our country not the product of poverty; it is largely the product of ill-instructed children and ignorant parents. Our children all differ in character, in capacity, in inclination. If we would give them their full chance they must have that service in education which develops their special qualities. They must have vocational guidance.

Again, there are the problems of child labor. Industry must not rob our children of their rightful heritage. Any labor which stunts growth, either physical or mental, that limits education, that deprives children of the right of comradeship, of joy and play, is sapping the next generation.

CROWDED CITIES

In the last half a century we have herded 50,000,000 more human beings into towns and cities where the whole setting is new to the race. We have created highly congested areas with a thousand changes resulting in the swift translation from a rural and agrarian people to an urban, industrial nation.

Perhaps the widest range of difficulties with which we are dealing in the betterment of children grows out of this crowding into cities. Problems of sanitation and public health loom in every direction. Delinquency increases with congestion. Overcrowding produces disease and contagion. The child's natural play place is taken from him. His mind is stunted by the lack of imaginative surroundings and lack of contact with the fields, streams, trees, and birds. Home life becomes more difficult. Cheerless homes produce morbid minds. Our growth of town life unendingly imposes such problems as milk and food supplies, for we have shifted these children from a diet of 10,000 years' standing.

Nor is our problem one solely of the city child. We have grave responsibilities to the rural child. Adequate expert service should be available to him from maternity to maturity. Since science discovered the cause of communicable disease, protection from these diseases for the child of the farm is as much an obligation to them as to the child of the city. The child of the country is handicapped by lack of some cultural influences extended by the city. We must find ways and means of extending these influences to the children of the rural districts.

ROOM FOR PLAY NEEDED

On the other hand, some of the natural advantages of the country child must somehow be given back to the city child—more space in which to play, contact with nature and natural processes. Of these the thoughtless city cheats its children. Architectural wizardry and artistic skill are transforming our cities into wonderlands of beauty, but we must also preserve in them for our children the yet more beautiful art of living.

Even aside from congestion, the drastic changes in the modern home greatly affect the child. Contacts of parents and children are much reduced. Once the sole training school of the child, the home now shares with the public school, the great children's clubs and organizations, and a hundred other agencies the responsibility for him, both in health and discipline, from birth to maturity. Upon these outside influences does his development now very largely depend.

The problems of the child are not always the problem of the child alone. In the vision of the whole of our social fabric, we have loosened new ambitions, new energies; we have produced a complexity of life for which there is no precedent. With machines ever enlarging man's power and capacity, with electricity extending over the world its magic, with the air giving us a wholly new realm, our children must be prepared to meet entirely new contacts and new forces. They must be physically strong and mentally placed to stand up under the increasing pressure of life. Their problem is not alone one of physical health, but of mental, emotional, spiritual health.

DIFFICULT PROBLEMS

These are a part of the problems that I charge you to answer. This task that you have come here to perform has never been done before. These problems are not easily answered, they reach the very root of our national life. We need to meet them squarely and to accuse ourselves as frankly as possible, to see all the implications that trail in our wake, and to place the blame where it lies and set resolutely to attack it.

From your explorations into the mental and moral endowment and opportunities of children will develop new methods to inspire their creative work and play, to substitute love and self-discipline for the rigors of rule, to guide their recreations into wholesome channels, to steer them past the reefs of temptation, to develop their characters, and to bring them to adult age in tune with life, strong in moral fiber, and prepared to play more happily their part in the productive tasks of human society.

There has not been before the summation of knowledge and experience such as lies before this conference. There has been no period when it could be undertaken with so much experience and background. The nation looks to you to derive from it positive, definite, guiding judgments. But greater than the facts and the judgments, more fundamental than all, we need the vision and inspired understanding to interpret these facts and put them into practice. I know that this group has the vision and the understanding, and you are the picked representatives of the people who are thus endowed. It will rest with you to light the fires of that inspiration in the general public conscience, and from conscience lead it into action.

EVER ONWARD

The many activities which you are assembled here to represent touch a thousand points in the lives of children. The interest which they obtain in the minds and hearts of our country is a turning to the original impulse which inspired the foundation of our nation, the impulse to secure freedom and betterment of each coming generation. The passion of the American fathers and mothers is to lift children to higher opportunities than they have themselves enjoyed. It burns like a flame in us as a people. Kindled in our country by its first pioneers, who came here to better the opportunities for their children rather than themselves, passed on from one generation to the next, it has never dimmed nor died.

Indeed, human progress marches only when children excel their parents. In democracy our progress is the sum of progress of the individuals—that they each individually achieve to the full capacity of their abilities and character. Their varied personalities and abilities must be brought fully to bloom; they must not be mentally regimented to a single mold or the qualities of many will be stifled; the door of opportunity must be opened to each of them.

May you who are meeting here find in your deliberations new fuel with which to light this flame of progress so that this occasion may be marked with a fresh luster that will set us anew on the road through the crowding complexities of modern life.

CHILDREN MOST WHOLESOME PART OF RACE, SAYS HOOVER

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19. (AP)—President Hoover drew upon his knowledge of parenthood and a wealth of experience in child relief work for a six-sentence summation of childhood. He expressed it tonight to his child health conference this way:

"We approach all problems of childhood with affection.

"Theirs is the province of joy and good humor.

"They are the most wholesome part of the race, the sweetest, for they are fresher from the hands of God.

"Whimsical, ingenuous, mischievous, we live a life of apprehension as to what their opinion may be of us; a life of defense against their terrifying energy. We put them to bed with a sense of relief and a lingering of devotion.

"We envy them the freshness of adventure and discovery of life; we mourn over the disappointments they will meet."

DAM LABOR BUREAU TO BE FORMED

Federal Unit at Las Vegas Will Be Used to Head Off Surplus of Workers

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19. (Exclusive)—It was learned today that the Department of Labor soon is to establish a bureau at Las Vegas, Nev., to help handle the employment problem arising in connection with the Boulder Dam project.

In addition to hiring such men as are needed on the project, the bureau will endeavor to keep surplus workers away through dissemination of information regarding the progress of the development and the number of hands required. The bureau will co-operate in this work with the Reclamation Bureau of the Interior Department.

Applications for employment on the Colorado River project are coming in at the Interior Department and its Denver and Las Vegas offices are at the rate of several thousand a week, despite the numerous warnings that there is no immediate employment for any large number, and that ample notice wil be given as jobs open up. It is reported here that thousands of idle men have flocked to Las Vegas in hope of work and the government will make every effort to prevent hardship and suffering while at the same time acting to prevent, if possible, a further rush to the project.

PITHY SENTENCES DOT PRESIDENT'S ADDRESS

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19. (AP)—Following are some pithy sentences from President Hoover's speech to the White House conference on child health and protection:

"Let no one believe these are not questions which should not stir a nation; that they are below the dignity of statesmen or governments."

"One good community nurse will save a dozen future policemen. If we do not perform our duty to these children, we leave them dependent or we provide for them the major recruiting ground for the army of ne'er-do-wells and criminals."

"It is not the delinquent child that is at the bar of judgment, but society itself."

"Industry must not rob our children of their rightful heritage."

"Our growth of town life unendingly imposes such problems as milk and food supplies, for we have shifted these children from a diet of 10,000 years' standing."

MRS. MARY NIELSEN

"I had neuritis in my arms and shoulders, chest and at times I couldn't sleep at all. Nearly everything I ate agreed with me and I was actually starving. My inactive liver kept me constipated and I was using laxatives. I tried one and another, but none of them did me any worthwhile good. I started Sargon. From the first it seemed to respond to it and three bottles made me stronger and better in every way. The neuritis pains started easing up; I never have any more indigestion and I sleep fine. I can work day in and day out.

INDIANS BERATE BRITAIN TO FACE

Speakers Grow Eloquent Under King's Roof

Independence Demanded as Broadsides Fired

MacDonald Silent as Pair Excoriate System

LONDON, Nov. 19. (AP)—A torrent of Indian extremist demands for "independence" or for immediate "dominion status" and broadsides of charges of British oppression poured from two Indian radical spokesmen at the round-table conference on Indian affairs today.

One of these was Dr. B. S. Moonjee, a Hindu. The other was Muhammed Ali, a Moslem. Their clashing creeds appeared to have been forgotten in a common indictment of British policy.

Their impassioned appeals recalled the oratory of the American Revolution and Muhammed Ali declared unless he can return to a free India he prefers to die in a foreign land.

"I want to be as free in my country," said Moonjee, "as an Englishman is in England, as a Canadian in Canada, as an Australian in Australia."

UNDER KING'S ROOF

Under King George's own roof at old St. James' Palace, Muhammed Ali declared himself a "republican" and then proceeded to laud the British monarch more eloquently than any other Indian delegate has done.

"He knows India better than any of his ministers, past or present," the Moslem Prince said, "and I am looking to him to do justice to India's 320,000,000 people. History will be written: 'George II lost America; George V saved India.'"

Ali's demands were interpreted as a stand for an autonomous status for India within the empire, with the right to secede.

Moonjee said during 100 years the British have destroyed India's industry, and forced British goods on India without the payment of any duties. Indian fighting races were denied army commissions until ten years ago, he said, and the Indian civil service and medical service also represented British monopoly.

Both these speakers reached the extremes of severity in their criticism of British administration. Moonjee referred to the writings of a British woman for evidence against the British policy of repression.

MacDONALD SILENT

He quoted Miss Madeleine Slaude, daughter of a British admiral and a disciple of Gandhi, describing the kind of punishments inflicted upon Indians:

"Lathi blows on the head, chest and joints; stripping of men before they are beaten; dragging of wounded men into thorn hedges or salt water; riding of horses over men as they lie on the ground."

Throughout the storm of criticism Ramsay MacDonald made no move to curb the speakers or to hold them to the immediate business of the conference, which is whether the future government of India should be under a federal or unitary system.

Half-humorously he announced at the end of today's session the conference might have to adopt the House of Commons ten-minute speech rule or the present phase might never be concluded.

POPE USES SOLID GOLD TELEPHONE

Vatican City Assigns Him Blind Number in System Just Installed

ROME, Nov. 19. (Exclusive)—The Pope's telephone is now Vatican City 101, but it is a blind number.

It is the number of the solid gold apparatus that stands on a table covered with heavy red damask at His Holiness' besides, and through which the head of the church could, if he liked, call any of the 33,000,000 telephone subscribers in the various countries of the world.

But for any of these to get in touch with the spiritual descent of St. Peter, the number to call is 102, which is farther out in the papal apartments. There will be no incoming calls routed through the massive gold instrument, beautifully chased with the seal of Pius XI and symbols of the four evangelists. Like the purely temporal rulers of Europe, the Pope is not to be called on the telephone and the stately ceremonial observed in the papal living quarters will be retained in its entirety.

Aid Urged for Unemployment

PITTSBURGH (Pa.) Nov. 19. (AP) Plans to expand road building programs to aid in relieving unemployment were outlined in resolutions adopted by the American Association of State Highway Officials as they concluded their annual convention here today.

The convention, asked by President Hoover's employment committee to aid in remedying conditions, passed a resolution asking a "substantial emergency Federal appropriation to be set up and expended under the existing Federal highway legislation," in addition a "substantial emergency fund," was asked for the States, to be used for matching Federal funds and to be later repaid by the States.

His broadcasting fee was not disclosed, but the announcement said it was "reported to be larger than any ever paid a broadcast artist."

DISCORD HINTED IN MOONEY CASE

Prisoner Reported to Have Broken With Aide

Defense League Secretary Denies Quarreling

Split Rumor Comes on Eve of Billings Decision

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 19. (Exclusive)—Virtually on the eve of the Supreme Court's recommendation on the Billings pardon application, Thomas J. Mooney, his convicted copartner in the 1916 Preparedness Day parade bombing, has quarreled with Mary E. Gallagher, secretary of the Mooney Defense League, and reliable report says Mooney seeks to replace her. Miss Gallagher denied it tonight, but made the significant statement she is preparing a detailed statement of her accounts.

Warden Holohan of San Quentin Penitentiary, where Mooney is serving a life sentence, admitted knowledge of strained relations between Mooney and Miss Gallagher, who handles the funds of the defense league, and said it occurred shortly after the California State Federation of Labor convention September 19, last, at which a resolution was drawn calling upon the defense league for an accounting of the sums contributed for Mooney's release from prison. He has an application on file with the Governor which, by inference, will be determined on the recommendation of the Supreme Court justice to the Governor.

UNIONS GIVE FREELY

At the labor convention it was declared more than $100,000 has been contributed since 1916 to the Mooney-Billings liberation fight, the greater part of which was obtained from members of labor unions throughout the country.

A number of letters and telegrams have been exchanged between Mooney and Miss Gallagher since that time, the warden admitted, but he refused to divulge their contents, saying they are personal matters. Miss Gallagher also conferred with Mooney for a protracted period at the prison last Saturday, the records show. During that time a great mass of documents was gone over.

THOUSANDS COLLECTED

Miss Gallagher was chosen by Mooney to be secretary of the defense league in 1928. She said at that time the treasury was almost empty and since then she has received contributions of $45,006.

"All except a balance of $800 or $1000 has been spent on pamphlets and the preparation of the transcript and other evidence in the recent Supreme Court hearing," Miss Gallagher declared. She said she paid herself a salary of $10 a week when she started and raised it as the treasury strengthened, but even now is not drawing a "large" salary.

Rena Mooney, wife of the prisoner, who visited him last Sunday, said her husband did not mention the matter to her. She denied knowledge of a quarrel with Miss Gallagher, but added she knows nothing of the work done by Miss Gallagher since 1928. Since that time, Mrs. Mooney said, she and her sister have devoted all their energies to the pardon effort.

MOONEY JURYMAN DENIES COLLUSION CHARGE

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 19. (Exclusive)—William MacNevin, local real estate dealer and foreman of the jury that convicted Thomas J. Mooney for the Preparedness Day bombing outrage, today denied unqualifiedly that he had consulted with attorneys or J. B. Zimdars regarding the case during the trial, as set forth in an affidavit filed with the Supreme Court by Zimdars as part of the record in the Billings pardon case.

MacNevin's denial is contained in an affidavit also filed with the court.

POWER HAND IN NEBRASKA VOTE DENIED

Senate Committee Told That Companies Spent No Cash in 1930 Politics

LINCOLN (Neb. Nov. 19. (AP)—A representative of Nebraska power companies today told the Senate's committee investigating campaign funds that he had no knowledge of any political activities or money spent by power companies in the 1930 Senatorial campaigns in the State.

Thorne Browne, secretary of an association of electric light companies in Nebraska and technical secretary of the Nebraska division of the National Electric Light Association, testified that the power companies in this State had been very careful not to take any interest in politics.

He charged the committee had gone outside its scope and requested Chairman Gerald P. Nye to read the Senate resolution under which the investigation was being made. He also charged that testimony was being taken to "satisfy curiosity."

Senator Nye announced that his conclusion was that power interests either within or outside the State of Nebraska had taken an interest in the Senatorial campaigns.

Revenue Falls Off at Capital

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19. (AP)—Government revenue which declined more than $62,000,000 in the first three months of the present fiscal year, continued its downward trend during October by decreasing $6,732,295, as compared with the same month a year ago.

Internal Revenue figures announced today showed the decrease brought the total drop for the first four months of the fiscal year, as compared with the same period a year ago, to $69,203,779.

WEDDING TO UNITE TWO RIVAL GANGS

Sister of Al Capone Will Marry Frank Diamond's Brother in Chicago

CHICAGO, Nov. 19. (Exclusive)—The prospective marriage of Malfalda Capone, 18-year-old sister of Alfonso Capone, gang leader, to John Maritote, 23, is expected to banish any possibility of future dissension between the Capone and Frank Diamond factions of gangdom.

Reports that young Maritote is a brother of Diamond who, like Capone, was named by the Chicago Crime Commission as a "public enemy," have been verified. Capone is reported to have promised a home and a $50,000 dowry to his sister. A license for the wedding, plans for which are under way, was obtained last Monday.

Boy Who Loses Leg to Live in Hoover's House

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 19. (AP)—Tommy Watson, 13-year-old Boy Scout, can never play football for Stanford University, but he is going to live in the home of the President of the United States on the Stanford campus.

Tommy, brother of Mrs. Herbert Hoover, Jr., was injured in a street-car accident a week ago and his dreams of being a Stanford football star were shattered when one leg was amputated.

But today Mrs. Douglas Watson, Tommy's mother, received a long-distance call from the White House inviting Tommy to live in President Hoover's Stanford home until he recovers. The President is said to have talked personally with Tommy's mother.

CONVICT FROM HERE SLASHED IN PRISON

SAN QUENTIN, Nov. 19. (AP)—Hector Reavis, 23-year-old Los Angeles burglar, was slashed ten times tonight by his cellmate in San Quentin State penitentiary. Surgeons say he will live. "I don't know why I did it," was the only explanation guards obtained from his assailant, Charles Herbert, 22, sentenced from Los Angeles for robbery and assault.

MAN HARNESSES VOICE OF FLAME

Fiery Heart of Carbon Arc Made Loud Speaker

Electricians Shown Device of Doubtful Use

New Sound Recorder Catches Violin's Highest Note

NEW YORK, Nov. 19. (AP)—The flames of a carbon arc were converted into a new kind of loud speaker for the first time tonight.

The white-hot gases of the arc boomed forth words and music to an audience of 3500 at a meeting here of the New York Electrical Society.

This voice of flame produced sound by vibrating just like the cold diaphragm of a telephone. Its tones were not quite so strong as those of a loud speaker.

USE DOUBTFUL

"Whether flaming gas loud speakers will ever come into use I do not know," said Sergius P. Grace, assistant vice-president of the Bell Telephone Laboratories, where the speaker was perfected. "Their quality is poor at present. Dynamic loud speakers seem likely to keep the edge, but who knows?"

The carbon arc has "spoken" before, but only in a barely audible whisper. The first time was in 1896 when H. B. Hayes of the telephone company discovered the phenomenon.

The arc was made vocal tonight by hooking it up with modern vacuum-tube amplifiers, which varied the volume of current passing through the flame. This current carried the voice and musical electrical impulses just like a telephone wire.

ANOTHER MARVEL

Mr. Grace next put on the premier performance of a device which he said for the first time records perfectly the highest note of a violin. He was assisted by R. M. Pease.

The device records sound vibrations up to 12,000 oscillations a second. Heretofore, Mr. Grace said, the upper recording limit which could be used without fuzziness, has been around 8000 cycles.

The device still is incomplete.

GO-BETWEEN ROLE GIVEN TWIN CITIES

Federal Indictment Says Two Towns Were Funnels for Stolen Securities

NEW YORK, Nov. 19. (AP)—Minnesota's twin cities, Minneapolis and St. Paul, were pictured today in a Federal indictment and by detectives as the funnel through which poured in recent months $3,000,000 in securities stolen all over the United States.

James A. Connolly, Minnesota broker, who was acquitted in 1922 of disposing of $1,200,000 plunder of Gerald Chapman's New York mail truck hold-up, was named as the manipulator of the funnel.

The indictment was found and sealed last September by a Federal grand jury and was opened today. It charges he sold securities to two New York brokerage houses knowing they "were stolen property."

Two postoffice inspectors, Federal Judge Bondy was told today, arrested Connolly in his offices in St. Paul on the 7th inst.

ITALY PLANS SINGLE AIR FORCE COMMAND

ROME, Nov. 19. (AP)—A bill which would unify the command of the Italian army and navy aviation was filed with the Chamber of Deputies today by the government.

GRANGE ON RECORD FOR DEBENTURE

National Society Urges Deportation of Criminal Aliens in Resolution

ROCHESTER (N. Y.) Nov. 19. (AP) The National Grange today by resolution went on record for an export debenture plan, for the deportation of aliens convicted of crime, and for establishment of an agricultural day.

By adoption of the report of its committee on agriculture, the Grange also included in its policies a protest against destruction of trees along highways, approved establishment of freight rates to provide the greatest possible range for marketing live stock, and declared its support for efforts to bar dangerous alien insect and plant diseases.

The report also carried a clause opposing reclamation projects until such time as need is shown for more agricultural land.

It has been anticipated the National Grange would reiterate its support for the export debenture plan, so when a resolution was reported by E. A. Eckert of Illinois, chairman of the committee on legislation, it was quickly adopted.

A highlight of the afternoon session was the report of the committee on agriculture, read by Chairman C. C. Cogswell of Kansas. "It is our opinion that agriculture, the foundation upon which our civilization has been builded, is being neglected in our country and in the world, the report read.

Memorial to Defer Choice of Historian

CHICAGO, Nov. 19. (AP)—Choice of a writer for the inscription to be given on the colossal Mt. Rushmore Memorial near Rapid City, S. D., today was postponed for a year by the National Memorial Commission.

Former President Calvin Coolidge had been invited by Gutzon Borglum, the sculptor, to write the inscription, which was to be a 500-carved-word history of the United States. Borglum edited Coolidge's text, however, and Coolidge withdrew it.

EX-DRY AGENT FREED IN SENATOR KILLING

ORANGEBURG (S. C.) Nov. 19. (AP)—Glenn D. McKnight, former Federal prohibition agent, was acquitted here tonight of having instigated the slaying in July of State Senator E. J. Dennis. McKnight was being tried jointly with W. L. (Sporty) Thornley, who had admitted shooting the Senator, and had charged McKnight paid him to do so.

You can get rid of that disagreeable Morning-Mouth taste quickly when you get up. Just shake a few dashes of Astring-o-sol into a quarter-glass of water. Then gargle the tingling liquid and swish it thru your teeth.

Watch that unpleasant taste disappear instantly. Note how cooled, refreshed and stimulated your mouth and throat feels. Your breath will be purified. And you'll feel pepped up, fit and immaculate.

Astring-o-sol's amazing effectiveness as a mouth wash is due to the fact that it penetrates down deep into the tissues, tiny crevices and pockets; exerts a powerful antiseptic and germicidal action that kills the germs embedded there; is absolutely safe to the most delicate tissues; produces a mild astringent action that helps to drive out bacteria; and leaves an antiseptic effect that remains at the sources of infection for hours.

Because Astring-o-sol is a concentrated preparation, it: 1. Does More—you can use it in any strength; 2. Costs Less to Use—a 4-ounce bottle makes 12 full pints of refreshing mouth wash; 3. Tastes Better—you can dilute it to suit your taste; 4. Takes Up Less Space—in your medicine cabinet or traveling bag.

Try a bottle today. Dentists and Doctors use Astring-o-sol and prescribe it to their patients for its superior penetrating power, powerful antiseptic and germicidal activity, effective astringent and cleansing qualities.

FREE! An artistic Lanster Glass—in your choice of 5 beautiful pastel colors—is given FREE with every bottle of Astring-o-sol. Your neighborhood druggist is now featuring this special introductory offer.

This 4-ounce bottle makes 12 full pints of refreshing mouth wash.

OPPORTUNITY FOR SALE!

THIS is one of those times when it seems desirable to emphasize the obvious.

Thus, good business in America is twelve months nearer revival than it was a year ago.

There are more people in the country now than then, more real money piling up in the banks, more wholesale, retail, consumers' shelves yawning for stock.

In the meanwhile Wear and Tear, Need and Desire and the Four Horsemen of commodity consumption ride tirelessly on the job.

The combination of these obvious facts doesn't spell Opportunity in eye-smiting letters for the staid manufacturer of worthy goods we don't know our orthography.

Year from now many a Fabian businessman will look backward and regretfully wonder how he missed it.

The whole history of Business is golden testimony to the truth that in times like these the seeds of future growth and greatness are most fruitfully and most enduringly sown.

Even now, in almost every line, the businesses that are heeding this lesson by working instead of wishing are depression-proof and flourishing like the green bay tree!

THE SATURDAY EVENING POST feels kinship with every business that has the vision and the will to prosper.

It offers the deserving advertiser now when needed a privileged entry under matchless sponsorship into the richest, soundest market on earth.

It carries his message straight to the preferred families of America—that hub three-million-strong which turns the taste, thinking, buying of the nation—and fortifies it with the indorsement of its own tested character.

If the facts about your product will make intelligent people want it, our advertising pages can be in all truth designated "Opportunity for Sale"!

STAFFORD WINS IN ATTACK CASE

El Monte Merchant Freed by Order of Court

Girl Secretary Refuses to Appear as Witness

Dismissal Made After Grand Jury Fails to Act

Clayton C. Stafford, El Monte grain merchant, yesterday won exoneration in Superior Judge Schauer's court, when an attack charge against him was dismissed at the request of the District Attorney.

Stafford was once convicted of attacking his young secretary, Miss Rae Schade. He appealed, however, and in the Supreme Court won a new trial.

SHE WON'T RETURN

When the case was called two weeks ago Judge Schauer refused to dismiss it when it was shown that Miss Schade was attending the University of Utah and refused to return to Los Angeles.

Judge Schauer then ordered the case again referred to the grand jury, stating that if the evidence in the first place was insufficient an inquiry should be made concerning those who filed the complaint.

But when the case was brought up before the grand jury it declined to take any action and referred the matter back to the Superior Court.

REPORT HEARD

When the case was called yesterday Judge Schauer, upon hearing the report, ordered the case dismissed.

Stafford was tried more than a year ago. He maintained, during the trial, that he was the victim of a frame-up plot and charged that he had been approached for a lucrative settlement to avoid prosecution.

DOWNTOWN SITE BRINGS HIGH PRICE

Half-Million Dollars Paid for Eighty-seven-Foot Frontage on Sixth Street

Eighty-seven feet of Sixth-street frontage yesterday sold for slightly more than $500,000 when the Amerco Investment Company disposed of its 87.75-foot frontage adjoining the Savoy Hotel at Sixth street and Grand avenue, to the Southwestern Portland Cement Company, Roosevelt Building. The property has a depth of 115 feet. It is reported the cement company plans the erection of a limit-height building on the site.

Glenn H. Deuel of the Charles G. Andrews Company represented the seller in the transaction and the Richard T. St. John Company the buyer.

Flirting With Women Charged Against Pastor

Rev. Essek W. Kenyon, pastor of the Independent Baptist Church, was sued yesterday for divorce by his wife, Alice Whitney Kenyon, in a complaint that asserted the defendant associated with other women and made improper advances toward them. Mrs. Kenyon states that her husband makes $500 a month as pastor and evangelist, in addition to an income from radio lectures and sale of books.

One of the women Mr. Kenyon is accused of visiting is Doris Willie of Oakland. Three other women complained of live in Los Angeles.

The couple were married November 25, 1914, and separated June 23, last. They have two children, Essek, Jr., 14 years of age, and Alice, 11.

Two Arrested When Deputies Find Dynamite

Held in connection with the theft of eighteen cases of dynamite and 1800 feet of fuse from the abandoned site of the proposed San Gabriel Dam, Herbert L. Pierce, 33 years of age, of 607 Orange street, Azusa, and Alvin J. Gower, 42, 1136 Heintz street, Baldwin Park, were booked in the County Jail last night by Deputy Sheriffs Tucker and Robinson.

According to the deputies, Pierce and Gower took the dynamite and fuse from a powder house at the San Gabriel site on the 14th inst. and hid a portion of the explosive at 156 Soldano avenue, Azusa, where the officers said they found it.

Family Suing for $151,565

Suits asking aggregate damages of $151,565 went to trial in Superior Judge Tryon's court yesterday with William Irwin and his family plaintiffs and the Pickwick Stages, Inc., defendant.

Cause of complaint was an accident on Baker Grade in San Bernardino county, November 23, 1929. It is asserted that by negligence of the driver the stage left the road at excessive speed and injured the plaintiffs, Irwin, Mrs. Annie Irwin and Florence and Betty Irwin.

Defendants have denied responsibility, claiming the wrong corporation has been sued.

GERMAN LECTURE TONIGHT

Beginning today at 8 p.m. the Los Angeles Public Library, under the auspices of the foreign department and the direction of Prof. William Diamond of the University of California at Los Angeles, offers the second of a series of five lectures in German. The lecturer tonight is Herr Berthold Viertel, a director at the Fox studios, and his subject is "The Modern German Theater."

LONG HUNT FOR GRANT FRUITLESS

Trustee Named in Court for $100,000 Property of Missing Contractor

A four months' search for Alexander Grant, 60-year-old pioneer contractor, has failed to locate him, according to testimony in Superior Judge Stephens's court yesterday, when on application of Attorney Ray Chesebro, Grant's nephew, David L. Carter, was appointed trustee of property worth $100,000.

Grant lived with his sister, Mrs. William Carter of 1202 West Thirty-sixth Place, before he disappeared July 15, last. He left home at 10 a.m., and a few minutes later a neighbor saw him standing at the corner of Vermont avenue and Thirty-fifth street. He is known to have had $6 in his possession when he left home. No attempt has since been made to draw on his $10,000 bank account.

Grant, who came to Los Angeles in 1887, is one of the best-known contractors in the city, and is described as 5ft. 6in. tall, of about 135 pounds weight, with heavy gray eyebrows and moustache, and with gray hair, but partly bald. He wore glasses and had false teeth. He was a member of the Elks' Lodge.

According to Attorney Chesebro a liberal reward will be paid for information leading to discovery of the missing man.

Company F to Make Captain of Entertainer

Every time Miss Bernardine Lewis has visited Los Angeles as the alluring soubrette of a musical comedy or vaudeville extravaganza, she has "taken time out" to drop in on "the boys of Company F" and regale them with a repertoire of her numbers. And now she is to be rewarded.

MISS BERNADINE LEWIS.

On the stroke of midnight Saturday "the boys of Company F," One Hundred and Sixtieth Infantry, are to confer an honorary captaincy upon her with full military ceremonies during their first annual ball in the armory at Exposition Park.

Miss Lewis is to present a "modes of filmdom" fashion revue during the ball.

Wilkins to Be Welcomed on Arrival Sunday

Plans are being completed for a reception for Sir Hubert Wilkins, scientist and explorer, when he arrives here Sunday. He is to lecture before the Jewish Institute Forum Monday evening at the Wilshire-Ebell Theater on "Flying the Ends of the Earth."

Isaac Pacht, president; Samuel Tierman and Jesse R. Mayers will be the reception committee.

The lecture, illustrated with motion pictures, is to mark the inauguration of the second series of the season by the forum, of which Rabbi Lissauer is leader. Others scheduled for the course include Hendrik William Van Loon, author; Will Durant, philosopher and writer, and Guglielmo Ferrero, historian and sociologist.

Beans Spilled in Divorce Suit

"Papa threw a bean pot at mamma," Freddie Coleman, 8 years of age, yesterday testified in Superior Judge Bowron's court, aiding Mrs. Katherine Coleman to win a divorce from Harry Coleman, motion-picture extra. The boy said he scraped the beans off his mother after the episode described.

Mrs. Coleman testified Coleman threw pots, pans, kitchen utensils and a box at her, denting the kitchen walls. Attorney Griffith Jones appeared for her. Judge Bowron gave the wife custody of the son, and ordered Coleman to pay $10 a week for their support.

OIL PERMIT VOTED

The City Council yesterday voted ordinances permitting R. L. Sparks and Bertha S. Edwards to drill for oil in the Venice field. The Council also approved recommendations of the City Planning Committee that ordinances be drawn in favor of A. I. Smith, covering eight lots, while the City Planning Commission recommended to the Council that approval be given the applications of Lucy Clark and J. G. Awenius.

REAR-DOOR RULE CUTS ALIMONY

Husband Scores When Wife Bars Him From Front Entrance to Home

So he can rent a room outside his wife's home the alimony of Fred S. Ellenmeier, veteran street-car conductor, was reduced from $60 to $45 a month by Superior Judge Westover yesterday.

Ellenmeier testified in support of a motion of Attorney S. S. Hahn that his wife had objected to his entering the front door, and had him use the back door instead. This became irksome, said Ellenmeier, and the only remedy he could suggest was to rent a room elsewhere. The court agreed with im.

M.-G.-M. SIGNS COMEDIENNE

Charlotte Greenwood Will Play in Keaton Film

Fox Signs Players for Two Feature Pictures

BY GRACE KINGSLEY

CHARLOTTE GREENWOOD

Miss Greenwood was signed yesterday for the featured comedienne role in Buster Keaton's next Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer comedy, not yet titled, but authored by Richard Schayer.

The comedy, we find, is a domestic one about two couples of young married folks who live next door to each other and, who, though close friends, manage to get mixed up together in a lot of domestic difficulties. This sounds very much like "So Long Letty," in which Miss Greenwood starred on the stage, doesn't it? But we are assured that it isn't the same story at all.

Anita Page is to be the other young wife, but just who the other husband will be isn't settled.

Edward Sedgwick will direct the comedy, which is due to go into production next week.

GARSON COMPANY TO TREK SOUTH AGAIN

Universal is planning to send Harry Garson, together with his photographer, Lewis Physioc, and a company of players, back to the South Seas for another picture, if the one just brought back, "The White Captive," proves to be as successful as it promises to be.

Garson, who directed "The White Captive," is desirous of going back, but would like this time to go to Bali to make a picture.

Lewis Physioc had some interesting things to tell about the observations he made in the South Seas and Orient.

"Such extremes in riches and poverty in Chinese life," he said. "For instance, the sampans came alongside our boat in Shanghai, and we noticed that where the sewage came out into the water from the city, the Chinese were casting nets to catch the bread and other refuse. This they placed on boards to dry and feed to their children! That night at the home of a rich Chinese where we were entertained we ate a dish composed entirely of one tender part of ducks. As this part is only a morsel, it must have taken a couple of hundred ducks to furnish the dish for our host's many guests.

"We learned that the Balinese, who are under the rule of the Dutch, have refused to abide by some of the laws made by the latter. For instance, the Bali women do not cover the upper parts of their bodies, and when a law was made that they must do so, they refused point-blank. The reason was that only women of the streets so covered their bodies, it being the badge of their calling."

FOX SIGNS PLAYERS FOR FEATURE ROLES

Fox authorities were busy yesterday signing players for various important roles in two productions.

Frances McCoy, who played the lead in "Soup to Nuts," was hired to play the leading ingenue role in the college story, not yet titled, in which John Wayne and Virginia Cherrill have the romantic leads. Miss McCoy is considered, we hear, to be well on her way to stardom.

FRANCES McCOY

William Collier, Jr., will play opposite Miss McCoy in the juvenile lead. Other players signed for the picture are Joan Castle and Nancy Kelly.

"Squadrons," which is to be the next John Farrell-Janet Gaynor vehicle, will have in the juvenile lead that excellent young actor, Humphrey Bogart, who, it will be remembered, played the lead in New York in "A Wise Child."

Bogart was signed by Fox a few months ago, following his triumph in the above-named play, and he has already distinguished himself by his playing in a couple of Fox features, including "Up the River."

Lubitsch May Return

Ernst Lubitsch, who went East to supervise and direct at the Paramount Long Islad studios, is reported as preferring to work in California, with the result, we learned on inquiry at the studio, that he is likely to be allowed by the organization to return to Hollywood before the end of the stipulated six months, during which he was to remain in the East.

ERNST LUBITSCH.

It is also reported that Lubitsch much prefers giving his entire attention to writing and directing rather than to supervising. He is scheduled to direct Maurice Chevalier in the star's next picture, and following that will probably return.

Thelma Todd With R.-K.-O.

There is no unemployment problem for Thelma Todd. Not only is this young lady signed up by Universal and Paramount for two important roles, but yesterday we learned that somewhere in between the two, or maybe in the long winter evenings, she will find time to make a short for Radio Pictures.

MOVIE SENSATION

The other day I saw what I regard as the finest picture since the talkies came in. It is "MOROCCO"—directed by Josef Von Sternberg. It has everything—a great story, the most finished direction I ever remember having seen and a leading lady who is going to tip the theatrical world upside down.

She is a German girl named MARLENE DIETRICH. She is, as you might say, a superheated Garbo. She has the finest instinct for timing and reading lines of any actress on the screen. In fact, she makes most of our illustrious stars sound like amateur night. If she isn't the sensation of the screen inside one year, then I don't know anything about pictures.

THE dazzling blonde beauty that held two continents spellbound. The golden voice that flooded thousands of raptured audiences. We could have named this tempestuous and dramatic picturization of the intimate life of the famous Swedish Nightingale "A Lady's Morals" or "The Love Life of an Opera Singer," but what man-made name could carry the warmth and suggestions of "Jenny Lind"?

PARAMOUNT TO SCREEN "SEA LEGS"

Jack Oakie, the comedian with the permanent grin, stars in "Sea Legs," at the Paramount Theater today. The stage show, "Ole Virginny," features Slim Timblin.

"Sea Legs" is Paramount's nautical comedy of a mythical navy. It is from the pen of George Marion, Jr. Harry Green, Lillian Roth and Eugene Pallette portray the chief supporting roles. Victor Heerman directed.

Earl Abel, organist, has arranged another novel solo. Paramount sound news and a short comedy complete the program.

Noted Players Teamed in New Pantages Film

Nancy Carroll and Fredric March are teamed for the first time in "Laughter," which opens today at Pantages Hollywood Theater. On the bill with the screen feature is Panchon and Marco's "Espanola Idea," a stage show.

"Laughter" is described as a dream of modern love in a city. Fredric March is seen as a pianist-composer lover who forsakes Miss Carroll to study abroad. Harry D'Arrast directed.

Slim Martin has been preparing this week's orchestral number with a desire to present something different in the way of a musical offering. The latest Knute Rockne football special, a news reel and other short subjects constitute the remainder of the new bill.

Whispers in the Wings

BY MURIEL BABCOCK

SID GRAUMAN will present "Once in a Lifetime," comedy about Hollywood by Moss Hart and George S. Kaufman, on the Pacific Coast. A rumor to this effect, current the past two days, was confirmed last night by direct wire from Sam H. Harris in New York.

Grauman will do the show locally within the very near future and with a cast of actors recruited almost entirely from the stage. Although there has been no decision as to a theater, it is said that Grauman wants to do this show about Hollywood in Hollywood and thus the Vine-street Theater is considered a likely choice.

SID GRAUMAN

"Once in a Lifetime," variously described as "one of the finest comedies ever written, "the most bitter arraignment of the film colony ever attempted" and in other widely divergent ways, without doubt lampoons Hollywood as it never has been lampooned before. It is satire, pure and simple, with every line a bombshell.

That Grauman, one of the master showmen of the country, one of the best-known figures of Hollywood, should choose to produce for Sam Harris this comedy which caricatures his oldest and best friends in the picture industry, is considered one of the remarkable happenings of the local theatrical world.

At one time, it was said that no one would dare do "Once in a Lifetime" in this city. Then, as reports began to drift back from New York that film moguls, chance visitors from the west coast, were among the show's best customers, the bidding for the local rights began in earnest. Every stage producer of importance in town has been after the show. Grauman, a figure of the industry, got it.

The history of "Once In a Lifetime" is brief. It was written by Moss Hart, a young man who has never been to Hollywood and, furthermore, until this, was unknown in the theatrical world, in collaboration with George S. Kaufman. It was produced at the Sam H. Harris Music Box Theater in New York the evening of September 24 this year, with Kaufman playing the leading role of Lawrence Vail. In his mouth are most of the best lines of the play.

What kind of a production will Grauman give it here? Will he present it with the tremendous ballyhoo which has always accompanied his combination film and stage presentations? Will Hollywood muster forth its sense of humor and make a social occasion of the event? Will there be "personal appearances?"

It looks as if things are going to be mighty interesting these next few weeks.

Al Jolson Back to Stage

Here's another piece of spot news. Al Jolson's oft-reported return to the stage has become a reality.

It was announced yesterday from the Erlanger office that he would appear in New York in February in a new musical play to be brought forth by Max Gordon in association with Erlanger Productions, Inc.

Although neither the authors nor the title of the show have been determined, preparations for the production will begin almost immediately. Mr. Gordon is going to London within a day or so to see that city's production of "Evergreen" but he will be back on Broadway to assume active direction of the show within a month.

Jolson's last stage vehicle was "Big Boy." His last movie was also "Big Boy."

Lya De Putti Ill

And a wire to this desk last night told of the illness of Lya De Putti, film actress for a short time, who made her debut on the stage in "Made in France." Her engagement at the Cort Theater in this play has accordingly ended. Miss De Putti was unable to appear on Tuesday night, at which time an announcement was made from the stage by Stanley Ridges, a member of the cast, that no performance would be given and that money would be refunded. The production may reopen.

SCRIABIN SYMPHONY SCHEDULED

Rodzinski Will Conduct Orchestra at Auditorium Tonight and Tomorrow

The third pair of symphony concerts of the season to be conducted tonight and tomorrow afternoon at the Philharmonic Auditorium by Dr. Artur Rodzinski will have the third symphony of Scriabin as its principal program number. Scriabin, the Russian theosophist, called this symphony "The Divine Poem" as it voiced his gratitude and joy in good fortune.

Sophie Braslau, the American contralto with the darkly passionate voice, has chosen a new work by Bassani in the cantata form, "Per lontananza di Donna Crudele," the Gypsy Songs of Brahms and Rachmaninoff's "Vocalise" for her soli with the orchestra. As Miss Braslau has achieved fame for her temperament and musicianship, the selections promise the unusual.

PLAY SHOP OFFERS DEPRESSING FARE

BY KATHERINE T. VON BLON

The ultimate in inquisitorial melodramatics offered at the Play Shop in the form of a Grand Guignol program is quite in the continental manner.

"Sabotage," dramatized by Franklyn Allen and Lillian Lewis, reached a malignant climax which involved the audience in a series of flesh-creeping chills. Charles Maurice as the surgeon father gave a polished portrayal. Smith Dawless and Virginia Steele completed the competent cast.

Blood-curdling moments and a grim contre temps in the midst of a chamber of horrors of a leper retreat, "The Lepers," translated by Brian Desmond Hurst, proved robust fare. It was almost unbearable through the sheer corrosive horror of its denouement. Violet Trevelyan added much to the grewsome realism through her screams, which caused one sensitive soul in the first row to faint. Stuart Jones as the brother gave excellent support, and Elliot Duvey brought a sort of rough bravado to his part. Enrico Ricardi as the doctor managed a peculiarly distrait manner, which rather suggested a mental derangement in the character, who with such diabolical intent wrought physical disfigurement to his victims. Others who contributed were Clifton Camp, Eleanor Mather, Van Noy Davis, Keith Trelawney, Rex Curtis and Florence Baer.

Light in persiflage and amusingly contrived as to situation, "A Pair of Lunatics" brought the one bright moment in an evening of depressing atmosphere. Jimmie Shelton and Katherin Pierce approached their parts with a gay spontaneity which livened the proceedings.

'SUNNY' SET VISITED BY IMPRESARIO

Ziegfeld Watches Star Enact Familiar Role in Vitaphone Film

Florenz Ziegfeld, producer of all Marilyn Miller's stage successes for some years, paid a visit to the set at First National studios where Miss Miller was filming "Sunny" as a Vitaphone special. Ziegfeld was accompanied by Jack L. Warner, vice-president in charge of production at First National.

The visit was made during the filming of the "Hunt Ball," in which Miss Miller does a dance dressed in riding costume. Ziegfeld originated the dance on the stage.

"Sunny" is elaborately produced on the screen, especially as that medium gives much more scope for background than the stage, which is limited in the number of sets. Lawrence Gray, O. P. Heggie, Joe Donahue, Inez Courtney, Barbara Bedford, MacKenzie Ward, Clyde Cook and many others are in the cast. William A. Seiter directed.

"Sunny" opens at both Warner theaters tomorrow.

"Silver Horde" Will Open at R.-K.-O. Today

"The Silver Horde," Wallace Smith's adaptation of the story of romance and adventure in Alaska by Rex Beach, starts today on the screen of the R.-K.-O. Theater. "Broadway's Playboy," Jack Osterman, just returned from a European engagement, occupies the star spot on the new vaudeville program.

The plot of "The Silver Horde" centers about two girls, one a former cabaret hostess and the other a society debutante. Both fight for the love of a disappointed gold-seeker who attempts to establish a salmon fishery in competition with a monopoly.

Parisian Star Seen as Waiter

A triple comedy treat has been prepared for moving-picture patrons in Maurice Chevalier's "Playboy of Paris," opening today at the Million Dollar Theater. In addition to the singing star of this sparkling farce, Eugene Pallette has an important humorous role, and Stuart Erwin, the dumb Axel of "Sweetie," is also in the cast.

Chevalier, Pallette and Erwin are cast as a trio of restaurateurs. Chevalier is a singing waiter with dreams of becoming wealthy. Pallette is the rotund chef. Erwin is Pallette's kitchen boy.

ALEXANDER TAKES TO AIR

Richard Alexander's knowledge of aviation has been of good use the past week, for he has been portraying the manager of the flying field in "The Flying Telephone," which is being made at the United Airport.

PHONE CALL BRINGS ROLE

Olive Meehan, Broadway actress, was snapping the locks on her traveling bags when the telephone call came asking her to take the leading role in "The Infinite Shoeblack."

Did she like the play? Was the role familiar? Could she come over and see about it? She did. It was. She could. Then she unpacked the bags.

Oddly enough, Miss Meehan saw "The Infinite Shoeblack" in its premiere in New York last season shortly before she came to Los Angeles. Helen Menken played the part of Mary. Miss Meehan liked the play and was fascinated by the role. She wanted that part some time, but there was the engagement on the Coast, so she tucked the "Infinite Shoeblack" away in her memory and came west.

Then came the telephone call from Colin Campbell, director of the play. She got the job.

"The Infinite Shoeblack" opens at the Music Box Monday. It will be the second production of the Bowl Theater Association.

ment. Several new and novel arrangements have been prepared.

FIRST TECHNICAL EXPERT

Roy J. Pomeroy, director of Paramount's first all-talking picture, "Interference," and also "Inside the Lines," which he recently completed for Radio Pictures, was one of the first technical experts employed by any studio. His work in "Wings" and "The Ten Commandments" won him recognition. Pomeroy is also the inventor of the transparency photographic process, it is stated.

Sieroty Made Treasurer for Fund Musicale

Adolph Sieroty has been appointed treasurer of the Los Angeles Autumn Musicale, to be given at the Shrine Auditorium next Sunday by the Los Angeles Central Committee for the Jewish National Fund.

Mr. Sieroty yesterday declared the committee is interested in making the musicale a success because of the worthy humanitarian cause it will benefit.

Loew's Presents 'Remote Control' as New Feature

"Remote Control," starring William Haines, new M.-G.-M. comedy and mystery picture opening at Loew's State Theater today, was taken from the stage play of the same name. The new attraction reveals Haines in the role of a radio announcer whose station, unknown to him, is being used by a bandit gang as a means of signal communication in their activities.

WILLIAM HAINES

Mary Doran has the leading feminine role, with the supporting cast featuring Charles King, Polly Moran, John Miljan, Roscoe Ates and others. Edward Sedgwick directed.

On the stage, Gene Morgan makes his home-coming bow as the new Loew's State master of ceremonies. His first work will be with Fanchon and Marco's "Moonlight Revels" idea, staged by Larry Ceballos. Seen in the cast are George Broadhurst and Madeleine, Arnold Grazer, Melvin Brothers, Freda Sullivan, Curry and Brown, Pierce and Lasalle, and the Sunkist ensemble. A new Hal Roach "Our Gang" comedy is included on the program.

Dorothy Burgess, the star of "The Bird of Flame," now pleasing audiences at the Belasco Theater, announces that if worse comes to worst she will join a circus with her knife-throwing act.

In "The Bird of Flame," Miss Burgess throws a dagger halfway across the stage. It comes close to the dainty head of Evelyn Humes, and stops quivering in a wooden wall. The star devoted nearly as much time practicing this knife-throwing stunt, as she did on her exotic dance in the first act, according to the Belasco management.

The Burgess back yard in Beverly Hills was the training school for the Burgess knife-throwing act. A thick board was nailed to the garage door. After a few days' trial Miss Burgess was able to hit the garage, later the door, and finally a small circle on the board.

When Miss Burgess first tried the throw on the stage, Miss Humes leaped from the side of the stage to her basement dressing room. Now, however, she is sure of the Burgess aim.

Song Provides Plot for Next Orpheum Film

Tay Garnett and Howard Higgin conceived the story of "Her Man," which follows Amos 'n' Andy into the Orpheum Theater Saturday, from the romance of Frankie and Johnnie.

For nearly half a century, it is said, this mythical duo has been sung about in all the far-flung places in the world where Americans have gathered, and the song, with its innumerable verses, has been rated by Carl Sandburg in "The American Songbag," as among the classics.

Helen Twelvetrees is cast as the relentless coquette, Frankie, Ricardo Cortez, suave screen villain, plays the part of Johnnie, and Marjorie Rambeau portrays Annie, with whom Frankie's man trifled with dire results. Phillips Holmes is the leading man.

Others in the cast are Jimmy Gleason, Franklin Pangborn, Harry Sweet, Thelma Todd, Mathew Betz, Mike Donlin and Stanley Fields. Tay Garnett directed.

Theodore Lorch to Enact Role at El Capitan

Theodore Lorch has been engaged for a role in "Michael and Mary," the A. A. Milne comedy co-starring Dale Winter and Henry Duffy, which opens Sunday matinee at El Capitan Theater.

As a leading man, Lorch played for four years in Salt Lake City and for five years in Denver, and later toured the country in "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde" and "Sherlock Holmes." His latest local appearance was at the Vine-street Theater in "The Jade God."

Among the recent picture releases in which this actor has appeared are "Whoopee," "Runaway Bride" and a series of short-subject features produced by First National.

Lorch joins a supporting cast which includes Alan Bunce, Stephanie Claire, Arthur Clayton, Phillis Coghlan, Frank Dawson and Wilfred Noy.

"Hello, Russia" Now Finished

Universal has completed its fourth Slim Summerville two-reel comedy, titling it "Hello, Russia." This is the fifth of the series in production on the studio lot, under the direction of Harry Edwards.

Lucile Hutton is the new leading lady for the comedies, being featured with Eddie Gribbon in the fourth and fifth of the group. Slim Summerville is in the starring role.

Walter Long, Jack Richardson and Alexander Woloshin have been signed for roles in the fifth, yet untitled.

LANGDON VERSATILE

STAGE SHOW BOOKED AT MAJESTIC

Jack Russell and Troupe to Open Engagement on Thanksgiving Day

The Majestic Theater will offer Jack Russell and his musical comedy company of forty persons on the stage starting Thanksgiving Day. In addition to the stage revue a program of selected talking pictures will be screened each week.

Russell has recently completed engagements in Portland, Seattle and San Francisco. He is a character comedian and will be supported by a popular cast of players. The opening bill will be called "Hello Everybody."

The Majestic management has announced that four complete shows will be given each day, starting on the 27th inst. Today Lola Lane, Guinn Williams and others will be seen on the screen in "The Big Fight."

New Plays on Schedule for Eastern City

NEW YORK, Nov. 19. (Exclusive) Not a few managers may be interested to know that S. N. Behrman is at work on a new play. In the meantime his "Love Story" is still under option to the Guild.

Helen Hayes and "Petticoat Influence" will open in Washington on December 8. Mr. Miller's intention is to bring both to New York the following week.

They have been thinking things over up at the Carroll office and the result is that they will not do the revue called "Personalities" immediately. It may come forth in the spring provided a sufficient quota of somebodies can be corralled, and present arrangements call for it to be surrounded entirely by editions of "Sketchbook."

The first of these issues Mr. Carroll hopes to have ready early in the new year and that old bookworm, Eddie Cantor, will probably re-enter the field of literature as its "author." The second would if it follows "Personalities" be produced when the weather is again warm, a circumstance which makes very little difference in the case of a "Sketchbook." It seems that the new theater which Mr. Carroll is building on the site of his old one in Fiftieth street will not be ready as soon as expected—the date is now September—and this some way has figured in these changes of plan.

Since Arch Selwyn has become an ally of Mr. Dillingham and the Erlanger forces, they, in turn, have become associated with Mr. Selwyn's London colleague, Mr. Cochran. At least the story runs that the Erlanger office has put up half of the money for the Cochran production of "Evergreen," which will open at the metropolis' Adelphi in another week.

It is a current trick of Thurston, the thaumaturgist who is hovering in the vicinity, to make a small car disappear, which will probably give rise to more of those jokes. Next season the magician plans to go a step farther and make himself disappear—for a while, at least. He plans a trip around the world.

Mr. Schwab's "Trade Winds" will close in Philadelphia Saturday. Uncertain at the moment is the future of the play, but it seems safe to predict that New York will not see it immediately. In the meantime another sea piece is in preparation wherever Robert V. Newman does his preparing. This is "Storm Song" by the Mr. Buchman who wrote Mr. Muni's "This One Man."

Howard Hughes Ready to Move to United Studio

Preparations were being made yesterday by Howard Hughes, motion-picture producer, to move his executive offices and producing equipment from the Metropolitan to the United Artists' studio, when he will become actively associated with Joseph M. Schenck in the production of talking pictures.

The deal whereby Hughes becomes coproducer with Schenck, president of United Artists, was announced some time ago.

Hughes has been seen for the past several days at the United Artists' lot looking over available office space. It is probable he will take over the offices formerly occupied by Douglas Fairbanks.

Sherman Has New Film Role

After several weeks devoted to assisting with the story, rehearsing the players and preparing to film R.-K.-O. Radio Pictures' "The Queen's Husband," Lowell Sherman now is directing the picture and playing the title role in it.

Recently he shouldered new responsibilities. He began the study of German, Spanish and Italian. This was necessary because the King in Robert E. Sherwood's play is something of a linguist, rattling off lines in five languages. The other two tongues are English and French, which Sherman already speaks.

TANGO WRITTEN FOR CONSTANCE BENNETT

Constance Bennett may be welcomed by the strains of her own tango when she goes to Europe next spring for her annual vacation abroad.

The song, called "Constancia," in the blond star's honor, was written by Dr. Francis Gromon, general director of the Pathe music department. It was composed for her to dance, to the accompaniment of a real Argentine orchestra, in a Paris night club scene of her new picture, "Sin Takes a Holiday."

Latin Opera Star Signed for Prologue

Armanda Chirot, Mexican opera star, has been added to the cast of "A Melodic Moorish Panorama," to be presented as the atmospheric prologue to "Morocco" at the Chinese Theater Tuesday night.

She will be cofeatured with Marietta, the dancing star of George White's "Scandals," in the presentation which Fanchon and Marco are staging with Larry Ceballos's assistance.

Miss Chirot was formerly featured in the Fanchon and Marco productions, but left them this season to join the San Francisco Opera Company.

Georgie Stoll is to conduct the musical score for the "Morocco" prologue. Karl Majoe of the Paramount music department is supervising the arranging.

Details which will make the Tuesday night premiere a brilliant one are being completed.

MISS BENNETT SINGS

Joan Bennett is receiving praise for her singing of the theme song, "Maybe It's Love," in her latest picture by that name.

Bard's Screens "Monte Carlo"

"Monte Carlo," the Ernst Lubitsch comedy, with Jack Buchanan and Jeanette MacDonald in the principal roles, will be the attraction at Bard's Eighth-street Theater starting today. "Monte Carlo" is said to be a comical account of a courtship at the famous European resort. In addition to "Monte Carlo," there will be a Tuxedo comedy, as well as a Paramount News reel.

"Up the River" Starts New Run

The picture was directed by John Ford. Its cast includes Spencer Tracy, William Collier, Sr., and others. Also on the new bill at the Egyptian are a variety of selected short subjects.

"Green Bottle" in Second Week at Vine Street

Presenting a mystery based on oriental intrigue, "The Green Bottle" is now in its second week at the Vine-street Theater.

In introducing the unusual auditory effects, a stage crew larger than the cast is employed. The noise of cannon, machine guns, bombs and pistols are duplicated in sound effects.

The story concerns the machinations of a Chinese scientist to obtain knowledge of the green bottle and its secret, by which he will be able to subject the entire world to his will. The cast is headed by Oscar Apfel, and includes Nita Cavalier, Frances Morris, Al Bridge, Consuelo Dawn, Buddy Clark and others.

GRAPE MEN PAY GANGLAND TOLL

Tribute of $4,500,000 Given Out by Californians

Fresno Paper Prints Expose of Gigantic Racket

Bootleggers Said to Be at Bottom of System

FRESNO, Nov. 19. (AP)—The fresh grape industry in California paid approximately $4,500,000 tribute to gangsters and racketeers in the eastern markets in 1930, according to a compilation made by the Fresno Morning Republican and published today. The compilation was made from information obtained from sources believed by the Republican to be reliable, and showed a cost to California grape growers of approximately 25 cents a package for every one of the 18,000,000 packages of grapes sold on the eastern auction markets this year.

There are several methods used by racketeers in extorting funds from the grape industry; the article said, among them the method used in Chicago, by which receivers are compelled to pay $30 a car to the representatives of the racket before the car door can be opened on any car of juice grapes. These members may or may not be armed, but refusal to pay has resulted in the disappearance of truckmen, or their mistreatment.

In New York, the article stated, the system is different. The racket is in the control of the truckmen, who make a charge for loading and hauling, which is approximately $100 a car. Grape men estimate the reasonable value of the service at a maximum of $40 a car, leaving $60 paid as tribute. The article also pointed out that these methods are used to compel shippers to hold high-priced grapes on track without ice until they begin to spoil, resulting in their sale to bootleggers at low prices. An average reduction in price of 30 cents a package, or $3,000,000 on 10,000 cars is reported as occurring by this method.

GRAPE GROWERS DENY LINK TO GANGLAND

BY FLOYD J. HEALEY
"Times" Staff Correspondent

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 19. (Exclusive)—California grape juices are not in a competitive market with bootleggers, no overtures have been made or received beyond anonymous threats of "musclers" who hang on the fringes of every legitimate industry, no attention is being paid to them, no conferences have been held between representatives of illegal interests and the representatives of the vineyard interests and the organizations conceived and put into operation to rehabilitate the grape industry with the approval of the Federal Farm Board will continue to function toward that end.

Thus did Donald D. Conn, managing director of Fruit Industries, Ltd., and the California Vineyardists' Association, today summarize a situation which grew from the sale of grape juice concentrate in the East and resultant reports that lieutenants of Al Capone, king pin of racketeers, had defied Fruit Industries to sell concentrate without reprisals.

TIME TO TALK

When a report got into circulation today to the effect some grape growers and legal representatives of racketeers had been conferring in San Francisco, Conn decided it was time to clear the atmosphere.

"I know nothing of such conferences," he asserted. "Fruit Industries, Ltd., is not interested in bootleggers, racketeers, or anything of that nature. It was organized a year ago by the California Vineyardists' Association for the purpose of affording a centralized legal control over the disposition of the California grape surplus. Fruit Industries, Ltd., is owned by the grape growers. It obtains its financing from government and commercial sources and its collateral is as good as that of any other industry.

"Fruit Industries, Ltd., is engaged in the manufacture of grape products, including concentrated grape juice, jellies, cooking sauces, fresh grape juice and other commodities that can be made from grapes. It will follow the legal channels of outlet for these products, protecting itself and observing the law in its manufacturing and merchandising methods.

CORNER DRUG STORE

"So far as its concentrated grape juice is concerned, Fruit Industries, Ltd., will take the juice from the vineyards to the home through one of the most responsible agencies which can be employed, namely: The corner drug store.

"We have no interest in racketeering or what other people or interests are doing or may do.

"We think we have a solution of the grape problem of this State and it is our purpose to market our products only through approved legal channels."

Conn already has disclosed certain threats have been received. So far as he has been able to discover, he said, they all were directed at him. In each case they were anonymous and he has no means of knowing they came from Capone or any other group of racketeers. The threats, he revealed, were simply to him to "move on" and were received from unknown sources each time.

MEMBERSHIP 19,000

Appeals for protection from racketeers which Washington dispatches today said were made to the Department of Justice by grape interests did not originate with the San Francisco offices of the grape industry, Mr. Conn said. He suggested that Mabel Walker Willebrandt, counsel for Fruit Industries, Ltd., may have made some such request during one of several conferences she has had recently with department officials and other government bureaus with respect to the legal phases of grape-juice distribution.

Fruit Industries has about 19,000 members, virtually paralleling the California Grape Control Board, organized with Federal sanction, which represents approximately 95 per cent of the tonnage of the State.

PROTECTION PLEA LAID BEFORE O'BRIAN

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19. (AP)—A plea from California grape growers and shippers for protection against gangsters levying tribute on their product in several cities has been laid before Asst. Atty.-Gen. O'Brian.

O'Brian is in charge of antitrust matters for the Department of Justice. He was asked to act under Federal laws holding it unlawful to interfere with interstate commerce. What steps the department contemplates, if any, remain undisclosed.

The plea for protection was made partly in behalf of Fruit Industries, a California concern making, among other products, a grape concentrate.

GRAPE JUICE INVOLVED IN COURT FIGHT

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19. (AP)—Prohibition Director Woodcock was informed today a case involving the sale of grape juice which turned to wine is being prosecuted in St. Louis and said he believes the agents bringing the charges were "quite right" in their action.

Woodcock said the agent who made the report is James Dillon, who said that on September 11 he purchased five gallons of grape juice and other paraphernalia used in making intoxicating liquor from Max Rader of St. Louis.

After the grape juice had developed an alcoholic content of 11.8 per cent upon following instructions by Rader, the report said, the latter was arrested and will be called for a hearing December 5.

THOMPSON ROBBERY SUSPECT ACQUITTED

PROMOTER BOB GIVES SELF UP

Six Weeks' Hiding Ended in Stock Sales Case

NEW YORK, Nov. 19. (AP)—Charles V. Bob, mining engineer, friend of aviation and stock promoter, emerged today from six weeks' hiding to plead not guilty to three indictments charging larceny of $97,000 in asserted fraudulent stock sales.

Allegations of irregularity in the affairs of several companies headed by Bob caused him no evident discomposure.

General Sessions Judge Allen released Bob in $35,000 bail.

Bob's associates said the promoter has been in New York since last Saturday, although his previous whereabouts had been kept secret even from his wife, who sold the contents of their Fifth-avenue home last week to raise money.

UNIONS HIT AT WATERWAYS

Rail Brotherhoods' "Unemployment Relief" Meet Scores Ship and Motor Competitors

CHICAGO, Nov. 19. (Exclusive)—Delegates of the five principal railroad brotherhoods of the United States and Canada, meeting in Chicago to form a program for unemployment relief, today adopted a resolution recommending measures to defeat the inland waterways program of the Federal government.

The resolution urges the 2,000,000 union members in the United States represented by the five organizations to work in conjunction with the railroad owners for increased taxation of all bus and trucking lines, shipping concerns utilizing present government-owned waterways and to place all common carriers on a par with railroads.

A. F. Whitney, head of the trainmen's union, asked to enlarge on the resolution, stated:

"We are trying to make all carriers equal. Railroads construct their own roadbeds and lay their own tracks. Carriers using highways should be forced to build their own systems or be taxed heavily for the use of existing ones.

"The proposed waterways system built with government funds would allow steamboat lines to compete unfairly with railroads. If they want a waterway they can build it. Railroads are not subsidized."

Other resolutions, prepared by the special committee and said to deal with unemployment relief through a change in hours per day or days per month, were not voted on by the delegates.

RAINEY SLATED FOR BANK POST

Feelers Sent Bankers Show Truth of Rumor

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 19. (Exclusive)—Edward Rainey, private secretary to Mayor Rolph for the past nineteen years, is slated for appointment as State Superintendent of Banks in the incoming State administration, according to reliable information.

Reports have been in circulation for some days that Rainey might be the successor of Will C. Wood, and it is known feelers were sent out among the various banking groups as to Rainey's acceptability.

Governor-elect Rolph refrained from positive assurance that Rainey will receive the $10,000-a-year post. Rainey has served as private secretary to the Mayor ever since Rolph went into office.

Pig'n Whistle Sales Volume Holding Gain

Sales of the Pig'n Whistle Corporation, Pacific Coast restaurant chain, aggregated $4,053,007 for the twelve months ended October 31, against $3,756,907 reported for the same period a year ago, an increase of 7.88 per cent, according to a statement issued yesterday by the company.

October sales sustained the consistent increase shown each month compared with corresponding periods last year, amounting to $331,-898. This compares with $319,100 reported for October, 1929, and represents an increase of 3.91 per cent.

Sidney Hoedemaker, vice-president and general manager, recently returned from the East, where he was elected president of the National Restaurant Association.

Net profits of the Pig'n Whistle Corporation for its fiscal year closed June 30, last, were equivalent to $1.51 a share on the participating preferred stock. There are more than twenty units in the chain system.

The office, which is located on Hollywood Boulevard, will be operated under the direction of Norman B. Courteney, resident manager of Southern California activities. The new office, Mr. Woods stated, is the forerunner of an extensive expansion to be undertaken by the Pierce organization in Southern California.

E. A. RAIL OUTLOOK BETTER

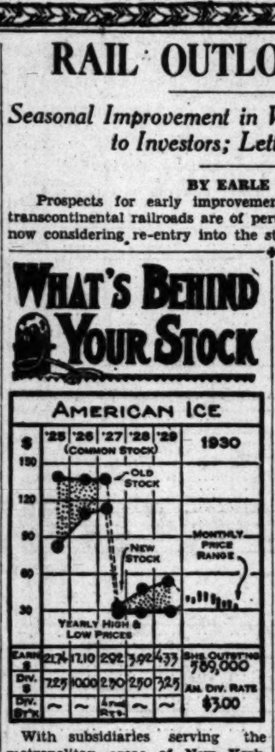
Seasonal Improvement in Western Traffic of Interest to Investors; Lettuce Aids Espee

BY EARLE E. CROWE

Prospects for early improvement in the business of the western transcontinental railroads are of pertinent interest to long-pull investors now considering re-entry into the stock market.



Like other rail issues, the stocks of the Southern Pacific, Atchison and Union Pacific have been substantially deflated, and some time soon should begin to reflect the expected pick-up in freight traffic. Normally the seasoned rails should closely follow advances in the prices of the prime industrial shares leading the cycle of improvement.

GRAY'S COMMENT

First intimation that the western rails were approaching 1929 traffic figures came yesterday from Carl R. Gray, president of the Union Pacific, who said loadings on his road in the first week of November were ahead of last year, although receipts from connecting lines continue to fall behind.

"Loadings generally are showing only a slight improvement," he said, "but at this time last year the volume of traffic was beginning to fall off and comparison with last year in the remaining weeks of this year should be better."

Supporting this evidence, the Southern Pacific has been gradually cutting down its monthly decreases compared with last year, and in the latter part of this month will swing into the lettuce movement, which accounts for large tonnage and substantial profit.

Southern Pacific's business ordinarily shows a seasonal upturn in November and December because of the lettuce contribution from Imperial Valley and Arizona; and in January, February and March the navel season takes up the burden with its profitable traffic. Last season the Imperial Valley supplied the Espee about 13,000 cars of lettuce, and this season will closely approximate this figure, it is estimated.

1930 NET OFF

Because of declining traffic volume this year, the Southern Pacific, Union Pacific and Atchison will show substantial decreases from 1929 profits, but there is no danger to dividends for any of the trio. Net for the Espee in 1929 was $12.74 a share, but if only two-thirds of this amount is earned in 1930, the $6 annual dividend will be amply covered.

All three transcontinental roads entering Southern California anticipate a revival of east-to-west freight shipments in the early spring in reflection of the improved demand for consumers' goods expected to materialise. Inventories of retail, wholesale and industrial plants are low, and some time soon the supplies of finished and raw materials must be brought nearer to normal. This is business that quickly swells the revenues of the cross-country carriers.

With subsidiaries serving the metropolitan areas of New York, Boston, Newark, Philadelphia, Camden, Washington, Baltimore, and other large eastern cities, American Ice operates a chain of some eighty ice-manufacturing plants and owns many storage warehouses as well. A large wholesale ice business is done with local companies serving small towns outside of its own territory. Most of its present ice production is of the manufactured variety, and real estate holdings formerly required for the cutting of natural ice are being gradually sold. To offset the seasonal nature of the business, such complementary lines as coal and fuel oil are being handled in some sections. Prompt service with motor equipment and more intensive sales methods are more than compensating for the trend toward mechanical refrigeration among wealthier customers.

After showing the largest net income in history for 1929, the company continued its progress into 1930 by maintaining net for the first eight months at practically the same figure as in the corresponding period of 1929.

Trade Summary Reports Retail Buying Slower

Although cooler weather has resulted in a slight increase in sales, both manufacturers and retailers report that buying is very restricted with the popular-priced merchandise in demand, according to the weekly summary of conditions in Los Angeles, issued yesterday by the Bradstreet Company.

While the women's wear manufacturers just closed a season of good volume, little profit was made. The industry is now between seasons and most manufacturers are working on spring samples.

In a number of lines unemployment continues to increase, but reports show that building has picked up, and this has helped employment in the trade and allied lines. Motion-picture studios also have increased the number of employees in the past week, although the motion-picture industry, as usual, is on a limited production at this time of the year. Some hope for employment is anticipated from the conference of civic leaders and the Chamber of Commerce, who are formulating a plan to relieve the unemployment situation.

Note Issue of Arizona Edison Utility on Sale

Public offering of a new issue of $1,500,000 one-year 5 per cent gold notes of Arizona Edison Company, a subsidiary of People's Light and Power Corporation and part of the Tri-Utilities Corporation's system, is being made by G. L. Ohrstrom & Co., Inc.; Coffin & Burr, Inc., and Janney & Co.

The Arizona utility supplies electric light and power, manufactured gas, ice and water service for domestic and industrial purposes to various cities and communities in Arizona. Over 53 per cent of the company's gross operating revenue is derived from electric, 18 per cent from water and 16 per cent from gas properties.

For the twelve months ended September 30, last, gross earnings were $1,904,723.46, as against $1,804,-162.85 for the preceding twelve months. Operating expenses, maintenance and taxes other than Federal taxes totaled $1,121,291.58, as against $1,022,734.20. Gross income was $783,431.88, as against $781,-428.65. After annual interest on first mortgage bonds outstanding, there remained a balance of $512,007, which compares with annual interest requirements of $75,000 on the new issue of notes.

GOLD HOLDINGS INCREASE

Importations Continue in October; United States and France Control 60 Per Cent

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19. (AP)—Gold holdings by the United States climbed to $4,530,000,000 during October with that month's increase bringing the total acquisition for the year to $140,000,000.

The Federal Reserve Board in its monthly review of business and financial conditions, however, explained the total holdings of this country still were $150,000,000 under the peak holdings reached in May, 1927.

The United States and France, the board said, controlled approximately 60 per cent of the world's supply of gold, their holdings being the largest held by any two countries since the World War.

Japan and South American countries, however, lost gold, the latter exporting $138,000,000 during ten months of 1930.

MONEY RATES FACTOR

From May, 1927, to June, 1928, the board said, this country lost $580,000,000 of gold, largely as the result of a lower level of money rates than in other parts of the world.

The rise in money rates that started in 1928 reversed the movement and by October, 1929, this country had gained $280,000,000 in gold, most of it from Canada, England, Germany and Argentina, due to foreigners participating in the stock market trading and a decline in volume and prices of raw materials exported. The stock market slump again started an outward movement of gold last October, causing a decrease of $100,000,000 in the monetary gold stock of this country.

JAPAN EXPORTS HEAVY

Since that time, the board said, the gold movement between the United States and Europe has been small but about $225,000,000 came in from Japan, China, Brazil and other Central and South American countries. The return of Japan to the gold standard, decreased exports of silk to the United States and cotton goods to China and India were said to have contributed to weakness for Japanese exchange. In the first ten months of this year gold imports from Japan to the United States amounted to $140,000,000. China also contributed to the gold movement to this country, the drop in the price of silver being an important factor in the movement that sent $22,000,000 in gold from that country to the United States.

The United States through the Treasury and the Federal Reserve banks, holds $4,183,000,000, an increase of $160,000,000; France $1,999,000,000, an increase of $422,-000,000, and England $782,000,000, an increase of $139,000,000. In the year Argentina lost $47,000,000 in gold, Brazil $108,000,000, Germany $12,-000,000 and Japan $123,000,000, while Italy gained $6,000,000.

YULE BONUS SEASON STARTS

Farmers' and Merchants' Banks Vote Usual Present to Employees

To the directors of the Farmers' and Merchants' National Bank of Los Angeles goes the honor of leading off with the first bonus announcement of the Christmas season for bank employees.

Directors yesterday voted to pay the usual Christmas bonus this year of one full month's salary to all employees in the service of the bank for one year or more, and one-half month's salary to employees with service from six months to one year. The distribution will be made December 15.

BOND ISSUE OF VERNON CITY SOLD

Proceeds From Sale of $3,000,000 to Finance Municipal Project

Purchase from the Vernon City Council of $3,000,000 Light and power Works Plant and Distribution System 4 3-4 per cent bonds was announced yesterday by Weeden & Co. and American Securities Company, Pacific Coast investment houses. The proceeds from the sale of the bonds will be used to finance the acquisition and construction of a municipal power distribution system in the city of Vernon.

Of the amount purchased, the investment banking syndicate is offering today $2,314,000 of the bonds, maturing 1940 to 1963 and yielding the investor 4.45 per cent.

Sale of the bonds by the city of Vernon inaugurates an extensive campaign, according to the banking syndicate, to lower power costs to industrial plants operating in Vernon. Interest payments and bond redemptions will be provided from earnings and will not increase the tax rate, now the lowest in California, according to the bankers.

Plans call for the construction of the largest Diesel engine generating plant in the United States and a complete municipally owned distribution system.

Since its incorporation in 1905 Vernon has risen as one of the most important industrial sections on the Pacific Coast. The city reports more than 350 industrial plants engaged in all stages of production and distribution.

Investment Unit Chief Comments on Fixed Trusts

Ross Beason of New York City, chairman of the board of the Administrative and Research Corporation, the originator of Fixed Trust Shares, is in Los Angeles in connection with Corporate Trust Shares, one of the trusts sponsored by the corporation.

Regarding the minimum coupon plan with a reserve fund to stabilize distributions in connection with Fixed Trusts, which was originated by Mr. Beason, he expressed the belief that such provision has increased the marketability of Fixed Trusts in times of market depressions and is making for increased sales in times of relatively low stock prices as at present.

These results are due to the fact that as the stocks drop in price the minimum coupon is returning a higher percentage on the selling price of the Trust Shares and also because the appreciation possibility of the underlying stocks is greater in a time of low prices, according to Mr. Beason. The extent of the deflation in stock quotations since 1929 can be gleaned from the fact that shares of twenty-eight of the leading corporations of America are now selling at a lower price-dividend ratio than the average for the past seventeen years, Mr. Beason said.

COTTON MARKET

NEW YORK, Nov. 19. (AP)—A slightly early decline in cotton at the opening today reflected further liquidation combined with some southern and local selling promoted by relatively easy Liverpool cables.

Offerings were quite readily absorbed by covering or trade buying, however, and the market turned steadier during the afternoon on rebuying by some of the early sellers who were probably influenced by reports of a steadier tone in stocks and wheat. At 2 o'clock new December was ruling around 10.88 and May 11.03, or 4 to 7 points net higher.

PRICE LEVEL DIP CONTINUES

October Decline to 82.6 Per Cent Touches Low Mark of Last Fifteen Years

BY JOHN F. SINCLAIR

NEW YORK, Nov. 19.—The commodity price level is still sinking. That unpleasant fact is shown very clearly in the latest report of the Bureau of Labor statistics, based on the index of 550 representative commodities.

The October decline was 1.9 per cent and has now reached 82.6 per cent, the lowest price level in fifteen years and a decline of 15.7 per cent in the last fifteen months.

When the record for July, August and September held at 84, many hoped that the level had been stabilized. But this drop of nearly 2 per cent during October is disheartening. The decline applies not to one or two lines but to every major group recorded in the index. The following table shows it:

	Sept.	Oct.	Points Change
Farm products	85.3	82.6	—2.7
Foods	89.2	88.6	—.6
Hides and leather	99.1	96.5	—2.6
Textile products	75.5	73.8	—1.7
Fuel and lighting	76.3	75.18	—1.2
Metals	91.8	90.4	—1.4
Building material	86.4	85.8	—.6
Chemicals and drugs	96.6	96.0	—.6
House furnishings	96.5	95.3	—1.2
Miscellaneous	69.7	68.8	—.9

Once again let us repeat—no permanent improvement is possible until the price level becomes stabilized. And the most important job before American business is how can it be done?

Public utility earnings stand out in vivid contrast to those of other types of industry for the first nine months of 1930, compared with the same period of 1929, according to a recent tabulation by Ernst & Ernst, public accountants.

Their figures are these:

For 271 industrials, aggregate profits were 36.28 per cent less.

For 171 railroads, net operating income was 31.51 per cent less.

For 103 telephone companies, operating income (eight months) was 1.68 per cent less.

For 95 other utilities, net earnings (eight months) were 4.40 per cent greater.

For all groups, 640 companies, aggregate profits were 24.42 per cent less.

Mining and smelting companies showed the greatest relative decline, 72.23 per cent; electrical household equipment was next with 63.90 per cent; aeronautics was third with 62.63 per cent; textiles, fourth with 61.76 per cent, and coal mining fifth with a decline of 60.26 per cent.

Three, of the twenty-six industrial groups, which showed profits, were amusement companies, 27.96 per cent, restaurant chains, 5.91 per cent, and beverages and confections, 5.15 per cent.

Of the 271 individual industrial corporations reporting, fifty-seven, or 21 per cent, of the total, show better results, and 214, or 79 per cent, poorer results than for the corresponding period of 1929.

The largest industrial groups, "measured by profit volume," to show a loss, are automobiles, with a decline of 51.98 per cent, iron and steel, with a decline of 45.96 per cent, and oils, with a decline of 33.66 per cent.

These figures are sufficient to show the sweep of the industrial depression, through which the business world is now passing.

BROKERAGE CONCERN IN DIFFICULTY

Receivership Asked for Small House Operating on New York Mart

NEW YORK, Nov. 19. (AP)—An involuntary petition in bankruptcy was filed in Federal District Court today against Bauer, Pogue & Vivian, brokerage firm suspended from the stock exchange. Three petitioning creditors said a total of more than $8000 was due them.

The firm maintained offices at Albany, N. Y., and Knoxville, Tenn. Its principal office is in New York City.

The firm, which was one of the smaller houses in the financial district, held one membership in the stock exchange, that of D. Harry Lake, which was purchased three years ago.

The other partners were Frederick R. Bauer, Robert L. Pond, Leslie L. Vivian, Morgan H. McClement, Vance L. Bushnell, Davenport Pogue and William Henry Jones.

The firm also was suspended from associate membership in the New York Curb Exchange.

Mr. Bauer, senior partner in the firm, has been a director of Bulova Watch Company, Inc., Copeland Products, Inc., Hungarian Discount and Exchange Bank, and Landay Brothers, Inc. A statement by the firm said, "It is believed that with an orderly liquidation, the liabilities of the firm can be met in full."

General Motors Explains Drop in Dealer Sales

NEW YORK, Nov. 19. (AP)—While General Motors Corporation dealers delivered 57,757 cars to customers in the United States during October, sales by manufacturing divisions to dealers in this country amounted to only 22,924 cars, the General Motors Corporation announced today.

The statement said this was due to the advancement of the date for model changes in certain of General Motors car lines as compared with a year ago, and the condition will adjust itself in subsequent months. Deliveries to customers in September totaled 75,805, and in October last year, 114,408. Sales to dealers in September amounted to 69,901, and in October, last, 98,-559.

Total sales to dealers last month, including Canadian sales and overseas shipments, amounted to 28,-253, against 78,892 in September and 122,104 in October, last year.

STOCK MARKET DECLINE HALTS

Substantial Recovery Shown From Late Setback

Price Advances Registered of One to Four Points

Rail Steel Order Prospects Factor in Upturn

NEW YORK, Nov. 19. (AP)—Speculative sentiment took a cheerful turn again today and the stock market completed its recovery from Monday's reaction.

In its present frame of mind Wall street is willing to regard no news as good news. There was little in today's grist of business items that could have an immediately constructive effect, unless it was the report of prospective support for the steel industry from large railroad orders which, however, are not expected before the next quarter. Nevertheless, the market's net gains of 1 to 4 points on a turnover of 2,481,-410 shares indicated the day-to-day traders foresaw profits on the long side. Motor, motor accessory, railroad and utility shares were favored, although representative industrials did well.

SMALL FLURRY

Another stock exchange failure caused only a momentary flurry. The insolvent firm was rather small, but brokerage circles were pleased by the market's disregard of what would doubtless have been the signal for lively selling a few weeks ago. The few stocks identified with the embarrassed firm reacted, notably Bulova Watch, for which the suspended house had done some financing more than a year ago. A statement by the Bulova management said the company was unaffected by the affairs of the brokerage house, having received full payment for the offering of stock.

Estimates railroad orders for 50,-000 freight cars would mean contracts totaling 700,000 tons for the steel industry, and a belief producers would soon announce a price stand on sheets and strips featured the midweek steel trade reviews. These favorable prospects offset the Iron Age report operations had been shaded 1 per cent in the past week, for prices appear to be more important than output at this stage of the depression.

AUTO GROUP UP

Strength of the automotive and allied groups seemed predicated on recent signs of expanded activity among the motor car producers. Some plants have recalled idle workmen, new models are being advanced and the statistical position of the industry is concededly favorable.

United States Steel, Bethlehem Steel, General Electric, Westinghouse, Du Pont, American Can and Johns-Manville closed 1 to 2 higher, while in the rails there were net advances of 1 to nearly 4 in New York Central, Baltimore and Ohio, Pennsylvania, Southern Pacific and Atchison. American Telephone, American and Foreign Power, Consolidated Gas, North American,

Stock Market Extends Strengthening Move With Utilities Featuring Gains

Public utilites held the spotlight on yesterday's session of the Los Angeles Stock Exchange and led a general improvement for the list as a whole on a moderate activity. Transamerica, which featured the two preceding sessions, traded in a quieter manner and remained strong throughout the day to show a fractional gain at the close.

Southern California Edison advanced more than 1½ points to reach a new high for the current recovery movement at 49. Final sales were at 48 5-8, representing a net gain of 1 1-8 points. Pacific Lighting, which has not been traded on this board for a few days, transferred at 61 to show an advance of 4 1-4 points. Pacific Gas and Electric ran up 2 3-8 to 49 and Pacific Public Service firmed up 7-8 to 24 1-8.

Selling operations were not in evidence to any marked degree at any time during the session with the result that the moderate demand easily brought about a general strengthening of the market's price structure. The majority of final prices were the highest for the session.

Oils were particularly favored. Union advanced ½ to 27 5-8, Union Associates, 1-4 to 26 1-8; Standard of California, 5-8 to 51 1-4; Richfield, 1-4 to 6½, and Rio Grande, 1-8 to 9½. Richfield preferred added 3-4 to end at 13 1-4, and Bolsa Chica firmed fractionally. Macmillan held to 5.

More than 6000 shares of Transamerica crossed the board as against approximately 20,000 in each of the two preceding sessions, indicating a possible cessation of hostilities on the part of the bear crowd. The stock held all day within a range of ½ and after touching a top at 15 5-8 closed at 15 3-8, up 1-4 net. Security-First National hit 92 and ended at 91½ for a net gain of ½. Seaboard National held to 40 and no other banks were traded.

Taylor Milling, on the transfer of 400 shares attracted interest with an advance of 2 1-4 points to 26 1-4.

NEW YORK BOND PRICES

NEW YORK, Nov. 19. (AP)—Foreign obligations in the listed bond market softened today, while domestics improved a shade under the influence of a rally in the share market. The strong demand for high-grade investment bonds maintained the buoyant tone of United States governments.

Gains and losses among rails were about evenly divided and changes were wider than in recent sessions. Convertibles and industrials were considerably improved and more interest was displayed by buyers in utilities which registered small gains.

The tone of foreign loans was heavy, with active issues in the Latin-American and European groups reacting sharply.

Baltimore and Ohio issues were lower, with the 5s at a new year's low on a 1½-point decline. Central Pacific Shore Line 4s were firm.

Pacific Telephone 5s were in demand. Postal Telegraph 5s sagged 2 points to a new year's minimum.

The closing price is omitted when same as the low and both low and close when same as the high.

NEW YORK CURB STOCKS

NEW YORK, Nov. 19. (AP)—Curb market shares made further headway in quiet trading today. The day's advance, together with the moderate upturns of the previous session, about cancelled Monday's losses. Transactions totaled 575,700 shares, 63,300 more than yesterday.

Electric Bond and Share was traded in large volume, gaining more than 2 points. After the close its earnings statement and balance sheet for the period ending October 31 appeared, showing earnings of $2.44 a share, against $2.46 a share on a slightly smaller number of shares for the twelve months ended June 30.

American Gas and Electric sold up 3 points, and gains of a point or so were recorded by American Superpower, United Light A and Utilities Power and Light. Natural gas stocks also improved. Oils were steady to firm, although the weekly statistics showed another substantial increase in gasoline stocks on hand. Gulf and Vacuum gained about 2 and Cities Service rose ½.

The industrials gave the best account of themselves in several days, although trading remained unht. Bulova Watch preferred sold down to 20, and closed at 25, off 5¾. This reflected announcement of insolvency of Bauer, Pogue, Pond and Vivian, an investment house which headed the syndicate offering that issue nearly two years ago, although the company announced it was in no way affected, and its operations compare favorably with those of last year.

The closing price is omitted when same as the low and both low and close when same as the high.

MARINE BUREAU PLANS FAVORED

Campaign for Better Federal Facilities Progresses

Representatives Evans and Crail Promise Aid

Hope Expressed of Approval by Short Session

Aid from Representatives Evans and Crail yesterday was reported promised the local Marine Service Bureau, which seeks increased immigration and public health personnel and facilities at Los Angeles-Long Beach Harbor.

Support also was expressed in a resolution passed yesterday by directors of the San Pedro Chamber of Commerce and the proposal will come before directors of Los Angeles and Long Beach chambers today, and before the Wilmington chamber tomorrow.

Capt. H. H. Birkholm, chairman of the bureau committee, said it is hoped to obtain provision in the federal budget for such increases. That budget, for the fiscal year 1931-32, is to come before the approaching short session of Congress. Certain items need sanction from the Treasury Department, others from the Department of Labor. The two Representatives are expected to advance the project at Washington, as will Capt. W. J. Peterson, head of all marine service bureaus on the Pacific Coast.

In addition to more personnel, the request is for more funds for a quarantine station, appropriations for an immigration station and for a marine hospital.

WILD TEXAS HORSES TO ROAM CATALINA

Twenty-seven wild Palomino horses from Texas will be barged from Wilmington to Catalina Islands today, where Phillip K. Wrigley plans to release them to their own devices. They have yellow bodies and white manes and tails, and are similar to Spanish Barbs, ranging Northern Africa.

Capt. Frank C. Pennoyer, mate on the Wrigley liner Avalon, returned with his bride, nee Miss Marion Balch, from Yuma, Ariz., where they were married the 13th inst. She was an accountant with the Pacific Gas and Electric Company, San Pedro. They will reside at 3915 South Pacific avenue, San Pedro.

On the recommendation of Port Manager Edwards, the Harbor Commission yesterday accepted the Marine Fire Underwriters' offer of new three-year rates of 75 cents per $100 valuation for fire insurance on the port's piers, sheds and other terminal facilities.

The present rates being 87 cents per $100, the new rates will save the Harbor Department $9600 on the $4,000,000 policy. The underwriters stipulate, however, that the Harbor Department must build eight fire-walls under the Pier A docks at Wilmington.

Capt. Chester W. Gilbert will bring Panama Mail Line's intercoastal steamer El Salvador in from New York this morning via Canal and Central American ports, with eighty passengers and 3000 tons of freight. Among her passengers are Col. Charles P. O'Connor of Philadelphia; Miss Marguerite McKibben, prominent socially here; and Dr. William Simmons, Brooklyn surgeon.

As a measure to prevent vessels loading oil cargoes taking advantage of the half-pilotage fee provided for ships calling for bunkers only, Assistant Attorney Harris yesterday proposed that all vessels loading bunkers in excess of 25,000 barrels be required to pay full pilotage rates. The plan was turned over to Port Manager Edwards for decision.

Bomb Target Hurls It Out

EMMETT (Idaho) Nov. 19. (AP)—The prompt action of Frank Buckland, a working man, in hurling a home-made bomb he found in his kitchen through a window to the ground outside, where it exploded, probably saved his life.

The bomb apparently had been shoved through a slit in a window screen into the kitchen.

Buckland told officers that when he entered his home shortly before midnight last night he found it full of smoke. He dashed into the kitchen, where he saw on the floor a package wrapped in burlap from which the smoke flowed.

He hurled it out of the window and it exploded within a few seconds.

Officers are without a clew to the perpetrator of the bombing.

WASHINGTON CALLS IMMIGRATION MEN

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 19. (AP)—John D. Nagle, commissioner of immigration here, has been summoned to Washington for a Department of Labor conference, presumably in connection with the unemployment situation. Mr. Nagle said when immigration quotas were reduced it was thought the staff of inspectors here might be cut down, but there is more work than ever. He said there are not enough to round up and deport all the aliens here illegally. There are hundreds of such aliens in California, he said.

Teapot Dome Oil Drainage Now Denied

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19. (AP)—One of the big points of controversy in the celebrated Teapot Dome naval oil reserve scandal, whether the reserve could be drained by near-by fields, has been settled, in the opinion of Senator Walsh, Democrat, Montana, who prosecuted the inquiry.

It was the contention of Albert B. Fall, former Secretary of Interior, that one of his reasons for leasing the reserve to Harry F. Sinclair and others was to prevent its drainage by the near-by Salt Creek fields in Wyoming.

Herman Stabler, chief engineer of the conservation branch of the Geological Survey, now reports that there has been virtually no drainage from the Teapot Dome reserve, although production has continued in the Salt Creek oil fields.

THE PLIGHT OF LOS ANGELES

IN THE war of law and order against crooks and crime, Los Angeles is up against it.

The city is facing the worst winter season in its history, from the standpoint of criminal activities, with a demoralized police department, hamstrung and helpless under a system which has taken expert police work from the hands of seasoned veterans and put it in those of bungling amateurs.

Gangland, which makes it its business to know the weak spots in the defensive armor of every wealthy community, has not been slow to take advantage of the situation. With business depression, unemployment and the growing power of organized criminality added to the normal menace of seasonal crook-influx into this city, that situation would be serious enough at best. With a harassed police force functioning at something like 25 per cent efficiency and with courts and lawyers stretching loopholes of the law for the aid and comfort of the few criminals who are apprehended, it is little short of appalling. The situation is not a matter for argument; our soaring crime statistics speak for themselves.

There are three major reasons, apart from insufficiency of men and equipment, why the Los Angeles police department is not giving the city the protection to which it is entitled at a time when, of all times, it should be at the peak of performance.

Most important of these is the fact that the Chief of Police and his immediate subordinates are not allowed the executive control and direction of the department which is the first essential to efficient work in a body organized on military lines. The Police Commission has shorn the Chief of even such elementary powers as that of promotion and demotion of his rank and file—a power, incidentally, specifically conferred upon him by the City Charter. He is permitted no initiative of his own even in many routine police duties. He is allowed no disciplinary powers over his men and the Police Commission has repeatedly evidenced more confidence in the word of crooks and spies than in that of its own sworn officers of the law.

Such a situation would be bad enough were the members of the Police Commission themselves qualified experts in police work—which they are not. They are ordinary citizens with no experience and no training in the highly technical business of policing a great city. Their lack of even ordinary good judgment is self-demonstrated by their arrogation to themselves of functions taken over from expert crime-fighters with years of practical training in their jobs.

The police are further handicapped by being made the objects of constant espionage by three separate squads of City Hall "investigators," encouraged by the Police Commission to report to them any member of the police force seen in any dive, gambling joint or other known haunt of criminals. Officers legitimately in search of lawbreakers or of information leading to their detection are liable to trial and dismissal merely for observing the universally recognized police principle of looking for criminals where the criminals are. Rather than lose their jobs they have discontinued the practice, and with it have lost one of their chief weapons of offense against crime. In characteristically hesitant fashion, Mayor Porter advised the Police Commission on Tuesday that the spy system should be discontinued. Even though made under the pressure of late revelations of our staggering crime records, the advice is excellent. If it is acted on in good faith a long step will be taken toward restoring the morale and efficiency of the police. If at the same time the commission will return to police executives the authority—and the responsibility—of running the department without needless interference, the crime charts will shortly have a different story to tell.

The third major handicap to effective war upon the enemies of society is the frequent lack of co-operation by the courts. The most effective way to make a city too hot to hold known crooks against whom no specific charge of crime can be made is to jail them as vagrants without visible means of support—and to keep on jailing them until they leave for more hospitable pastures. The police attempted this in the recent case of a group of known Chicago gangsters, only to see them promptly turned loose by a Municipal Court judge who insisted on giving them a jury trial! On another recent occasion an armed bandit with a long criminal record held up two Los Angeles banks, pleaded guilty to both jobs and was given, not the limit of the law, but ten years probation, one of which he is required to spend in the Los Angeles County Jail! These are but two examples out of many.

Under such circumstances it is scarcely to be wondered at that violent crime is now at its record peak in local history and rapidly is overtaking the highest marks set by cities twice and thrice our size. It is not remarkable that, figuratively thumbing their noses at the forces of law and order, criminals are looting the city at the rate of $500,000 a month. The surprise is that it is no worse.

Not the least undesirable phase of the situation is that it already has been seized upon by ambitious politicians as a means whereby to further their own personal interests. A plan is reported already well under way to recall Mayor Porter for the purpose of placing in the Mayor's chair a man of even less experience, ability and force of character.

The Times holds no brief for Mayor Porter. It has had reason to criticise him more than once and probably will have others. There are many local citizens who would serve the city better in the chief executive's seat if they were available. But the back room of professional politicians is no place to look for them nor is a mud-slinging recall campaign a prospect calculated to induce them to serve.

The situation is too serious to be made a field for the playing of ward politics. The recall is too devious and uncertain a device to be intrusted with the city's welfare. The Times takes this occasion to serve notice that it will be no party to any scheme to capitalize the city's plight for the political benefit of anybody.

At frequent intervals for the past two years The Times has predicted precisely the condition which has now come to pass and has pointed out the mistakes of policy which were making it inevitable. Those mistakes are now more plain and obvious than ever. It is not too late to correct them with the means immediately at hand and to restore the city to the way of peace and safety.

PADDOCK TO WED FRIEND OF BOYHOOD

Ex-World Champion in Sprints and Daughter of Publisher Will Marry

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

PASADENA, Nov. 19.—Climaxing a childhood friendship, the marriage of Charles W. Paddock, famous in athletics as a sprinter, to Neva Prisk Malaby, daughter of Charles H. Prisk, Pasadena Star-News publisher, will be solemnized December 11, Mr. and Mrs. Prisk announced today. Although Paddock and Mrs. Malaby have been engaged for more than six months, announcements of the engagement and wedding date were made simultaneously.

CHARLIE PADDOCK

For more than two months the Olympic sprint champion succeeded in concealing the fact that he is constructing a beautiful home for his bride at 985 Linda Vista avenue.

Dr. Robert Freeman, pastor of Pasadena Presbyterian Church, will officiate at the wedding, which will be held at the Prisk residence, 1424 Hillcrest avenue.

Paddock has been writing for magazines and newspapers and lecturing on athletics since retiring from active competition. In recent years, he has written daily sport features for the paper published by his future father-in-law.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Paddock of 746 South Madison avenue, his father being a member of the Board of City Directors. The retired sprint king's marriage will not affect his plan to complete his law course at the University of Southern California, where, as an undergraduate, he established world records on the cinder path.

Two years ago, Mrs. Malaby obtained a divorce from Z. T. Malaby, Jr., son of Dr. Z. T. Malaby, local physician. She is 26 years of age and Paddock is 30.

The bride-to-be was graduated from the Orton School in this city, after which she traveled in Europe and South America.

The Prisk and Paddock families have been close friends for many years, the boy who was destined to be known as "the world's fastest human," having run childhood races with the little girl who later was to become his bride.

OFFICE-SEEKING COSTS TOTALED

Candidates File Expense Accounts Here

Lieut.-Gov. Merriam Reports $263 Expenditure

Aspirants for Sheriff Spent Most Liberally

Only $263.54 was spent by Frank F. Merriam on his successful campaign for election as Lieutenant-Governor, it was disclosed yesterday when he filed his statement of his campaign expenditures in the office of County Recorder Logan. His expenses were even less than those of his Socialist opponent, Chaim Shapiro, whose campaign cost $373.80, but who received only 33,000 votes against Merriam's 850,000.

Yesterday was the final day for all candidates at the recent general election to file their official statements of campaign expenses. Candidates for county offices filed their statements with Registrar of Votes Kerr and aspirants for State or national offices who live in this county filed with the County Recorder.

SHRIEVALTY HIGH

The contest which proved the most expensive to the nominees, according to their statements, was that between William I. Traeger and Clyde I. Plummer. The defeated candidate, Plummer, said his expenses were $2271.74, which was slightly more than the amount reported by Traeger, who said his re-election cost $2235.78.

Although the races for two posts on the Board of Supervisors were hotly contested the highest expense statement turned in by the four candidates was $867.85. That was the cost of J. Don Mahaffey's campaign. Albert N. Chamness spent $472, Sidney T. Graves $335 and Hugh A. Thatcher $172.73.

Besides Merriam and Shapiro the only other candidates for State offices residing in the county are Milton K. Young and Upton Sinclair, respectively Democratic and Socialist candidates for Governor. Sinclair's statement put his expenses at $953, while Young's was turned in too late in the day for the Recorder to index it and make it public before today.

JUDGES UNIFORM

Expenditures of candidates for Superior Court judgeships showed a surprising uniformity, almost all of them reporting their expenses as between $800 and $900, with the highest being $896.07, reported by Hartley Shaw. Arthur Keetch was a striking exception, however, with a report of only $153.85 spent.

Expenditures reported by the other Superior Court candidates were: Carlos S. Hardy, $763.49; Raymond I. Turney, $524.75; Edward T. Bishop, $891.68; Hugh J. Crawford, $893.55; Dudley S. Valentine, $449.65; J. Walter Hanby, $865.09; Dailey S. Stafford, $863.78; William Hazlett, $534.97; Caryl M. Sheldon, $889.40; Ida May Adams, $803.56; Charles P. Reiche, $874.24, and Walter B. Thompson, $892.67.

Several candidates for justice of the peace in various localities reported sums approximating those spent by the aspirants to the higher bench, among them being Harry W. Chase of Glendale with $837.50; H. E. Billings of Beverly Hills, $781.30, and Cecil D. Holland, Beverly Hills, $796.36.

LOS ANGELES WOMAN DIES IN COLLISION

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

LONG BEACH, Nov. 19.—A woman believed to be Lillian Agnes Kohlmeier, 31 years of age, of 231 West Eighty-fourth street, Los Angeles, was killed in a head-on collision of automobiles at Thirty-sixth street and Long Beach Boulevard this afternoon. Identity was established by means of her operator's license found in her purse. The car was registered to Mrs. Agnes Ackerman, 9015 South Hoover street, Los Angeles.

The crash demolished the machine. The other car was driven by G. M. Small of 912 American avenue, Long Beach.

STREET NAME CHANGED

The name of Moneta avenue between Broadway and Thirty-fifth street was changed to Broadway Place by ordinance adopted yesterday by the City Council.

Pitchmen, those snappy gentlemen who sell you fountain pens, safety razors, hair oil and silver polish on the street corners, and at fairs, are all on the lam toward Los Angeles today.

High pitchmen from all over America, have dropped their biz and their dignity as purveyors to the public. Those who can't, square-shooters on the up and up, are piping in their "love and kisses" from all over America to their pals who are here.

All the excitement is over the annual convention of the pitchmen's organization, the National Pitchmen's and Salesmen's Protective Association, which opened here yesterday at the headquarters of Los Angeles Lodge, No. 1, 427 South Main street, where 107 delegates from all parts of America registered. Twenty-four are accompanied by their wives.

Present at the gathering are some of the oldest and most brilliant members of the profession. In our midst for the big doings are Dad Bold and A. D. Pattee. Bold is 84 years of age, and still active. He sold America corn remedies when America was more corn conscious than at the present time. He has sold Mister Public and his wife electric belts for their liver and electric lamps for their living-rooms. Pattee knows his America. He has seen it first—every nook of it in his more than fifty years as a pitchman. He, too, is past 80 years of age.

Doc Lonsdale, a noted "med" man, is here, too. Lonsdale in his career as a doctor has gazed down the gullets of half of America as they have crowded about his flaring gasoline lamps in 10,000 cities and hamlets of the United States.

ACTRESS PUT UNDER KNIFE AFTER INJURY

Louise Dresser

A minor injury she received a number of weeks ago sent Louise Dresser, motion-picture actress, to the hospital for a serious operation, it was learned yesterday. Miss Dresser, for many years well known to the cinema, is a patient at the Physicians' and Surgeons' Hospital, Glendale, under care of Dr. H. R. Boyer.

While she was on location with Will Rogers several weeks ago at Lake Tahoe, Miss Dresser stumbled and fell. She suffered a bad bruise on her leg at the time.

According to information obtained at the Fox studio yesterday, the bruise developed into an abscess. She is rapidly gaining following the operation and is expected to be able to return to her home within a short time.

PETITIONS IN RECALL ROW FOUND VALID

Sufficient Names Checked to Justify Election to Oust Councilman Holland

The recall petition filed against Councilman Holland of the Fourteenth District was found to contain sufficient valid signatures of voters, City Clerk Dominguez stated late yesterday. The check made by Dominguez with representatives of both sides present showed 3840 valid signatures and 177 invalid. To bring about a recall election in that district, 3763 are required.

Dominguez will report his check to the Council Monday, and recommend that the election be called for January 20. Nominating petitions must be filed at least twenty-five days prior to the election. The cost will be between $5000 and $6000.

"I very much regret," said Holland, "that the people of the district force the city to expend this sum for the special election when the regular election is but a few months later."

CANFIELD FIGHTS FEE OF ATTORNEY

Charles O. Canfield, oil operator, has sued Attorney Joe Musgrove to prevent him from levying to collect a $38,200 judgment for counsel fees, asserted to have been taken by Attorney Musgrove while Canfield was confined to his bed with an illness. Canfield asserts that if he had been able to attend to the lawsuit, a judgment against him would not have been rendered by the court.

TARIFF FOES HIT BY SHORTRIDGE

Senator Warns of Effort to Reduce Some Duties

California's Products Said to Be Jeopardized

Six Major Aims Set Up for Congress Session

Protection afforded California products by the new tariff bill is threatened by attempts of foreign interests to have duties lowered on a number of commodities under authority of the flexible provision of the measure, Senator Shortridge declared yesterday, following his arrival on his way to Washington to attend the approaching short session of Congress.

Californians must exercise constant vigilance to frustrate any such attempts, the Senator declared, reciting one instance in which Italian cherry exporting interests have endeavored to bring about a reduction in the duty on maraschino cherries. California's dairy industry, poultry, fruit and other activities all are liberally protected, he said, and any reduction in the duties seriously injure this State.

SIX OBJECTIVES

At the Alexandria, where he will be a guest until the week-end, Senator Shortridge outlined a program marked by six major objectives. The Senator declared that he will oppose an extra session of Congress, urge the use of war-debt payments for current Federal expenses, press for the passage of appropriations for harbor improvements, support appropriations for new Federal buildings and postoffices, fight for maintenance of the protective tariff and favor restriction of Filipino immigration.

"It is not necessary to hold an extra session of Congress," the Senator declared, asserting that all appropriation bills can be passed at the short session and that an extra session would promote unwelcome political agitation.

With the use for current Federal expenses of payments being made to this country by European powers, it will not be necessary to increase the income tax, the Senator said. He pointed out that the payments have been used to reduce the national debt, but he continued that the debt is no longer a pressing matter.

HARBOR WORK URGED

Harbor improvement appropriations should be passed and construction started immediately, Senator Shortridge said. He declared the improvements are vitally necessary and that the program will provide work for many laborers.

The Senator said that under the present law applying to Federal buildings and postoffices, cities with less than $7500 annual postal receipts are unable to obtain Federally owned postoffice buildings. He will introducee a measure, he said, to reduce the $7500 figure to between $2500 and $3000.

Today Senator Shortridge will be a guest of the Foothill Breakfast Club at Arcadia. Tomorrow he will visit Long Beach. He also expects to journey to San Diego and the Imperial Valley, whence he will depart for the East.

Senator Shortridge declared that Democratic hopes, buoyed up by the recent election returns, are destined to be crushed under a tremendous Republican majority in 1932. The pendulum will swing back to Republicanism, the Senator asserted, saying that President Hoover will be re-elected. California will give him 1,000,000 votes over his opponent, he said.

JOHN HAGEN FUNERAL SERVICE TO BE TODAY

Funeral services will be conducted at 2 p.m. today for John R. Hagen, 74 years of age, a resident of Los Angeles for forty-three years, who died of heart disease Monday. He was staying at 1016 North Bonnie Brae street. Mr. Hagen was a salesman but retired about ten years ago. He was a native of Pennsylvania. He leaves a son, John R. Hagen, Jr. The service will be conducted in Bresee Brothers' mortuary and the body will be placed in Forest Lawn Mausoleum.

EDISON VOTES HUGE BUDGET

Outlay for Next Year Will Exceed $28,000,000; Most of Money to Go for New Construction

With the approval of a construction budget in excess of $28,000,000, the board of directors of Southern California Edison Company, Ltd., has indicated the scope of work to be undertaken next year. This budget, according to R. H. Ballard, president, is one of the largest in the company's history.

More than $25,200,000 of the appropriation will be used for new construction, the remaining $2,962,000 being allocated for reinforcements and extraordinary maintenance.

"These expenditures, which will average two and one-third million dollars a month throughout the year 1931, are predicated on our belief in the early resumption of normal activities in this territory, which will result in an increase electric output of between 7 and 10 per cent," Mr. Ballard said.

One of the largest items in the budget will provide for the installation of another giant turbine in the Edison steam plant at Long Beach. This will have a capacity of 135,000 horsepower and, together with facilities for providing a fuel supply, will call for an expenditure of $8,620,000.

For the completion next year of the new Edison building at Fifth street and Grand avenue, $1,295,000 will be provided by the new budget. This building, which is to be ready for occupancy in the spring of 1931, is one of the most modern structures in America.

For extension and improvement of the electrical distribution system, the new budget provides $15,270,000, which will be used for the construction of new lines, the building of new substations and general expenditures throughout the Edison system.

"Employees of the Edison company now number 5100, this being practically the normal quota since the completion of our water-power project at Big Creek in Fresno county," Mr. Ballard said. "The expenditures as contemplated in this budget assure continuous employment to this number of people throughout 1931.

"We anticipate new business amounting to 350,000 horsepower next year," Mr. Ballard added. "This will be composed of new industrial, agricultural and domestic load, both from present consumers as well as 27,000 new consumers in Los Angeles and throughout Southern California, who will apply for

The Lancer

AIMEE has changed her name so many times during her travels that she must feel like a city directory.

Like Col. Lindbergh and Gene Tunney, she has discovered that the reporters, like the poor, are always with us. When she wants them, they are hovering around; but when she doesn't want them they are also hovering around.

WEDDING-RING RACKET

The first time a sad-looking man asks you to lend him a dollar on his wife's wedding ring swat him and holler for the police.

The wedding-ring racket is the funniest that has struck Los Angeles this winter. A big jewelry firm in the East manufactures fake wedding rings made of brass. They sell to the trade for 17 cents and are retailed at 50 cents. They are "props" for racketeers.

Inside each ring is the worn inscription, "J to L." And something very dim that looks as though it said 12-K. But really doesn't, thus staying outside the law.

"ALL I HAVE LEFT"

Gas stations and garages are the regular suckers for this graft.

The shabby man stops in front of a garage, walks up and down in evident mental torment. Finally he says that his wife is sick in San Diego and offers her wedding ring ("the last thing I have left in the world") for enough gas to fill the car. He always gets the gas and an average touch of $5.

One grafter who arrived in Los Angeles penniless a month ago has already bought himself a new car and has a bank account of $800. Something like 6000 "J to L" rings have been sold in Southern California since the first of the year.

OROZCO'S PAINTING

The wisest remark that has been made about this much-debated mural painting by Orozco at Pomona College comes from a student who was showing it to the visiting folks the day I was there.

It is a weird, stark, striking work of art. Critics say it is wonderful, and most of the rough trade think it is crazy—a giant figure of a naked man writhing in agony, with little pallid, leprous figures uplifting their hands to him.

"No," said the student, "I don't know what the artist meant; but is it necessary that I should know what he meant—as long as I know what it means to me?"

CHARLIE CAME THIRD

Konrad Bercovici tells a delightful story about Charlie Chaplin in the current number of one of the magazines. It seems that Charles slipped away to San Francisco incog and entered an "amateur Charles Chaplin" contest. The best he could get was third prize.

A DIRTY SCANDAL

That criminal gangsters have been allowed to conceal their sources of income in paying taxes to the Federal government is shocking and scandalous. But not as scandalous as that the attorney for the United States government should have blocked the efforts made in a Chicago court last Tuesday to find out if these instructions had been sent from Washington. I wonder what punishment the government would inflict on any decent person who should refuse to divulge the sources of his income.

PUT HIM BACK

In this crisis Mayor Porter ought to fire that fool Police Commission; put back our fighting Chief Davis and let him alone. Playing politics with the lives of citizens comes high.

BANDIT RANKS JOINED BY GIRL

Woman in Fur Coat Gets Pedestrian's Cash

Robbery Total Twice That of Last Month

Fifteen Burglaries Take Place Over Night

Women and girls are now numbered among the scores of bandits who have been taking a record-breaking toll from citizens under the present administration of the police department.

Dressed in a luxurious fur coat, hat and shoes of the latest expensive fashion, and flourishing a small automatic pistol with no trace of nervousness, a dark-eyed young woman whom the victim described as exceptionally beautiful, held up S. Ball of 926½ West Ninth street, and robbed him of $2 and a quantity of personal papers near Seventh and Bixel streets shortly after midnight Tuesday. She perpetrated the robbery without help and made her escape in a coupe in the same fearless manner.

ESCAPES IN CAR

Ball told police he had just alighted from a street car and was walking toward his home when the woman stepped in front of him and thrust the muzzle of the automatic against his side.

"All right, Daddy, let's have what you've got," she demanded coolly, "and no monkey business. The safety catch is off this gun and I might get nervous."

She thrust her victim's valuables into a coat pocket, ordered him to turn around and walk away, and then stepped into a coupe and drove off. Ball described her as about 18 years of age, slender, with large brown eyes and black hair, and dressed in expensive clothes.

Four other robberies were reported to police late Tuesday night, swelling the total so far this month to 184, more than double the number during the same period last month.

J. E. Bell of 1929 Bellevue street, Glendale, lost a diamond ring valued at $880 to two bandits who held him up at 324 West Seventeenth street shortly after he had left the Olympic Auditorium.

BURGLARIES MOUNT

Frank Takahashi and his wife were locked in a rear room of their grocery at 4490 West Adams street by two bandits after they had robbed them of $80, according to another report.

A third pair of bandits, operating in an automobile, held up E. N. Wilson in the Regent Drug Store at Hoover street and Twenty-fifth Place and obtained $40.

Mrs. Nell Coover of 605 South Kenmore reported she was held up by a lone bandit at Sixth and Hoover streets and robbed of her purse, containing $2.

Fifteen burglaries Tuesday night and early yesterday morning increased the total for this month to 356, an increase of eighty-one as compared with 275 for the same time last month.

WIFE FORGETS WEDDING DATE

Uncertain on Separation as Well, But Court Grants Divorce

One wife seeking a divorce yesterday admitted she couldn't remember the dates of her wedding or separation.

"Do you mean to say those events were so unimportant that you can't remember the dates?" exclaimed Superior Judge Burnell.

"It was all so long ago it has slipped my mind," explained Mrs. Grace Mapes, who was asking a divorce from Ellsworth E. Mapes. She owns a lingerie shop, and he is a bus conductor. The wife complained that once the company suspended him for "deadheading" women passengers who conversed with him.

Judge Burnell granted her a divorce.

YOUTH WILL TAKE PART IN STOCK SHOW

Thousand Members of Farm Organization Will Be Here for Exhibition

Delegates from two juvenile farm organizations numbering more than 1000 will be visitors at the fifth annual Christmas Live-Stock Show and Rodeo here from the 29th inst. to December 6, it was announced yesterday by J. A. McNaughton, executive director of the show.

The boys and girls, among whom are many exhibitors, are members of the Future Farmers, an organization composed of high school students interested in vocational agriculture, and of the Four H Club, a State-wide organization comprised of farm boys and girls, under the direction of officials of the University of California agricultural extension division.

Boys and girls from every section of California are competing in an oratorical contest on farm and live-stock subjects.

The State has been divided into six districts, and the elimination contests now are being held. The six winners will have their expenses paid to the show, where they will compete for cash prizes.

Los Angeles county will have entrants in the finals, as there are four high schools in the county in which there are agricultural and live-stock courses given.

It is planned to broadcast the finals of the contest.

Heads of agricultural vocational departments in the various State educational organizations will select the State winners.

Howard Miller, assistant in the agricultural department of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce, is in charge of the contest.

ADVENTURER PLANS AIR TOUR

Halliburton to Have Los Angeles Pilot

Pair to Travel New Roads to Romance

Moye Stephens, Jr., flyer, will accompany Richard Halliburton (right) on next trip in world's far places, according to announcement made at Breakfast Club.

RICHARD HALLIBURTON intends to leave Los Angeles soon for two years of adventuring in out-of-the-way places of the world, he told members of the Breakfast Club yesterday morning. On his new roads to romance he will use the modern magic carpet, an airplane, with a Los Angeles boy, Moye Stephens, Jr., as his pilot. Stephens has been flying since he was 16 years of age and used to fly back and forth to Palo Alto while he was a student at Stanford.

The pair will fly to New York within a few days, ship their plane to Morocco, and spend this winter with the French Foreign Legion, Halliburton announced. From the African west coast they will travel to Timbuctoo, Mecca, the Holy Land, Persia, Russia, make a flight around Mt. Everest and the Himalayas with a landing in Lhasa the Forbidden. They intend to visit India and Singapore, where pontoons will be fitted for a cross-seas flight to Borneo and the South Seas. Thence they will proceed to Japan, Kamchatka, the Aleutians and down the Alaska coast home.

Charles Gilman Norris, famed novelist; Marshal Hale, Jr., San Francisco merchant, who this week entered Hollywood; Dr. Edward E. Pratt, economist, and a large group of executives of the Disabled Veterans of the World War were among the guests.

Traeger Dinner Called Off by Republican Club

The inability of Sheriff Traeger to be present has necessitated the canceling of the victory dinner that was to have been given in his honor at the Biltmore this evening.

Fred Frank, secretary of the Golden Bear Republican Club, yesterday made announcement to this effect. Hundreds of persons had reserved places at the dinner. Traeger called Charles W. Ostrom, president of the club by telephone last Tuesday and told him he would not be able to attend, Secretary Frank stated. Immediate steps were taken to notify those who had made reservations of the cancellation.

FINANCE CLASS POPULAR

The unsettled condition of the stock market is believed to be partly responsible for interest displayed in an extension class on the stock market, meeting in the Hillstreet Building on Thursday evenings under the auspices of the extension division of the University of California. The class is in charge of W. D. Seay, who is also conducting a class on investments which meets on Tuesday evenings.

in regard to prohibitive licenses will be discussed by this largest gang-up of pitchmen the world has ever seen, according to R. C. Green, secretary.

Also the ways and habits of the elusive hot dog will be made a subject of investigation by some of the high powers present, as will the nature and reactions of the hamburger when placed between a bun, together with onions.

According to J. Alpert of the supreme lodge committee, the aim of the convention is to "show the world that the pitchmen of America are a business-like body of traveling direct salesmen and not a bunch of fakers as we are so often represented to be by the envious small-town business man."

Dr. J. Stanley Howard of Sunland, has been elected chairman of the convention and George Silver of Los Angeles, vice-chairman.

Specialty manufacturers have a large exhibition of pitchmen wares on exhibition at the convention hall.

"New capital required for this extensive program will be provided through the sale of bonds and both preferred and common stocks. Following its general financial policy, the company plans to provide at least 20 per cent of the new capital requirements through the sale of common stock, the remainder being about equally divided between bonds and preferred stock."

Camera Snaps Girl in Leap From Glider

While Teddy Hall, 20-year-old flyer and thrill-seeker, was calmly stepping from a glider into space 4500 feet above Glendale recently and plunging 1000 feet before her parachute opened, a Times-Universal newsreel photographer was as calmly recording the event.

This and other episodes of interest the world over are shown pictorially and described by Graham McNamee in the current number of The Times-Universal newsreel in leading Southern California theaters.

Anyone desiring additional information concerning the showing can get it by calling REpublic 3171 and asking about Newsreel No. 92.

The Board of Public Works yesterday suggested to the City Council that the name of Reid street be changed to Menlo avenue, as the thoroughfare is a continuation of the latter. The recommendation was referred to the City Planning Committee.

YOUTH FOILED IN JAIL BREAK

Asserted Fairbanks Robber Leaps From Window

After Running Over Roofs He Enters Hotel Room

Chase on Broadway Ends in Policeman's Arms

Leaping six feet across an alley way from a fourth-story window in the City Jail to the roof of an adjacent building, Ronald Brian, 20 years of age, one of two youths who confessed, according to police, to the hold-up and robbery of Douglas Fairbanks in Santa Monica a month ago, made a desperate but unsuccessful effort to escape shortly before noon yesterday.

Brian had been taken to the identification room on the fourth floor of the City Jail. After his photograph and fingerprints were taken by Officer L. C. Davis, he was told to cleanse his fingers of ink in a small wash room. The window in the wash room was partly open. Quickly grasping the opportunity Brian slammed the washroom door behind him, climbed to the window sill and then leaped across the alley way. In landing on the roof of the adjacent building he twisted his left ankle badly.

SEIZES OVERCOAT

While a hue and cry was being raised behind him he jumped to the roof of a hotel near the corner of Broadway, slipped through a skylight and made his way to the room of D. Bacheolirie where he grabbed up an overcoat. Bacheolirie attempted to stop him and was struck in the face.

With the coat owner close behind him he then ran down the stairs to Broadway, successfully eluded several officers but, on nearing the corner of Second street ran into the arms of Police Sergant Nord. Nord held him and took him back to the jail.

COMPANION SHOT

Brian was taken into custody with Ted Griffin, 23 years of age, and Kenneth Golden, 22, by Santa Monica and West Los Angeles police a week ago. Griffin later escaped from the custody of the officers and was recaptured after being shot in the shoulder by Motorcycle Officer Roper of the Santa Monica department. He is now in the prison ward at the General Hospital.

Brian and Griffin have confessed to fifteen other robberies in the bay district, according to Captain of Detectives Curtis of the West Los Angeles division. Golden denies implication.

STORY OF LOST VOICE WINS WIFE DIVORCE

She lost her voice twice as a result of her husband's threats, complained Mrs. Mary P. Shields yesterday in divorcing Oscar J. Shields. In November and December, 1925, she asserted, his threats so shattered her nervous system that she lost power of speech, and this was repeated in April, 1929. "We went to Tia Juana in 1929, and he began drinking," she declared. "He disappeared and, when I found him, he was dancing with another woman." Superior Judge Neville granted her a decree.

Witnesses for Government Discuss Operations Fraud Suspect's Various Companies

Intricacies connected with the operations of the various oil companies controlled by Gilbert S. Johnson, wealthy oil promoter of [illegible] California, now on trial before a jury in United States District Court Cosgrave's court on a charge of using the mails to defraud, were delved into yesterday by various witnesses for the government.

It is expected that the case, so far as the government is concerned, will be drawn to a close today or tomrrow. It was not stated by David H. Cannon and H. L. Arterberry, defense counsel, how long it will take them to present their case, nor how many witnesses will be called.

Among the witnesses heard yesterday was James C. Reese, an oil man of Abilene, Tex., who testified that he was paid $30,000 by Johnson for a Texas oil lease. Government attorneys sought to show that Johnson later sold a part of the lease, at an increase in price, retaining a considerable portion of the land.

Mrs. Evelyn D. Bowdry of Pasadena testified that she invested in various Johnson companies and received no returns. Defense attorneys adduced that the witness was warned by Johnson that not all oil-promotional projects would guarantee a return. Other witnesses testified that they invested in Johnson's companies without receiving returns.

Today's Bible Text

Herein is love, not that we loved God, but that He loved us, and sent His Son to be the propitiation for our sins. Beloved, if God so loved us, we ought also to love one another.—I John iv:10, 11.

NEW LIFE STAFF

They are carving the "staff of life" out of strange timber these days, making bread of potatoes, making bread of lima beans and soy beans and bananas. And stranger still, they say that they who lean thereon keep lean themselves.

WIFE SHOOTING SEASON

The husband who expressed the wish for an open season when wives could be shot legally did not allow the law to prevent him being "half shot" all of the time, so his wife declared, when she divorced him on the grounds of chronic inebriation.

TRAVEL'S REAL PURPOSE

California should feel proud of the Pasadena minister who, having just returned from a fourteen-months tour of Europe and the Holy Land, stated that he had not sought to solve world problems on his trip abroad, but that he was studying people and found them more interesting than coronets or cathedrals.

BEYOND CONCEPTION

Whether this earth is nearly 2,000,000 years old, as Prof. Kovaric claims, whether it is ten times that aged or only one-tenth so ancient, matters very little to the individual, for no human being can conceive of such time duration. When he thinks he can he merely has what Herbert Spencer has definitely described and catalogued as a "pseud-concept."

HARD TIMES! HUH!

Los Angeles is enjoying such hard times that a few weeks ago 30,000 football fans trekked 400 miles north to Palo Alto to see Stanford and the Trojan University on the gridiron. And almost as many enthusiasts from the bay region came south to see the wolf at the door chase the Golden Bear around the Coliseum. Meditate upon that many people spending an average of $40 a piece to see the sport. Hard times—to miss!

NOISE

If Schopenhauer, who wrote a whole essay on noise, lived today he would probably write a ten-volume diatribe, because most of the things listed as nuisances, automobiles, trolley cars, radios, train whistles, were invented long after the time of this critical philosopher. Noises were his chief annoyances and aversions and of them he says: "I have long held the opinion that the amount of noise which anyone can bear undisturbed, stands in inverse proportion to his mental capacity and may, therefore, be regarded as a pretty fair measure of it. Noise is a torture to all intellectual people."

CAPE TO CAIRO BY AIR

What if Livingstone, lost in darkest Africa, had looked aloft and seen an airplane flying high over the Zambezi? Would he not have been stricken with amazement? And yet that is what the dusky natives of that region soon will see when the new Cape-to-Cairo airline becomes a reality.

In a month or two airplanes flying on schedule and carrying passengers from Capetown to the Egyptian capital will cast the shadows of their wings upon Rhodesia. Eight days will be required for the trip of 5700 miles and the planes will bring London within eleven days of Capetown. The flights will be made in the daytime. If they were continued through the night it would take only four days to reach Cairo from the Cape. A schedule of this sort may yet be adopted.

One hardly can imagine a more picturesque series of views than that which will unroll itself under the eyes of the trans-African traveler. Up over the dark mountains of the south, over the vast jungles of the central terrain, the burning sands of the Libyan Desert, the pyramids and the green Nile water the planes will take their flight to ancient Cairo.

Those surviving comrades of old Oom Paul, who in the nineties never trekked in eight months as far as the air travelers will fly in eight days, will have something to gape at and talk about when the first plane of the new airline shoots forth from the new Capetown airdrome on its long northern flight.

OUR NEW CONGRESSMEN

Twenty Congressmen and twenty-two electoral votes in the Presidential election of 1932 accrue to California as a result of the 1930 census, it is announced in Washington by President Hoover. The figure has been given before, but not officially, and it is reassuring to have it settled. Through the passage by Congress of the automatic reapportionment bill, these nine additional seats will come to the State whether Congress does anything at the present session or not. Probably no specific reapportionment bill will be passed, since it has been discovered that each State delegation would be the same whether determined by the method of "major fractions" or the method of "equal proportions"—and the controversy between adherents of the two methods becomes academic for ten years.

California will be sixth State in Congressional and electoral strength for the next ten years, Fifth is Texas, with twenty-one Congressmen; fourth, Ohio, with twenty-four; third, Illinois, with twenty-seven; second, Pennsylvania, with thirty-four, and first, New York, with forty-five. Six States appear in the list with the irreducible minimum of one each, Arizona, Delaware, Nevada, New Mexico, Vermont and Wyoming.

Now that the Federal reapportionment is changed for the first time in twenty years, the next step is apportionment within the State, which is the duty of the State Legislature. Just as Congress neglected its duty after the census of 1920, so did the California Legislature, and the present Congressional district lines follow those laid down after the census of 1910 with resultant gross inequity. That the forthcoming session of the Legislature will refuse to remedy this injustice there appears to be no present reason to fear.

A few northern politicians, with little foresight, have proposed the scheme of leaving present Congressional districts as they are and permitting the nine new Congressmen to be elected at large, but there is no indication that it will get very far. In the first place, Governor-elect Rolph has repeatedly pledged Southern California a square deal, which means he must use his influence with the legislators to obtain a proper, constitutional apportionment. In the second place the scheme is too dangerous to its backers, since Southern California, with the bulk of the voting strength, might, on an at-large basis, take all nine of these offices and leave the north holding the bag. It may be said that nothing would be better calculated to produce this result than any juggling with the question on the part of the Legislature.

No such plan, of course, has the support of any substantial, thinking element of Northern California. The real northerners favor a just division, not only in the interests of intra-State comity, not only to preserve the historic unity of California, but because it is just.

The State reapportionment bill will, therefore, presumably apportion four additional Congressmen to Los Angeles county, giving the county six in all, or just under one-third of the State delegation. Southern California will receive six of the nine, causing a general geographical contraction of all the districts. Since there is no substantial Democratic party strength in any part of Southern California there will be no temptation in the Legislature for gerrymandering and no reason for making the district lines run in queer directions, as is sometimes done.

It will be noted that in announcing the State population figures for reapportionment purposes President Hoover excluded, as the Constitution directs, "Indians not taxed." This calls attention to the complete answer which the Constitution itself furnishes to the claim sometimes made, that only voting citizens should be considered in making up Congressional districts. The fact that a resident is taxed is enough to entitle him or her to representation in Congress; and every resident does pay taxes in some form or other. Neither citizenship nor ability to vote is properly weighed in this scale. The taxed resident may not have a voice in the selection of the representative, but is, nevertheless, to be counted.

REVOLT IN SPAIN

Whether the present disorders in Spain have any likelihood of culminating in a general revolt, it is difficult to tell. There have been general strikes and rioting in Madrid, Barcelona, Seville and other cities; plotting Communists have been arrested, and government precautions have been redoubled in the capital and elsewhere. But Spain has had the same sort of trouble at periodic intervals for years, especially in Barcelona, a hotbed of unrest, and King Alfonso still continues to reign.

In addition to the Communist plotting, which probably is the same in Spain as everywhere, there is a well-defined Republican movement, which is pretty much in the open and contemplates political rather than armed revolutionary action.

It is a proverb that threatened men live long, and the same rule may apply to threatened regimes. Successful revolts frequently give little warning—in fact, the less warning they give the more serious they are apt to be. If these criteria are of value the danger of Spanish revolution may not be serious. Since Spain is rather isolated politically, a revolt there would not necessarily endanger European peace; but on the other hand, it might easily have wide reverberations. Europe is far from stable and any disturbing element must be regarded as potentially dangerous.

THE CHICAGO LOTTERY

Mayor Thompson of Chicago, who has produced more novel ideas intended to be noble than any other near-statesman of his generation, now wants a gigantic lottery for the benefit of the Chicago unemployed. That is, the lottery is ostensibly for the benefit of the unemployed, but its effect on Big Bill's political fortunes is probably not being overlooked. By the terms of the plan, merchants would give away tickets with each two-bit purchase and prizes up to $100,000 would be awarded to the holder of the lucky number.

A plan of that kind may or may not be lawful under Illinois statutes, but certainly would be denied the use of the mails, no matter what its object. The most brilliant part of the scheme lies in the power the handlers of the fund would get from it. It might save Big Bill and his friends the necessity of raising any campaign fund at all!

Thompson was recently operated on for appendicitis. One wonders if he has yet come out from under the ether.

POLLING PLACES

Uncle Sam has 122,354 polling places. Some think that with so many, more of the voters ought to be able to find them. Others think we ought to be able to elect better public servants and have better government. But there are too many who do not think at all.

WHY SHOULD THE SPIRIT OF MORTAL BE PROUD?

By James J. Montague

A student of the bee maintains
That when, in meadows sunny,
It lights on clover which contains
Material for honey,
It radios the old home hive,
Wakes workers from their slumber,
And presently its pals arrive
The field to disencumber
Of all its dripping sweetness it has stored,
Which presently is added to their hoard.

A lone mosquito on its way
To ravage and devour,
Will see and mark you for its prey,
And in a half an hour
A thousand of its greedy crowd,
Their war song loudly swelling,
Will hover like an evil cloud
In your defenseless dwelling—
The skeet that first the song of battle sang
Has radioed about you to his gang!

Man fills himself with lofty pride
The while he glibly mentions
How widely he has multiplied
His manifold inventions.
Small brain the bug has in his pate,
But what he has suffices,
You notice, to anticipate
Man's long-thought-out devices.
The members of the buzzing insect host
Must nudge each other when they hear us boast.

LEE SIDE O' L.A.

By Lee Shippey

WE REALIZED with surprise last night that we hadn't heard our radio for more than a week. Then we got to reflecting and realized that we had heard it only three or four times since the world's series ended. When our radio was a new toy we had it on all the time, but now we've gone back to reading.

This is no knock for radio. We wouldn't be without ours for a good deal. It brings a baseball or football game we can't go to see right into our living-room. When the great and famous are going to speak or sing or play it gives us a private box.

When you want radio it is worth many times what it costs to be able to turn it on. But the thing we have discovered is that, for day-to-day entertainment, it never can take the place of reading.

Just get started reading "Spanish Lover" or "Charlie Chan Carries On" and we'll wager you'll want to forget your radio for a while.

"The Slump Is Over"

Booksellers tell us there is quite a noticeable swing-back to reading in Los Angeles territory. "Undoubtedly," one of the best-informed says, "radio has hurt the book business. Anyone who tries to listen and read at the same time finds both pleasures cut to the minimum. So radio is actually bringing back the old secluded library, which was out of fashion in so many homes. An architect tells me that a couple of years ago many a $30,000 to $50,000 home was planned here without anything resembling a library in it. Now, he says, everyone who builds a good house wants a library which is really a family reading-room. Those who want to hear the radio or dance or chatter may stay in the living-room—but those who wish to read and enjoy quiet may escape to the library.

"The sort of novels which first run as serials in women's magazines are suffering most. They are not strong enough to hold interest in the face of such other things. But the novel written with real power seems in steadily increasing demand. A lot of the fake biographies are suffering, too, but real biography, either done with the light touch or in deadly earnest, keeps rising in favor. More than ever, people seem to want to draw their inspirations from real lives rather than from imagined creatures. Anyway, after a very dull summer, the book business is reviving splendidly. The slump is over."

No Holidays

Newspaper men, druggists and street-car crews aren't the only ones who have to work Sundays and holidays. The second-hand book stores do their biggest business on those days. Not only toilers who want to spend their holidays in illusion, but people who like to browse for rare books and have not the time on week days frequent the stores then.

The latter are playing a hard game. In one of the biggest second-hand stores yesterday we asked for a book which has been out of print twenty-four years and was not a best-seller then. Yet when we mentioned the name of the book the clerk immediately supplied the author's name and led us to it. In other words, they know their books. Yet the other day a friend of ours picked up on a 10-cent counter a book listed in collectors' catalogues as worth $85. And a little volume by Bret Harte which kicked around that way for quite a while now is the proud possession of a collector who paid $150 for it.

Cleverest Book Collector

Personally, we agree with the chap who said that twentieth editions are far rarer than first editions, and prefer new books to ancient ones. We don't despise "books in vile bindings," as Ruskin did, but we certainly do despise books in vile print. We like to read big, new, clear type because we can't read anything else with ease and comfort, and we think Montague Glass the smartest book collector we know. Monty buys a brand new copy of every new book by every author he has decided is one of the men he wants to read. Of such, authors must feel, is the Kingdom of Heaven.

"Folks Ushud Know"

Speaking of books — Ahem!—our own new book, "Folks Ushud Know," will make its bow in the stores today. Last winter we published "Personal Glimpses," which was so cordially received that we have decided to publish a book of the same kind each year for four years, the four volumes to constitute a sort of Who's Who of the famous actors, authors, singers, composers, savants and others who have chosen Southern California for their home. In "Folks Ushud Know" the biographical sketches are interspersed with poems chosen to fit the subtitle, "Songs of Courage."

Joshua Little Says

The latest things in women's hats are shaped a good deal like head bandages. But it's still dad's pocketbook which sustains the injury.

Turkeys are much cheaper this year. Why talk of "hard times" when this is the first year in ten in which most of us could afford a Thanksgiving turkey?

When a bright young man comes to my door and pleads with me to subscribe for a certain magazine or newspaper "because he is working his way through college" or "because he is the sole support of a widowed mother" it doesn't so much impress me with the idea that the boys are extremely manly and enterprising as with the suspicion that certain circulation managers are coaching bright young men to be first-class liars.

WHAT OTHERS THINK ABOUT IT

TYRANNY OF BUREAUCRACY

(Chicago Tribune)

The President's reference in his speech at King's Mountain to "the tyranny of bureaucracy" needs no elaboration for Americans who understand and value their heritage of liberty. But there are many Americans who do not. If there were not many we should not have had in recent years a vast growth of bureaucracy, repeated invasions by government in sphere of private activity, the tendency of discontent or impatient reform to turn to politics and government for relief which could better be had from private initiative and co-operation.

To radicals, to headlong reformers preoccupied with the symptoms of social evil rather than their cause or judicious remedy, to dreamers of the so-called intelligentsia, the state is an infallible and benign mother. If a wrong appears it is the state which will correct it, a wise and beneficent doctor for all our ills, a mysterious potency worshiped and exalted.

Our fathers knew better. They were wisely jealous of all forms of political or governmental power, and sought earnestly to put checks upon it and to restrict it within the limits of essential authority. For they knew that the state is government, and government is officialdom and politics. They knew that neither is infallible nor disinterested nor reliably benign.

A QUERY; NO ANSWER

(New York Sun)

From a reader of the Sun comes the subjoined inquiry:

"A question arose regarding the definition of: (a) a Democrat; (b) a Republican.

"Perhaps some of your readers would enlighten us regarding the fundamental differences between the two.

"R. B. S."

If "R. B. S." will cast an eye over E. P. Costigan of Colorado, Huey P. Long of Louisiana, Robert J. Bulkley of Ohio, Thomas J. Walsh of Montana and Thomas P. Gore of Oklahoma, all Democratic Senators recently chosen, and determine what ideas, doctrines, policies and opinions make them one; and if he will do the same for William E. Borah of Idaho, Henry W. Keyes of New Hampshire, George W. Norris of Nebraska, Dwight W. Morrow of New Jersey and J. H. Metcalf of Rhode Island, all Republican Senators chosen on the same day, he will be able to determine just as accurately as any other reader of the Sun what constitutes a Democrat and what a Republican.

LESSON OF THE SOUTH AMERICAN REVOLUTIONS

BY J. L. TEJADA

I

[This is the first of two articles by Mr. Tejada, an international lawyer and business man, heavily interested in tin mining in Bolivia. He is particularly well informed on South American affairs. His second article will appear tomorrow.]

A formidable wave of civic disturbances has swept over the countries of South America. With the rapidity and the violence which characterize the passage of great tempests, the governments of three of the "strong men" have succumbed to its engulfing power. In the past these men used their activity and their energies, and employed lavishly the public wealth and funds obtained from the international bank, to destroy the democratic life of the people and inclose it within the petty limits of the most absolute monarchy.

In the course of a few weeks Bolivia, Peru and Argentina, successively, have been the theater of revolutionary movements, very short in duration, but, so it seems, prolific in results. Presidents Siles, Leguia and Irigoyen, in the passage of a few hours of the co-ordinated outburst of the public will, have been forced out of their high positions as absolute masters of the destinies and development of their respective countries. They were marked by their citizens with the stigma of general detestation, charged with grave offenses and subjected to judgment and punishment. Their swift fall, without any gesture of resistance and without any showing of popular support, supplies without any doubt a salutary lesson for American democracies, because it emphasizes the success of civic reaction against the practices and assaults of personal despotism which gave to those countries the appearance of regions barren of freedom.

International opinion is poorly informed in general on the details of the situation in which the political life of those nations was lately developing, because their dictators were jealously hiding their acts from foreign opinion by means of the strictest censorship and by the systematic inexactitude of official information. Outsiders have seen in the series of late South American revolutions the apparition of a fever of an infectious character, that has suddenly developed in the political organism of those countries and grown into a malignant and destructive epidemic.

A superficial examination of the possible causes of these revolutionary movements has also attributed them to the depressed condition of business. This simple explanation of the past occurrences, this first impression of the possible cause, has been ingenuously accepted. It has circulated in the international atmosphere as facts, without determining a more profound and clearer appreciation of the antecedents of such events, and of the national and international effects.

Without analyzing whether or not the physiological simile is adequate, when revolutions are classified as fevers in the pathology of society, one must observe that there are fevers of an organic character that waste away the body politic and destroy it, and that there are others which are local, intense and transitory, that develop in good general health due to the presence of strange and unassimilable bacteria and because of the supreme effort of the organism threatened with infection to cast off that which is unnecessary for its sustenance. If, therefore, the late revolutions of South America were fevers they can perhaps be best compared to this latter class.

To attribute, on the other hand, the outbreak of the late revolutions to the profound economic troubles that affect the countries of Latin America, in my judgment, is to lessen the importance of the movements and to attribute to them an influence on the whole common in the democratic life of the continent. If it were only the economic depression which had forced out of action three of the dictators of South America, little could be hoped for in a political sense for the immediate future of those peoples, because, in effect, the crises, by their own nature, are of short duration and they cannot represent the normal state of life of any people. If, in the final analysis, the revolutionary movements were not due to more profound motives and to higher causes than the simple depression of business, we should be obliged to reach the conclusion that dictatorships would have to be the normal forms of government in those countries, that is to say, that in those countries it would not be possible for democracy to function, nor would they be capable of assuring its vitality and progress.

Nothing, notwithstanding, is farther from the truth, and nothing explains that political crisis with less accuracy. More uniform than the tremendous economic depression that weighs upon the countries of South America, and much more general than its effects upon the peoples of those countries, are the ideals of institutional betterment that have served to uphold the late revolutions and which now inspire the task of their leaders in order to secure a step forward, after correcting all the material and moral ills that dictatorship in its passage has inflicted as if on a trail of mockery.

The Latin-American peoples have patterned the constitutions by which they are governed on the political institutions and practices of the United States, taking them as models for their own institutions and for the practices of their political life; but none of them has accepted re-election of their high administrative officials as a practice possible of being carried into effect in those countries with general advantage and benefit. The influence of the administration upon the body of the voters operates in a manner so different from the way it acts in the United States, and the conditions of education, of independence and even the civic conception of the voters are so different in general, that the rule of no re-election of administrative heads has been converted in the Latin-American countries into a sharp principle of political organization.

The history of those democracies, if very short in duration, is prolific in examples to demonstrate conclusively that re-elections in Latin America are equivalent to the most direct route for despotism and that the dictators, in their turn, have very seldom neglected to take the route of re-election as the one best calculated, by distorting the popular will, to gain their personal ends.

Don Porfirio Diaz, directing the destinies of Mexico from 1884 until 1911, through the medium of successive re-elections confiscatory of the will of the Mexican people; Estrada Cabrera governing Guatemala from 1898 until 1920 by medium of successive re-elections, all removed from the will of his people; Gen. Gomes maintaining himself in power in Venezuela from 1908 until the past year, in spite of public repudiation; and President Leguia having himself re-elected continuously since 1919 and declaring his intention of filling the Presidency of Peru for the rest of his life, employing for that purpose one-sided plebiscites and excluding every will opposed to his own, are salient examples of the contemporary history of Latin America. They prove that the doctrine of "presidential re-election" in those countries has been distorted and deformed. Popular opposition against the method has invariably been set at nought by the despots of Latin America in order to perpetuate themselves in power, completely ignoring the will of their respective peoples.

The origin of each one of the overthrown governments has special characteristics. President Leguia came to the government of Peru in a truly democratic manner. Finding himself expatriated he was elected President in 1919 by the vote of the majority of his fellow-citizens, but through fear that a political stratagem in Congress would frustrate his triumph, he determined to take the post a few days prior to the date set by law for his investiture.

His term was limited to four years and there was existing in the constitution he sanctioned an express prohibition of presidential re-election. Notwithstanding, before the end of said four-year term, the cupidity of monarchy had completely overcome his spirit, determining him to impose a reform on the Peruvian constitution permitting the re-election of the President. Since such re-election was not permissible it was, of course, necessary to set up a special political machine in order to elect a Congress unconditionally subject to the will of the government, and since the establishment of the system he has functioned with mechanical regularity for the space of eleven years and would have continued functioning indefinitely if the triumphant revolution last August had not put an end to his activities.

President Siles represented to Bolivia the continuation of the despotism initiated in that country in 1920 by President Saavedra, who imposed it on the government without the semblance of a political struggle, through the medium of a farcical election in which only the friends of the leader that he had designated to follow him were allowed to compete. Following in the footsteps of President Leguia, Siles also resolved to perpetuate himself in power and for that purpose suspended in May of this year the election that was to determine his successor.

The Bolivian constitution definitely prohibits the re-election of the President. President Siles, weighed down by the general censure on the idea of his re-election, looked for a shameless and audacious method of frustrating the law. He renounced the Presidency of the republic and overriding the Vice-President and other public officials designated by the constitution to succeed him, he transferred command to a council expressly gathered among the most corrupt and dishonorable elements of the country, and they gave him authority to convoke an election of representatives for the purpose of amending the constitution to authorize the re-election that he and his group persisted in against the will and the necessities of the country. Said election had to be verified three days after the date on which took place the revolutionary movement that put an end to this gross political farce.

Curfew for Grown Folks

Willacoochee, Ga., a town of 1200, has a new ordinance which forbids its citizens to stay out after midnight unless they give the town marshal a good excuse. Young folks who left their homes earlier in the evening and return at a late hour are exempt. No old-fashioned severity there. Old folks ought to be home early.

CHEST NEEDS LARGER SUMS

Reduction in Number of Subscriptions Calls for More Generosity by Wealthy, Says Kerr

Late reports received at Community Chest campaign headquarters indicate that there are 37,280 fewer subscriptions received than were in hand at the same time of the campaign last year. Chairman Kerr cites this as conclusive proof that if human misery and suffering is to be cared for by the Chest agencies during the coming year, the wealthier individuals, firms and corporations must subscribe more generously than ever before. Comparative figures show a perceptible decrease in results obtained by the business and industrial divisions thus far, in comparison with the same period of last year's campaign.

The school divisions are also running behind their last year's report, although it is said they will bring in their full quota before the campaign closes. The fact that $31,965 more in subscriptions has been reported to date is attributed largely to the efforts of the central division committees, which are credited with 83 per cent, as against 62 per cent a year ago. The residential division, Hollywood motion-picture and harbor divisions are also running ahead of last year's performance.

Chairman Kerr states that if the $800,000 yet needed to finance the 1931 welfare program is obtained, the money must come from those who are financially able to give generously and in considerably larger sums than ever before.

From four to six daily Community Chest bulletins are being broadcast from stations KHJ, KNX, KFWB, KFI and KECA, calling the public's attention to the great need of financial assistance for Chest agencies. Volunteer speakers, recruited from the ranks of active leaders in the Community Chest campaign, are filling in on this time.

leather for driving; gloves of fabric so fashioned as to look like suede; gloves of finest kid, for more dressy, formal wear; gloves to match other accessories; gloves in black for many different occasions. Gloves, as holiday gifts, both useful and ornamental. Many a gift problem will find the answer in a pair of gloves.

The Christmas Table

It is predicted that Christmas dinner tables will, this season, possess many novelties in the way of setting and decorative effects. Since this holiday table may take on themes not permissible to formal meals, much originality may be applied. With the fad for black glass and silver, which recently has so popularized itself, it is believed that this combination will find favor for the Christmas dinner table. With just a touch of crimson to ally it with the holiday ideal, black and silver is delightfully enlivening.

Said the Silver Lady

The Silver Lady, in her confidential hats, told of many interesting differences between American and foreign tables, especially in the use of service silver. In private homes on the continent, she says, the forks and spoons are laid in a manner which, to us would seem upside down.

New Scarves

Tubular scarves, they are called, the new ones of silk or of wool. Doubled fabric, these are in fact, and fringed ends distinguished them as new. Sometimes the ends are doubly or triply fringed. Not with fringe applied, but of their own threads pulled out.

Worn ascot fashion, these new scarves may match the hat above, in color or even in material; or they may harmonize with the ensemble, both in material and in color; or may twin with the hand bag in tint. With the oncoming of winter, many such scarves will be of wool, and very conveniently will fill in the space below the chin, where the high fur collar of the coat fails of its full duty.

Pajama Squares

New are the pajama squares, from which to fashion the coats of the popular garments. In high colors and in handsome designs on black, two of these squares will make the coat, and may be matched in plain black to fashion the trousers for completion of the suite. A handsome gift for the handy-handed girl, a set of these would make; a gift quite inexpensive, too, and one sure to please, since every girl and every woman yearns for pajamas innumerable and varied.

Hats as Gifts

With a good pattern from which to work, hats innumerable may be made by the handy-handed; and many of the girls are thus economizing their gifts, this season. The little head-huggers are so easy to make, and so many are needed—one for each and every ensemble, that some are making entire sets for their girl friends. One for each suit, or for the afternoon informal, make a lovely gift. Housed, of course, in a pretty hat box, which owing to the minuteness of the hats when folded away, need not be of great size—and lo! an excellent gift and one long to be cherished.

The Hosiery Gift

Not within recollection has it been possible to stocking-gift so widely, as this season. So many kinds of stockings required—for service, for dress; for warmth, for beauty; in just the proper color for each occasion; in so many weaves; clocked, plain, lacey, sportsy. The variety is practically endless, and practical is the word, for no girl or woman can have too many stockings.

Whether it be the wool and rayon, for Aunt Betty; the dancy almost invisible for Dot; the service pair for Cousin Jane; the several daintily boxed for Her; and even for him, there are many kinds and colors, weaves and patterns. So, ho! for hosiery as the gift always wantable, all around.

New This Season

That old complaint—"Nothing new for the man," cannot be uttered, this season. For many things are masculinely new. There is the new case for his shaving apparatus. Of china, either in plain white, or daintily decorated, this accommodating case, holds his razor in readiness for the morning shave. No search for the various parts with a hurried cry-out against the child who misplaced the most wanted piece. No scramble for the wherewithal to lather. Oh, those cases are truly among the masculine must-haves, for Christmas.

Coach Replicas

Veritable reproductions of old-time mail coaches, those tiny ones, are one of the season's outstanding gifts.

Historically correct to the minutest detail, the best of these are hand-made, and are designed to lend atmosphere to the period room or house. Truly complementary gifts, whether large or small, these ornaments imply savour faire, both on the part of the donor and the recipient.

MEETING TO SIFT CRIME GOES AWRY

Postponement Again Holds Up Mapping of Campaign Against Gangsters

The meeting of Los Angeles law-enforcement officers to map a campaign against gangsters failed to materialize at Dist.-Atty. Fitts's office yesterday.

Originally the meeting was to have been held Tuesday, but the grand jury inquiry into city administration affairs necessitated postponement of the gathering until yesterday.

Police Chief Steckel, however, and representatives of Sheriff Traeger's office said that they had received no request to attend a meeting yesterday at the District Attorney's office. Last night no statement was made as to the next date that the law-enforcement officers are expected to meet and confer again concerning the gangster situation. Fitts was reported out of town for the day.

SLAYER OF KIN GOES ON TRIAL TODAY

Death Sentence Will Not Be Asked for Woman Who Killed Her Sister

Mrs. Ruth Weimer, charged with the "mercy killing" of her sister, Mrs. Mabel Steele, September 14, last, appeared in Superior Judge Fricke's court yesterday ready for trial, but the case was deferred until today to give the court an opportunity to clear the calendar of other pending matters.

Mrs. Weimer came to court with an arm in a sling. It was revealed she had slipped on a floor while under mental observation at General Hospital and had broken her arm.

According to George Stahlman, deputy District Attorney prosecuting the case, he will not ask for the death penalty at the woman's trial, but will leave the entire question of degree in the hands of the jury.

Nathan O. Freedman, attorney representing Mrs. Weimer, states she will contend that she yielded to a sudden and irresistible impulse to shoot her sister after Mrs. Steele for days had wept and prayed for death because her estranged husband had obtained custody of her two children.

NEW RULES ADOPTED BY BAR GROUP

Los Angeles Association Increases Directorate to Fifteen Members

With only two changes from the instruments as first drawn up, the Los Angeles Bar Association, meeting at the Alexandria last night, adopted a new constitution and by-laws.

Regarded as the most important of the provisions of the new constitution is that which accords representation on the board of trustees to the eleven other affiliated bar associations in this county. For this purpose the board's membership is increased from eleven to fifteen and provision is made that four of the trustees shall represent the affiliated associations.

Amendments were adopted which change the method of affiliation of the other associations in the county and the method of collecting dues from affiliated members. It was also provided that at least 50 per cent of the membership must be affiliated members of the Los Angeles Association if the outside association is to maintain its affiliated status.

As originally drawn up, the by-laws contained a provision forbidding any electioneering in connection with the bar plebescite on judicial candidates, but a motion to strike out this provision was carried.

A nominating committee of seven to propose new officers was elected last night. It consists of W. J. Hunsacker, Roy Dowds, Joseph Smith, Ed Winter, Ezra Neff, E. Neal Ames and J. H. Mitchell.

Following the business meeting, Judge Finlayson, a member of the State Bar for forty-five years, gave a reminiscent talk, sprinkled with anecdotes, about the leading legal figures of other days.

Bank Sued by Lina Basquette

Demanding $5225 she asserts was placed in escrow during construction of a store building she was to occupy, Lina Basquette Marley yesterday sued the Bank of America for that amount.

The building was supposed to be ready for occupancy October 1, but, according to the complaint, filed by Attorney David E. Field, it was not available at the time stated. Miss Basquette, known as a screen actress, thereupon made demand on the defendant bank for the money, she says, but it was not paid.

Across approximately half the continent they will hear Probate Judge Beasley at Kinsley ask the bridegroom-to-be the necessary questions.

The bride-to-be will make her replies and her pledge into the transmitter. When the celebration is over she will start for Kansas to join her husband.

The golden wedding party to which Miss Passwaters will go as a maid and leave a married woman is that of Mr. and Mrs. M. F. Stewart at their home, 1436 Centinella Boulevard, Santa Monica.

In addition to Miss Passwaters, five other grandchildren and their families will attend the anniversary ceremony of the Stewarts.

Selection of Gifts Made Easy, Letters Say

Ten remarkable letters on "How Advertising Helps With One's Christmas List" were read over the network of Station KMPC in the latest broadcast yesterday under the auspices of the Los Angeles Advertising Club on the value of advertising. These broadcasts every Wednesday are sponsored by the University of Southern California and sent out by remote control from the university studio.

The ten letters were read to the radio audience by Ross Welch, advertising director for J. W. Robinson & Co., who had written to twelve persons representing what may be said to be every phase of possible purchaser asking for a frank opinion on what assistance, if any, prospective Christmas shoppers derive from study of advertisements. Of the twelve only two failed to reply, one being a bride of two months and the other a prominent business woman.

SHOPPERS CLASSIFIED

Probably the most lucid, entertaining and convincing letter read by Mr. Welch in the broadcast yesterday came from a prominent club woman, one of the ten who had answered.

"There are two kinds of Christmas shoppers," the club woman wrote, "the confused, impulsive shopper who is seldom satisfied with Christmas buying, whose gifts often are inappropriate, and the thoughtful, orderly shopper whose Christmas shopping brings real pleasure to those for whom the purchases are made.

"It is, therefore, easily to be seen that the entire preparation for Christmas shopping is to study the advertising put out by the stores.

STORES CO-OPERATE

"A real knowledge of the gifts available solves the problem of what to buy, for in any great store of today there is met practically every material need of every man, woman and child."

The prominent attorney wrote: "Christmas is one of the biggest hurdles of the year. Suggestions are highly in order, and if the advertising material furnished by a reputable store is comprehensive in commodity, prices, quality, appearance and usefulness, much of the buyer's difficulties have been overcome."

The real estate man wrote: "It is a great help for me to read the advertisements of responsible business firms, for this class of business house usually has very complete and intelligent advertisements, and it is very easy for me to form a Christmas list from the things suggested, and to go direct to the different merchants with a definite thing in mind to purchase."

CHURCHMEN ASK DR. AKED TO REMAIN

All-Souls Directors Put Finances Up to Society; Urge Pastor's Retention

At a gathering of members of All-Souls Congregational Church, Wilshire and Plymouth Boulevards, last night, a motion was offered asking Dr. Charles F. Aked to withdraw his resignation as pastor and notifying the Southern California Congregational Extension Society that the church is unable to guarantee further interest payments on an indebtedness of $175,000.

Financial affairs of the church, which are said to have caused the resignation of the pastor, Dr. Aked, were the subject of the gathering last night. Discussion among the 120 members who were present revealed that the most that can be raised at this time is approximately $3000 of the $10,000 needed.

The following resolution was then offered by Judge Benjamin F. Bledsoe and unanimously adopted:

"It is moved that the board of directors notify the Southern California Congregational Extension Society that we are unable to guarantee further payments and that we will hold the building at their pleasure.

"Also that Dr. Aked be asked to withdraw his resignation and that a committee be appointed to wait upon him for a discussion of further plans."

MERCHANT INDICTED IN BANKRUPTCY CASE

Richard Scott Shelley, Los Angeles business man, yesterday was indicted by the Federal grand jury on a charge of violating the National Bankruptcy Act in connection with the handling of twelve estates, for which he acted as trustee. Shelley appeared before the clerk of the United States District Court and furnished bail of $3500. T. Nara, a Japanese, was accused of impersonating an American citizen and with obtaining money from another Japanese upon the threat that he would inform immigration authorities that he was an alien. Bond in the case was fixed at $2500.

CHEF WYMAN'S RECIPES

Every Friday at 2 o'clock Mrs. A. L. Wyman will conduct a free class and demonstration of good cookery in the lecture room of the Southwest Building, 130 South Broadway.

CORN CHOWDER

Fry two thinly sliced onions until light brown in two tablespoonfuls of butter, add three cupfuls of corn, three finely broken crackers, five cold, boiled potatoes, sliced thin, one tablespoonful of chopped parsley, a seasoning of salt and pepper, and enough boiling water to cover the vegetables. Simmer slowly for one hour, cream together three tablespoonfuls of butter, and two tablespoonfuls of flour, add it to the hot mixture, with one cupful of milk, allow to heat and serve.

STEAMED PEACH PUDDING

Beat three egg yolks slightly and add to them one-half a cupful of sugar, one-fourth of a teaspoonful of salt, one teaspoonful of vanilla extract and one cupful of milk. Cut bread in one-third inch slices and shape the slices to fit a mold. Buttering them on the side next to the mold, let the slices of bread stand in the egg and milk mixture until slightly softened. Butter the mold and sprinkle with finely chopped almonds. Lay in alternate slices of the softened bread and sliced peaches. Cover tightly and steam for forty-five minutes. Cool slightly before turning from the mold, then remove to a platter and pour around it a peach sauce.

EGG PLANT AU GRATIN

Peel the egg plant and cut it in thick slices, place it in a saucepan, cover with boiling water, and cook until beginning to get tender. Place a layer of it in a well-oiled baking dish, and on top of each slice of eggplant place a thick slice of tomato, sprinkle over this fine bread crumbs and season with salt, paprika, and a few grains of sugar. Sprinkle over the top of that a little grated cheese. Dot with bits of butter and bake in a medium oven.

COTTAGE MEAT PIE

Chop four cupfuls of cold, lean beef very fine, and mix with it, one tablespoonful of finely chopped parsley, two tablespoonfuls of finely chopped onion, two finely chopped pimientoes, two teaspoonfuls of Worcestershire sauce and a seasoning of salt and pepper and a few grains of nutmeg. Butter an earthenware baking dish and fill with the meat mixture, adding half a cupful of meat gravy. Cover with mashed potatoes that have been seasoned with butter, salt and pepper, brush over the top with milk, and melted butter. Place in a moderate oven and bake for forty-five minutes.

ONION SOUP AU GRATIN

Melt half a cupful of butter in a large saucepan, add four large peeled onions that have been cut in thick slices, and a seasoning of salt and white pepper, allow the onions to cook slowly until beginning to get tender, then add one cupful of beef stock, and one cupful of milk. Simmer slowly for one hour, then add two more cupfuls of milk and two cupfuls of beef stock and simmer again for thirty minutes, cover the bottom of a deep casserole with slices of French bread and sprinkle each slice with two tablespoonfuls of grated Parmesan cheese, beat the yolks of two eggs and add to them one tablespoonful of the hot soup. Pour the eggs over the bread and set them in the oven for five minutes, remove from the oven, pour over the hot soup and serve.

Mrs. Wyman does not reply to letters, but requests for recipes are answered in the department, PRACTICAL RECIPES, published every Friday.—(All rights to reproduce reserved by A. L. Wyman.)

PARRISH OFFERS PLAN ON MILK INSPECTION

A solution of the problem for raising additional funds for milk inspection was proposed to the City Council yesterday by Health Officer Parrish. It contemplates the levy of an annual $5 fee upon each of the 2800 dairies shipping milk into the city. This fund will provide enough money to pay for the inspection. The matter was referred to the Health and Sanitation and Efficiency and Personnel committees, with the expectation that a favorable report will be forthcoming this morning.

Pastors Lacking Folds Organize

Ministers who have no pastorates will be served by a new organization known as the California Interdenominational Church Society, which will hold its first meeting tomorrow at 8 p.m. in the Alexandria.

It is the idea of the organizers of the society, said its president, Rev. D. M. Barr of 836 West Florence avenue, yesterday, that churches which need but cannot afford the services of a full-time assistant pastor should unite in groups of five or six to obtain the part-time service of ministers who are now without employment and in some cases destitute.

SCHOOL GIVES PLAYLETS

Two playlets will be given by pupils of the kindergarten and primary grades of West Hollywood school, 970 Hammond street, West Hollywood, this evening and tomorrow evening, beginning at 7:30 o'clock. They are "The Beiling of the Cat" and "The Candy Shop."

Health and Diet Advice

LEARNING LONGER LIVING

While the average length of life is fifty-eight years, there are many people who live to be much older. It is estimated that there are in the United States and Canada over 5000 people who are over 100 years of age. I quote this to let you know that it is possible that many of those who are reading this article may live to reach or pass the century mark.

One noticeable thing about those who have reached ninety or a hundred years is that they are mostly all thin people. Occasionally, it is possible for a stout person to reach the three score and ten mark, but it is doubtful if any have ever reached five score years. Another noticeable fact is that nearly all of the men who remain active in important business at an advanced age are the thin, wiry type, such as Henry Ford, John D. Rockefeller, and Andrew Mellon. In passing through the Old Soldiers' Home a few years ago I was interested to notice that all of the oldest soldiers were of the underweight type.

If you want to live to a ripe old age you must avoid overeating, learn to cut down on the concentrated foods, especially the starches and sugars, and use more raw and cooked vegetables and fruits. It happens that these are also the best foods for keeping the arteries young and flexible. The saying that a man is as old as his arteries is a true one. Keep both yourself and your arteries young by using the food which furnishes the most mineral elements, namely, the vegetables and fruits both cooked and raw.

It is not only desirable to live a longer life, but it is desirable to be healthy during the days when you are on this earth. If you wish to be hale and hearty after 50, you should begin right now to live right. If you are overweight when you reach that age you should immediately begin to reduce your weight. You should not only reduce your weight, but should try to improve your health habits in general.

Statistics show that married men live longer than single men and the reason that bachelors die young is that they have irregular habits of eating and sleeping. Take the lesson and begin to stabilize your habits of health. Regulate your habits of eating, sleeping, exercise, recreation and bathing. If you wish to keep on living, keep on learning. Do not be content with what you know but try to learn more. In this way you can enrich your life and make it more valuable in every way. Henry Ford has said, "Anyone who stops learning is old. This happens at 20 or at 80." Work up new interests and avoid such mental strains as worry. The one health rule which seems to be common to all centenarians is that they have learned that it doesn't pay to worry.

One of the most profitable and pleasant subjects to begin to learn something about is health. I need not point out to you that a study of Nature's laws will bring you more abundant health and a more contented mind. A Bedtime Story

PETER RABBIT IS FOLLOWED

If watching others you may try
You must admit that you're a spy.
—Peter Rabbit.

No one likes a spy. Still, people seem to forget this whenever their curiosity in regard to their neighbors is aroused. It is just the same way among the little people of the Green Forest and the Green Meadows. No one likes to be spied on, yet all of them do more or less spying on their neighbors.

Peter Rabbit knew that he was being watched and for once he was glad that it was so. He wanted to be watched. He wanted his neighbors to become so curious that they would watch him so as to try to find out the secret they were sure he had in the Green Forest. It was all a part of Peter's plan to get even with them for teasing him so when he had first told about the strange song in the Green Forest.

So it was that very early one morning, just after jolly, round, bright Mr. Sun had kicked off his rosy blankets for his daily climb up in the blue, blue sky, Peter left the dear Old Briar patch and scampered lipperty - lipperty - lip across the Green Meadows. He was headed straight for the Green Forest. Sammy Jay, who was on his way to the Old Orchard, saw Peter coming. Sammy hid in the top of a pine tree to watch.

"Now what has got into Peter Rabbit to send him over here at this time of day," muttered Sammy. "This is the time when he should be getting home to the dear Old Briar-patch, not leaving it. I will just keep an eye on Peter and see what he is up to."

Almost the same thoughts were passing through the black head of Sammy's big cousin, Blacky the Crow, who had been flying over the dear Old Briar-patch just as Peter left it. Without a sound Blacky wheeled in the air and headed back for the Green Forest. He hoped Peter hadn't noticed this, but Peter had and had chuckled as he ran. He had caught a glimpse of Sammy Jay, too, and he guessed that Sammy was watching him. When Peter passed a tree on which Drummer the Woodpecker was at work looking for borers and saw Drummer suddenly lean forward to watch him Peter chuckled more than ever.

Having reached the Green Forest there was less need to hurry, so Peter hopped along, lipperty-lipperty-lip, rather slowly. At length he reached the big, old stump where was in the habit of meeting Whitefoot the Wood Mouse. Whitefoot was nowhere in sight so Peter hid under a little hemlock tree and sat down to wait. He didn't have to wait long. Blacky the Crow flew to the top of a tall pine tree not far away and began to caw in his usual morning manner. Not once did Blacky appear to look toward Peter's hiding place, but Peter felt sure that Blacky knew just where he was.

"Now what has got into Peter Rabbit to send him over here at this time of day!"

A moment or so later Sammy Jay appeared quite as if he had nothing in particular on his mind and had merely wandered that way. Then Drummer the Woodpecker landed on the old stump and began to industriously look for borers and grubs. He was followed by Yank Yank the Nuthatch. Soon Tommy Tit the Chickadee arrived. Each appeared to be intent wholly on his own business, but Peter knew that that business just then was to try to find out what had brought him, Peter, over there. Peter chuckled, but no one heard him chuckle.

Presently Whitefoot the Wood Mouse appeared on the top of the old stump. He passed the time of day with Drummer the Woodpecker, Yank Yank and Tommy Tit, but he kept a watchful eye on Sammy Jay and Blacky the Crow, especially on Blacky. He suspected that a breakfast of tender Wood Mouse would not come amiss to Blacky, and in this he was quite right.

Peter poked his head out from under the little hemlock tree and then hopped out in the most matter-of-fact manner. Whitefoot nodded and disappeared. Then from an old log half hidden in bushes there came a little warbling song. Every one stopped what he happened to be doing and sat perfectly still to listen.

Your Baby and Mine

by MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

Mrs. Eldred will be glad to answer all questions pertaining to babies and children. A stamped and self-addressed envelope forwarded to this office will bring a personal reply.

This department offers leaflets on weaning and feeding the child from 6 weeks to 6 years, prenatal care and diet for the nursing mother, constipation, eczema, outfits for the new baby, sleeping, walking, teething, thumb sucking, ammoniacal urine, bed wetting, training in cleanly habits, periods of nursing, cod liver oil, orange juice, hives, worms, vomiting, refractory children, prune juice, lime water, rupture, styes and boils and cradle cap. Before asking a personal question about one of these subjects, it is better to send a self-addressed stamped envelope for the leaflet you need. If your particular problem is not covered in the above list, Mrs. Eldred will be glad to give you a personal reply.

DON'T TIPTOE ABOUT WHILE BABY SLEEPS

Although the adult is surrounded by noise, habit teaches him to sift out the sounds that are meaningful to him and ignore the rest. The hard-of-hearing person who, after a long silence, begins to make use of an ear trumpet, finds himself confused and made highly nervous by the multitude of sounds which assail his ears. With practice he learns to disregard those that are just noise and to listen only to those with meaning.

The baby is surrounded by a confusion of meaningless sounds. If they are around him constantly he learns to ignore them. Babies sleep under all kinds of conditions and have better sleeping habits when natural sounds are not cut off. We cannot possibly rear a child in a vacuum; we cannot prevent noises no matter how hard we try, so we have to teach children to live and sleep and be happy under the conditions naturally surrounding them.

DON'T MUFFLE SOUNDS

That is why young parents are advised, when baby is young, not to tiptoe about, not to muffle doorbells and telephones, not to so accustom the baby to an unnatural silence that any unexpected noise is terrifying to him. The opposite extreme of creating loud and unnecessary noises would be just as inappropriate.

An unusual experiment in hardening her baby to noise is related by Mrs. E. D. O.: "One of your correspondents wrote of her young baby who was such a light sleeper. So was mine and as she grew older she became more so. Every sound disturbed her, the closing of a door or the snapping of a light.

"When she was a year of age I was desperate and started a campaign to cure her. We are naturally very quiet, but when her nap time or bedtime came we decided to be willfully noisy. I left her door open and we laughed and talked and turned on the radio and, in short, made as much noise as possible. It was quite hard on us, but it worked. I am alone with her all day and really believe I got her into the bad habit by being so quiet.

SLEEPS THROUGH PARTIES

"She is now 2 years of age, sleeps about ten and one-half hours at night and two in the daytime. During a recent party she went to bed at her regular hour, 8 p.m., with all the doors open and not a sound from her. She slept through the hilarity of a Halloween party. Thank you so much for all the help I have had from your writings."

I think it was quite remarkable that you managed to introduce all this noise without upsetting the child in any way. In my opinion it is better not to erect false conditions about the child, but rather to let him get used to the various noises of the household from the very first. Of course, no one method would work with all children. If a baby is ill or is a poor sleeper we can understand the difficulties his mother would encounter in following your procedure.

DATE CULTURE

But Coachella Valley is now in the spotlight, through its wonderful date culture. Dates yield more per acre than any other crop, but dates cost more to cultivate and date culture is rated as a highly specialized industry. As a date tree grows older its productivity increases. It is authoritatively asserted that while some date palms bear fruit in their fourth or fifth year, they do not come into commercial production until six or seven years of age. The representative production per palm of the Deglet Noor, by far the most extensively planted variety in Southern California, and of which plantings a census has been made in the Coachella Valley, is given as seventy-five pounds at six years, 100 pounds at seven years, 150 pounds at eight years and 200 pounds at ten years, when a date farm can be compared to a profitable gold mine. Forty-eight palms are planted to the acre, according to the accepted practice. About ten varieties of dates are produced in the southwest region, each one having its own requirements as to culture.

At this year's prices, the average date return will be about $785 per acre.

A date-growing authority asserts that while the average yield of 10,000 pounds per acre has been announced as possible, the usual or representative yield in the valley from 10-year-old palms and older is nearer 150 pounds per palm, according to reliable growers, thus making the representative acre-yield about 7200 pounds, from which a packing-house shrinkage of 16 per cent must be deducted. Thus for an acre of 10-year-old date-bearing palms there this year, the return would run about $1330 per acre.

In Riverside county, 16,390 acres are devoted to navel orange culture and the crop this year sold for $10,890,000.

Riverside, the capital of Riverside county, is the home, the cradle of the navel (seedless) orange. Away back in 1868—before the flood, as time is reckoned in California—two navel orange trees were planted by Mrs. L. C. Tibbetts in Riverside. Like Adam and Eve, these two trees are the ancestors of the millions of navel orange trees in the great citrus belt of California.

In Low Park in the city of Riverside one of the two parent navel orange trees is still preserved, protected by an iron grill and marked by a bronze tablet.

The Paradise of the Pentateuch exists only in legend, but the paradise of citrus culture is still to be found, in the heart of Riverside county.

OTHER CROPS

While the returns from the orange groves of Riverside county lead all the rest, two-score of other crops are cultivated profitably.

The alfalfa acreage of Riverside, 26,951 acres, produced a crop this year valued at $2,077,024.

Nursery stock, seeds, bulbs and flowers are valued at $2,000,000.

The returns from 3278 acres of lemons sold for $1,590,000. Corona is the greatest lemon-shipping point in the United States.

Onions are no joke in Riverside county. An acreage of 3076 produced a crop this year that sold for about $1,000,000.

There is a great cotton belt in the lowlands of Riverside county. While the price per bale was far below the average, the product of 18,302 acres sold for $747,000.

Grain barley was grown on 58,409 acres, and sold for $665,000.

Apricots, cultivated on 5900 acres, brought to the growers about $492,800.

Dates led, in production values, all the rest. The yield from some 700 acres is valued at $550,000.

About 850 acres are devoted to grapefruit culture, and the returns this year were $540,000.

Potato culture has been reduced to a science in Riverside county. This year's crop from 51,255 acres sold for $284,009.

Tomatoes also figure. The returns from 1020 acres are estimated at $175,000.

Carrots were not overlooked. The yield per acre is an earnest that the acreage will be increased. Returns from 340 acres are valued at $113,000.

These crops are only headliners. The total agricultural yield for 1930 was $26,700,000.

Is it any wonder that the agricultural population in Riverside county is far in excess of urban population, and that it doubles every ten years?

Based on Federal compilations, Riverside county has reached an annual manufacture production of $12,000,000. It is asserted that the largest and most varied fire-clay deposits on the Coast are in this county. The value of Riverside county's mineral production has reached $5,401,860 annually.

The Federal Army aviation training school located at March Field, in Riverside county, has an annual pay roll of $1,024,000; flying equipment is valued at $3,000,000, and $4,000,000 building program.

WATER REPLENISHMENT

Riverside county has some of the best-built and most complete irrigation systems in the State. While many sections obtain their water supply from mountain streams, others pump from the subsoil storage, which is essentially the main source of supply. Along with San Bernardino and Orange counties, Riverside county is deeply interested in plans carried through and under way for the replenishment of the underground water storage through the flood control and conservation of storm waters from the Santa Ana River system and various of its tributaries.

Through subterranean percolation the replenishment of the extensive San Bernardino basin is of direct importance also to Riverside county, as it is to San Bernardino and Orange counties.

The Water Conservation Association, which has a program of such water conservation for these three counties, is, on the 21st inst., to dedicate a $100,000 diversion weir constructed at the mouth of the upper Santa Ana Canyon, easterly of East Highlands, San Bernardino county.

This association has been much encouraged in its efforts by the fact that a large amount of water spread for infiltration in 1922 had a marked effect on the artesian wells during the latter part of 1923-1924 and 1925, during which period there was an average rise of 6.18 feet in the wells under observation, notwithstanding a rainfall below average.

The State of California and the boards of supervisors of the three counties have spent $145,000 on survey of the Santa Ana River and tributaries. The State Engineer's office has prepared plans, it has been announced, for complete flood control and conservation of the storm water of the Santa Ana River, to cost approximately $30,000,000.

The average annual rainfall in Riverside county for thirty-seven years has been 10.828 inches.

MORE LIGHTS ORDERED

HUNTINGTON PARK, Nov. 19.—For the safety of pedestrians during the approaching Christmas-shopping season the City Council has ordered six new electric lights installed along Pacific Boulevard, within the next few days. Four of these additional lights will be at the cross streets and two in the center of two of the longest blocks along the boulevard.

SWIMMERS WILL MEET AT OASIS

Palm Springs Scene of Champ Event

"Buster" Crabbe and Coach Fred Cady

PALM SPRINGS, Nov. 19.—America's greatest swimmers and fanciest divers will gather here on the 30th inst. for the first meet on the winter swimming schedule in Southern California. The event will be the desert championships and the beautiful pool of the El Mirador Hotel will be the scene of action.

Included among contestants will be swimmers and divers who have won glory for America in past Olympic Games. All of them are expected to carry on in the Tenth Olympiad, to be held at Los Angeles in 1932. The El Mirador meet will mark the official opening of the 1930-31 swimming season, expected by experts to be the biggest of history, as all meets are leading up to the Los Angeles Olympiad.

Clarence (Buster) Crabbe, America's greatest swimmer, will feature the men's swimming races. Crabbe had three new American marks accepted at the national convention this week at Washington, and has displaced Johnny Weissmuller as this nation's leading entrant in the Olympiad.

The diving events will bring out five divers who have held national championships. Georgia Coleman, hailed as the greatest feminine fancy diver of all time, and holder of three national titles, will compete, as will Mickey and Johnny Riley, Dutch Smith and Farid Simaika.

Coach Fred Cady of the Los Angeles A.C. has entered his complete men's and women's teams which won the national championships last summer. Other champions will represent the Hollywood Athletic Club, Pacific Coast Club of Long Beach, Lake Norconian Club and Pasadena Athletic and Country Club.

ORANGE SHOW GUESTS JOYFUL

Annual Duck Dinner Told of $135,000,000 Crop

Louis Wolff, President of Institution, Greets Diners

J. B. Gill, Past-President, Acts as Toastmaster

SAN BERNARDINO, Nov. 19.—Celebrating the $135,000,000 citrus crop of 1930 and the prospect of an even greater gain in the industry during the 1930-1931 season, 300 representative Southern California citizens met here tonight at the annual duck dinner of the National Orange Show.

The feast opened the activities for the staging of the twenty-first National Orange Show, February 19 to March 1, inclusive.

At the plate of each guest was placed a huge navel orange of the present season. The salads were composed of other citrus products. As the piece de resistance, each guest was served a deliciously prepared wild duck.

Louis Wolff, president of the twenty-first National Orange Show, greeted the visitors. J. B. Gill, former Lieutenant-Governor of Illinois, and past president of the orange show, was toastmaster. He introduced a number of county and city officials, newspaper men and others. Pledges of co-operation were tendered the directors of the exposition by the representatives of California areas engaged in citrus production, and by industries co-ordinating with the agriculturists. Chamber of Commerce, transportation, publicizing and other development agencies had representatives present.

Feature exhibits at the twenty-first National Orange Show were pledged by Sacramento, Fresno, Los Angeles, Ventura, Riverside, Orange and other counties, as well as by Pomona, Ontario-Upland, Redlands, Pasadena and Southern California cities where the citrus industry ranks high in financial importance.

A special Pacific Electric train brought seventy-five guests from the Los Angeles metropolitan region this afternoon. The group included Chamber of Commerce representatives, railroad executives, newspaper men and public officials.

The program of entertainment consisted of an excellent musical arrangement of singing and dancing by well-known artists.

"Miss Prosperity," when interviewed today, declined to reveal where she has been hiding in recent months. "But now that I have returned to Southern California, I plan to live here for the rest of my life, and I'm not so very old," she confided.

The presentation of the keys on the City Hall steps tomorrow will take place after a prosperity parade through the city streets, staged by the Junior Chamber of Commerce as the climax of that organization's campaign to run Old Man Hard Times and Jane Calamity out of town.

CONSTABLE IN LIVELY BATTLE

Knocked Down, Trampled and Dog Set Upon Him

Police Matron Armed With Flashlight Enters Fray

But Lawndale Officer Jail Two Brothers at Last

LAWNDALE, Nov. 19.—Marion Snyder, local constable, came out victor, with some help, in a lively tussle with two men whom he was attempting to take into custody, after one of the men had knocked him down twice, trampled on him, and finally set a police dog on him.

The officer, accompanied by Mrs. Mollie Fink, matron from the Inglewood constable's office, had answered a riot call to a house at 3932 East Raymond avenue where Emil Anderson and his wife, and a brother, Walter Anderson, were reported to be drunk and engaged in a family squabble.

Snyder, when he entered the house, moved the lapel of his coat to show his badge of authority, and, while his attention was attracted to the badge, he went down before a hard right to his jaw planted by Walter Anderson, he asserts. More blows were exchanged on both sides, the Andersons downing the officer twice and calling a police dog to help in the affray, the constable declared. The men were finally beaten off by the police matron armed with a flashlight.

They were arraigned before Judge A. F. Munroe of Inglewood on charges of drunk and disturbing the peace. Walter Anderson entered a plea of guilty and his brother will make his plea on Saturday morning. Mrs. Anderson was not held.

The State federation's resolution against marathon dancing was approved by the convention at its first reading.

A report of the membership committee revealed there were 101 clubs in the southern district, with a total membership of 3686.

CRAFTON'S ORCHARDS PROFITABLE

Returns to Growers This Season $112,000 More Than for Previous One

CRAFTON, Nov. 19.—David De Roo, manager of the Crafton Mutual Orange Orchards Packing Company, reported at the annual meeting today that during the past season a total of $301,429 had been distributed among the growers of the association for the 185 cars of their citrus fruit shipped the past season.

This amount was $112,000 more than was returned the preceding season for a total of 250 cars of citrus fruit shipped through the house, the difference being made up in better prices. The refund alone amounted to $20,000 on packing charges.

The packing-house returned to the growers the following for each 100 pounds of fruit named: For Coachella Valley grapefruit, $4.81; for Washington navels, $5.05; for Valencias, $6.75; local grapefruit, $6.09, and for odd varieties, such as sweets, seedlings, bloods, $7.27.

De Roo said that there would be 230 cars shipped by the house the coming season. Officers and directors elected are H. H. Ford, Jr., president; E. D. Patterson, vice-president; E. W. Ginsel, secretary; A. D. Knight and R. L. Cranmer, directors. De Roo was re-elected manager.

Scion of Old Spanish Family of Pomona Dies

POMONA, Nov. 19.—Funeral services were conducted here today for Miss Agnes Maria Carrico, native daughter and resident of this city for twenty-one years, who died at her home, 2030 North Garey avenue, Sunday, following an illness of three years.

The services, a requiem high mass, were conducted this morning at St. Joseph's Catholic Church, with Rev. Fr. O'Connell officiating. The body lay in state at the chapel of the Hotchkiss Funeral Home until just before the funeral. Rosary was said on Monday and Tuesday evenings at the funeral home.

Miss Carrico was a member of one of the old Spanish families in this vicinity, her parents having located here before Pomona was named. Although she had been ill for three years, the illness became critical only a few days ago. She had taken an active interest in welfare of orphan children up until the time her health necessitated her giving up the work.

She was born at La Verne February 5, 1888, the daughter of the late Saturnino Carrico and Mrs. Dolores Carrico, who died May 17 of this year.

She leaves three sisters, Miss Louisa and Miss Josefa Carrico, both of the foregoing address, Mrs. Rosa Carrico De Vejor, La Verne Road, and a nephew, Francisco Carrico, 2030 North Garey avenue. Miss Carrico was a member of St. Joseph's Catholic Church.

Cities to Discuss New Ordinance

ONTARIO, Nov. 19.—Thursday at 1:30 p.m. representatives from six San Bernardino county cities will gather at the City Hall here to discuss a subdivision ordinance drafted by the County Planning Commission and submitted to individual cities for adoption. The discussion will center on revision of the county ordinance to make it applicable to all the cities of the county. If it is so revised it will be adopted and put in force throughout the county, it is intimated.

The proposed ordinance would govern restrictions in subdivisions, and would set forth methods of preparing subdivision maps in the county.

Cities to be represented at Ontario will be Chino, Colton, Redlands, San Bernardino, Upland and Ontario.

BURBANK SYMPHONY ELECTS

BURBANK, Nov. 19.—Mrs. Grace Lovejoy was elected president of the Burbank Symphony Orchestra, which is now entering its fifth season, at the annual election here. 'Tahquitz' Play Next Week-end

PALM SPRINGS, Nov. 19.—An all-day program of dress rehearsals Friday will mark final preparations for the closing presentations of the 1930 Desert Play, "Tahquitz," scheduled for this Saturday and Sunday afternoons in a natural amphitheater at the outskirts of this city.

As advance reservations promise a record crowd coming from Los Angeles to view the spectacular outdoor drama, Director Phil Whiting and the entire cast of more than 100 are seeking to give the finest performance of which they are capable. Wallace MacDonald, stage and screen star, and Dolores Brown, ingenue of footlights and films, will portray the romantic roles, supported by well-known thespians and townspeople of the desert resort.

Man Wires Wife of His 'Death;' Now He's Jailed

SAN DIEGO, Nov. 19.—John A. King, 29 years of age, is in the City Jail today, feeling quite blue over his own "death."

He was arrested this morning after having wired his wife, Gladys King, in Salt Lake City, informing her under the name of Harry Etzel that he had died at Ensenada, Mex.

In the wire to Mrs. King, "Etzel" asked that money be forwarded to a downtown hotel here to defray cost of handling the body and funeral expenses. Mrs. King became suspicious of the wire. She said her husband had deserted her several years ago and she decided to turn the telegram over to Salt Lake police for investigation. Detective Sergeant George Cooley called at the hotel where the money was to be delivered to "Etzel." He found King instead, quite alive, and arrested him. Police are holding King pending instructions from Salt Lake authorities.

Orange County Pioneer Dies in Santa Ana

SANTA ANA, Nov. 19.—Alfred E. Hawley, 83-year-old pioneer citizen of Santa Ana and Orange county, died today after an illness which began several years ago.

Coming to this city from Cambridge, Vt., in 1847, Hawley started a gun store and later enlarged the business to make it a leader of its kind in the county. Hawley was always interested in sports and at one time numbered such famous athletes as Walter Johnson and "Chick" Gandil on his Santa Ana baseball team. In 1926 he retired from business and turned the management of his store over to his son, Otto J. Hawley.

Besides his widow, who is seriously ill at the Hawley home, the pioneer leaves two sons, Otto Hawley and Ralph S. Hawley, of this city, and one daughter, Mrs. Arlene E. Jasper of Newport Beach. Funeral arrangements have not been completed.

INGLEWOOD KIWANIANS WIN BELL

Traveling Trophy, Given for Best Attendance at Convention, Awarded Club

INGLEWOOD, Nov. 19.—Local Kiwanians are glorying in their achievement of winning the "traveling bell" of the California-Nevada district of Kiwanis clubs, this trophy going each year to the club sending the greatest number of Kiwanians the greatest distance to the district convention. The convention this year was held at Oakland and twenty-two local Kiwanians and their wives attended, according to Dr. Leslie B. Curtis, president of the club in this city.

In addition to this number thirty-five members of the Inglewood Boys' Band also attended, making the trip as a publicity feature for this city by playing concerts in all the principal cities en route.

The name of the local club will be engraved on the bell along with its former winners and will be in possession of the Kiwanis Club here until next year, when the convention will be held in Pasadena and will again go to the club bringing the greatest delegation the greatest distance. I. M. (Scotty) Jonathan, past president of the local club, is given much credit for mustering the large turnout of the organization at the convention.

BANKER TELLS OF TRIP TO RUSSIA

VAN NUYS, Nov. 19.—John T. Cooper, vice-president of the Security-First National Bank of Los Angeles, gave a talk on "Soviet Russia" at the monthly meeting of the San Fernando Valley Bankers' Association held at El Vaquero Saddle Club on Van Nuys Boulevard. Cooper recently returned from a tour through Europe which included a visit to Russia.

Mayor Delevan of Manhattan Asks to Resign

MANHATTAN, Nov. 19.—The resignation of Mayor George E. Delevan, Jr., which has been in the hands of City Clerk Merritt J. Crandall since September 18, last, will be before the City Council tomorrow night, it was made known tonight. It was not made public or acted upon before this time, the officials say, in the hope that it might be reconsidered.

Removal to his new Los Angeles home at 912 South Windsor Boulevard is given by Delevan, who practices law in Los Angeles, as the reason for the resignation.

A petition asking his recall from office being circulated by the Taxpayers' Protective Association as the outcome of the proposed zoning ordinance, has not been brought to his attention except by hear-say, Delevan said tonight, and is not a factor in his resignation.

He has been Mayor here for more than six years and is also president of the Board of Trustees of the Redondo Union High School district, a post he has held for a number of years.

WOMAN'S PURSE STOLEN

HUNTINGTON PARK, Nov. 19.—Mrs. Vivian Rush, residing on Stafford street, placed her pocketbook in one of the rooms at her home early in the evening, and was absent for a few minutes. On her return she discovered the purse had been stolen. It contained $60. Next morning she found the pocketbook in the rear of the yard at her home. All the money was removed with the exception of $2.

LIFELESS "BODY" MOSTLY HEAD

Detective Sergeant Warwick of Glendale Speeds to Scene of Supposed Gangster Murder; Discovers Bust of Omar Khayyam Reposing on Lawn

GLENDALE, Nov. 19.—Business in the detective bureau was dull and Sergt. R. E. Warwick was idly thumbing over some old reports and wishing that his tour of duty would end soon, when the desk sergeant put through a call that brought Warwick out of his dreams and set him to pawing himself over to see that all his artillery and other equipment was in place.

"A gang of men," squealed a voice over the wire, "has just thrown a body out on the lawn at 1306 East Windsor Road and driven off in an automobile."

"I'll be right down," said Warwick, and hastened out to grab a police car and speed shrieking through the streets toward the scene of what promised to relieve the tedium of the night watch.

Sure enough, on the lawn of the R. G. Lass residence a ghostly form reposed, dimly lit by the rays from a near-by street light. Warwick flashed his torch on the supposed cadaver and then switched it off with a disappointed exclamation that bordered on the peevish.

Staring up at him from the grass was a plaster cast of Omar Khayyam that had been removed from a warehouse in the 800 block on Los Angeles street and that had, Warwick later ascertained, been transported to the Lass lawn by a group of students who had scrawled the name of one of their classmates on the statue.

Warwick, an unrelenting foe and nemesis of Wright-law violators, never had much use for the bibulous tent-maker, anyhow.

DUCK DINNER LIKE MANNA

Bewildered Bird Drops Dead in Automobile of Burbank Man

BURBANK, Nov. 19.—While driving his auto on San Fernando Boulevard at Magnolia avenue, in the heart of the business district of Burbank, Robert De Violina of 911 North Cypress avenue, was injured by a wild duck, which bewildered by lights, crashed into the auto's windshield.

De Violina's head was severely cut by the broken glass. The impact killed the fowl and it fell into the car.

The injured man was conveyed to the emergency hospital for treatment. De Violina had roast wild duck for his dinner today.

JOB SUGGESTIONS GIVEN

Orange County Supervisors Told Balance in Highway Fund Could Be Used to Provide Employment

SANTA ANA, Nov. 19.—Definite recommendations as to how the Orange county government could assist in remedying the present unemployment and business depression were submitted today by Will Shea of Cypress, who appeared before the Supervisors at their regular meeting. Shea called attention to the comfortable unexpended balance in the various road funds that could be used at this time for cleaning up and beautifying highways in the county, effecting their minor repairs, and other improvements. He also suggested that inside paint jobs of public buildings, if needed, be done at this time.

By rushing all possible improvement projects for which funds are available, the county government would set a good example to the various city governments, Shea observed, voicing the belief that the lead would be followed by the various public service corporations, packing-houses and individual home owners.

Decision to institute necessary proceedings and to go ahead with the construction of a subway under the Southern Pacific and the Santa Fe tracks on East Fourth street, at an estimated cost of $150,000, was reached at a conference meeting of the City Council at the City Hall.

City Engineer Clyde Jenken announced the completion of all engineering data bearing upon the project, and it was suggested that City Attorney Charles D. Swanner bring in a resolution of intention for the meeting, set for next Monday.

Under a decision of the State Railroad Commission, through the formation of an assessment district, it will bear 90 per cent of the cost; 7 1-2 per cent by the Santa Fe Railroad, and 2 1-2 per cent by the Southern Pacific.

The subway would facilitate the flow of through traffic over East Fourth street, and also take care of traffic that may be diverted over a proposed extension of Santa Ana Boulevard across the east section of the city at some future time.

Reaching the pool nearly a block away, Mrs. File took one glance, saw an occasional bubble ripple the surface, and plunged in.

Ten minutes later, when the fire department's inhalator squad had succeeded in saving Juney Boy, the baby reached over and said:

"Tse cold, mama."

HARBOR FUNDS PLAN SPEEDED

Conference on Breakwater Will Be Held

Introduction of Measure by Evans to Be Sought

Million or Two Wanted to Start Work Now

To speed work on the Los Angeles $7,000,000 breakwater extension as rapidly as possible, President Allen of the Harbor Commission, Assistant City Attorney Harris and Harbor Engineer Nicholson will confer this morning with Representative Evans, member of the House Rivers and Harbor Committee, on a proposal to introduce a bill to obtain a portion of the appropriation at once.

ASSURANCES GIVEN

The proposal is to obtain $1,000,000 or $2,000,000 of the amount appropriated by Congress several months ago but which will not be available until next year. With this money it is proposed to start actual construction on the breakwater and by the time it is used up the remainder of the appropriation will be available.

Harris and Nicholson, who were sent to Washington by the Harbor Board to urge speeding up of the breakwater extension and dredging program, returned yesterday morning and made a verbal report.

They found no obstruction to early starting of the harbor improvements except delay in obtaining the appropriation money. They told the board of Army engineers informed them it had no idea of delaying the work by placing the improvement in Class AAA, instead of AA or A.

NO RED TAPE

The delegation was informed that while Class A provides for immediate construction, and Class AA comes next in line, with Class AAA being work which may be delayed, it is simply a book-keeping system to designate the status of the work. He said the engineers stated there is no red tape blocking the starting of the breakwater extension and dredging.

The delegation called on President Hoover and found him fully informed on Los Angeles Harbor matters and anxious that the improvement should be speeded up as rapidly as possible, both in view of the unemployment situation and the need for early completion of the project, delay in which is holding up public and private development of the port.

LECTURES FOR ADULTS

A series of lectures on adult education was announced yesterday by the Central Public Library. The first will be given December 3, next, by Dr. Ernest W. Tiegs, dean, university college, University of Southern California. His subject is "The Nature and Function of Adult Education."

BOW-DE VOE ACT OFF STAGE

Curtain Drawn When Grand Jury Yawns and Puts Consideration Aside to Indefinite Date

With the indefinite postponement of the proposed investigation by the county grand jury into the row between Clara Bow, screen actress, and her former secretary, Daisy De Voe, it was freely predicted in Hollywood yesterday that the matter in all probability will not come up again before the inquisitorial body.

While those at the District Attorney's office said yesterday the investigation was put over to permit further investigation of Miss Bow's charges against Miss De Voe, it was learned from an authoritative source that the actress is reluctant to appear as a witness.

In the first place, Miss Bow refused to sign a complaint contemplated by Dist.-Atty. Fitts charging Miss De Voe with grand theft. On her refusal Fitts declared to take the case before the grand jury and this hearing, first scheduled for Tuesday, was at that time postponed until today. Yesterday indefinite postponement was announced by the District Attorney's office. No witnesses have been placed under subpoena.

The reason for Clara's apparent indisposition to appear before the grand jury to testify against her former secretary could not be ascertained from her yesterday, as she said she had been instructed not to talk further concerning the case. Her attorney, W. I. Gilbert, had no comment to make and Fitts was not reached for a statement.

Miss De Voe now has on file against Miss Bow, Fitts and members of his investigating staff a suit in which she seeks to recover articles of jewelry and $140 cash and $5000 damages for the asserted illegal seizure of these articles from her safe-deposit box in a Hollywood bank.

Science Ritual Marks Funeral for Aged Texan

Funeral services for Mrs. Elizabeth Nelson Kinchlow, 84 years of age, mother-in-law of William R. Fraser, general manager of the Harold Lloyd Corporation, who died at her home in Hollywood last Monday, were conducted after the Christian Science ritual yesterday at the Leroy Bagley funeral chapel in Hollywood. Burial followed in Forest Lawn Memorial Park.

Mrs. Kinchlow, one of the pioneer women of Dallas, Tex., where she was born, came to Los Angeles five years ago. She leaves four daughters, Mrs. William R. Fraser, Mrs. O. Pittman of Kansas City, Mrs. Sue Wheeler of Breckenridge, Tex., and Mrs. Barbara Dougherty of Hollywood, and a son, Dr. George McC. Nelson of Denver.

The pool and accessories also will be inspected in the evening, in connection with the dinner and other events for alumni, prior to the annual Occidental-Pomona football game Saturday at the Rose Bowl.

FAILURE TO LOCATE HEIR OVERCOME

Mrs. Elsie Jepson Estate Divided Among Kinsfolk in Court Contest

Inability of the German Postoffice Department, noted for its efficiency, to locate one Johanna Baatz, in Kiel, and deliver a letter addressed to her as Johanna Bartz, did not prevent approval of a contract of settlement in the contest to the will of Mrs. Elise Jepson, one of whose sisters was Frau Baatz.

Three other sisters and one brother retained the law firm of Pacht, Pelton & Warne to contest the will, which left all the testator's $30,000 estate to Harry Marks, 38-year-old companion of Mrs. Jepson.

Mrs. Jepson committed suicide shortly after making her will, it was disclosed in the course of legal proceedings, which followed an attempt to probate the will.

By the terms of the settlement, approved by Superior Judge Crail, Marks receives $5000 and the rest of the estate goes to Rudolph Hansen, Mrs. Bertha Kraemer, Mrs. Leitha Reynold and the Mathilde Bachen. The settlement was signed by all these heirs, with the exception of Mrs. Baatz. Marks was represented by Attorney Julius Smidt.

Bank Building Plans Release $420,000 Here

The Bank of America yesterday announced a building program calling for the expenditure of $420,000 in Los Angeles and vicinity as part of a plan calling for a total expenditure of $1,500,000 in fourteen communities between Chico in the upper Sacramento Valley to San Diego. Projects either contemplated or under way in the Los Angeles district are:

New building, Hollywood Boulevard and Wilcox avenue, $200,000; addition to present structure, Pine and Broadway, Long Beach, $125,000; new branch, Wilshire Boulevard and La Brea avenue, $75,000; remodeling present banking rooms, Beverly Hills branch, and Commercial National Bank, Los Angeles Hotel, $20,000.

Court Rewards Wife's Patience

Vainly she waited five years for her husband to reform and let liquor alone, Mrs. Effa McDonald testified yesterday in asking a divorce from Robert McDonald.

"But he didn't, and now he is in an Idaho jail, convicted on a Federal charge of bootlegging," added the wife.

"Five years is long enough, especially when he's been convicted of bootlegging in that time," agreed Superior Judge Yankwich, granting the wife a decree.

TRIBUTES PAID TO ROSENKRANZ

Two Thousand Attend Last Rites for Jurist

Judge Stafford Cites Story of Eventful Life

Rabbi Magnin Adds Words of High Praise

With more than 2000 persons attending, including hundreds of ex-service men and members of the legal profession, funeral services for Judge Elias V. Rosenkranz, who died last Monday as the result of an automobile accident, were conducted yesterday at Hollywood American Legion clubhouse. Rabbi E. F. Magnin officiated.

Reciting briefly the story of the eventful life of Judge Rosenkranz, Judge Stafford paid high tribute to the memory of his friend, who, he said, was a friend of all humanity and especially of those who, because of weakness and poverty, stand ever in need of assistance and sympathy.

FINE QUALITIES CITED

Speaking for the American Legion, of which Judge Rosenkranz was an esteemed member and official, Judge Stafford called attention to those qualities of courage, patience and kindliness possessed by Judge Rosenkranz and which endeared him to the hearts of the people.

"Judge Rosenkranz was a lovable comrade, a good lawyer and a good judge mainly because of his humanitarian qualities," said Judge Stafford. "With pure heart and clean hands, he faithfully discharged all public trusts and for the lowly and unfortunate he had unbounded sympathy."

"If true patriotism includes a willingness to live as well as to die for one's country, Judge Rosenkranz was a patriot of which the American Legion may indeed be proud," said Dr. Magnin. "A good husband and a father, an upright judge, loyal to his race, his religion and the land of his adoption, a lover of the beautiful and the true, he stands out as an ideal American and an ideal man.

CAREER OF USEFULNESS

"The best things in life are not to be measured by time, fame or financial success," said Dr. Magnin. "Brief was the career of our departed friend but in his two score years he crowded a century of usefulness to his fellow - beings demonstrating those intangible but real and glorious qualities of spirit which shall make his memory 'smell sweet and blossom in the dust.'"

Following a prayer by Rabbi Julius Leibert, chaplain of Hollywood Post, No. 43, American Legion, and the sounding of taps by H. D. Ross, the flag-covered casket was carried through the throng and taken to a mausoleum at Hollywood Cemetery.

In honor of the memory of Judge Rosencranz, all divisions of the Municipal court were adjourned at 11:45 a.m. yesterday.

At a meeting of the Los Angeles Bar Association last night resolutions of respect and regret over the death of Judge Rosenkranz was adopted. The resolutions were drawn and presented by Thomas L. Ambrose, Carl A. Stutsman and Henry M. Willis.

COURT FIGHT OVER CHILD CONTINUES

Pasadena Pastor Asserts Mother Clothes Girl and Does Not Neglect Her

Contradicting testimony that Mrs. Mazie E. Creighton Bulloch neglected her daughter Elaine, and let the child run unclad, several Pasadena neighbors yesterday testified in Superior Judge Price's court that the mother took good care of the little girl. George Bulloch, Jr., who obtained an annulment of their marriage in 1925, is seeking custody of Elaine, born after he and his wife separated.

Rev. Charles C. Waterman of the Holiness mission, Pasadena, was put on the stand by Attorney Caroline Kellogg, for the wife. The preacher testified that Elaine was sent to Sunday-school, and appeared there properly clad and clean.

"Is your church a Holy Rollers church?" asked Attorney Isidore Morris, for Bulloch.

"No. We do some shouting but no rolling," smiled the minister. He said he is the father of several girls, and is a judge of the care of children.

Dr. Rose Bower testified that, in her opinion, Mrs. Bulloch is sane, but has suffered a nervous breakdown. The case will continue.

FIVE-DAY WEEK PROPOSED

Reduction in Time and Pay Advocated by Civic Leaders in Meeting on Unemployment

A five-day week with five days pay was advocated by labor and civic leaders at the meeting held yesterday at the Hall of Records, called by Frank L. Shaw, head of the charities department of the Board of Supervisors, to meet the unemployment situation here.

Some of the speakers also were of the belief that if needed repairs to buildings, houses and factories were started at once, much would be accomplished in the way of meeting the problem.

At the close of the session Supervisor Shaw announced he will today appoint a county-wide committee composed of twenty members to co-operate with the one of fifty persons recently organized by Gov. Young for the State. The county committee will also co-operate with ones from the city and big civic organizations now busy endeavoring to solve the unemployment problem in Los Angeles county.

Many of the speakers present were of the belief that one of the chief causes of the unemployment situation at present is because of overproduction.

"We believe that this can be met," said Harvey C. Fleming of Long Beach, president of the Long Beach Central Labor Council, "by cutting the time of the week, but not the day's pay. By prorating the work we believe that much can be done in relieving the unemployment situation."

The same plan was advocated by Supervisor Shaw in an interview the day before and will probably be presented to the new county-wide committee.

Mrs. C. Watson was applauded when she declared it her belief that if married women were dropped from the pay rolls in cases where she and her husband both are working, much could be done toward relieving the unemployment situation.

ARLETT, MILITANT EDITOR OF "DAILY CALIFORNIAN," "FIRED"

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 19. (Exclusive)—Arthur Arlett, militant editor of the Daily Californian, whose editorials in the student publication, stirred up all the fuss over the alleged subsidization of football players on Pacific Coast Conference teams, was removed from his office tonight by the executive committee of the Associated Students of the University of California.

Fighting the ouster, Arlett declared after the meeting that the executive committee does not possess the power to dismiss him and that he is still in office. With the determined declaration that "I am still editor," Arlett cited the constitution of the A.S.U.C. that any official act of the executive committee requires a referendum calling for a vote of 10 per cent of the members of the association.

Frederick Hotz was appointed as editor and until the return of Mr. Hotz Will Calkins, managing editor, will perform the duties of editor.

MRS. GREGG LIFUR UPSET IN FIRST ROUND OF CITY WOMEN'S CHAMPIONSHIP

BY EDWARD LAWRENCE

Whew! What's going to happen next!

Mrs. E. C. Berg of Oakmont, physical education teacher of Glendale, and a dark horse if there ever was such a critter, defeated Mrs. Gregg Lifur of Riviera, 1 up on the twenty-first hole yesterday to score the prize upset of the year in the first round of the 1930 Los Angeles city women's championship at Griffith Park.

MRS. ROY GREEN

And a dinky two-foot putt, one of those kind you tap in with the back of your club, was the obstacle on which Mrs. Lifur stubbed her toe.

All the tea in China would have been a paltry bet to have laid on Mrs. Lifur against Mrs. Berg, who was expected to win long before the eighteenth green was in sight.

But Mrs. Berg, after qualifying on Tuesday with a 98 against Mrs. Lifur's medal-winning 84, waged a sensational battle. Both had medal scores of 84 yesterday and Mrs. Lifur was forced to rally several times to carry the match extra holes.

Mrs. Berg put on the pressure at the seventeenth when she won the hole with a 4 to go 1 up. Mrs. Lifur played the eighteenth perfectly, getting on in three and down in two putts for a 5 to square the match. Nineteen and twenty were halved in 4's.

The twenty-first furnished the climax when Mrs. Lifur lost the hole she should have won by every right. Both had fine drives down the middle with Mrs. Lifur out in front. Mrs. Berg banged her second out of bounds and her third was short of Mrs. Lifur's brassie second, which stopped twenty-five yards short of the green. The Oakmont golfer's approach was topped, but it rolled to within five feet of the cup. Mrs. Lifur's approach was brisk, the

BEAVERS DUE FOR GRID GAME

Oregon State College Team Arrives This Morning

Northwest Squad Battles Bruins Tomorrow Night

Westwood Players Drill on Passing Formations

BY FRANK ROCHE

Those Busy Beavers from Oregon State College, who upset the applecart of Oregon University last Saturday, arrive here this morning thirty-six strong for their game tomorrow night at the Coliseum with the U. C. L. A. Bruins of Westwood. Oregon State, because of its showing against the Oregon Webfooters, coached by "Doc" Spears, will rule heavy favorites to spank Uncle William Spaulding's Bruins lustily when the two teams tangle on Zack Farmer's carefully nursed greensward.

EDDIE SOLOMON.

The Bruins were defeated by Oregon University, 7 to 0. The Staters trounced Spears's outfit, 15 to 0. If comparative scores mean anything the Beavers should win over the Bruins almost as they please. But, and there is a big "but" in it, the Oregon State team won from Oregon with Kitzmiller, the big star of the Webfoot attack, on the sidelines for most of the game. On the other hand, Kitzmiller played one of his best games against the Bruins. He was the spark plug who engineered the only touchdown of the game. If he had not been on the injured list perhaps the Staters might have been up against a different proposition and the score might have been somewhat different.

But, at any rate, the Beavers won, upsetting the dope, and

CANNELL PICKS DARTMOUTH SQUAD FOR STANFORD TRIP

HANOVER (N. H.) Nov. 19.—Jackson Cannell today picked a squad of thirty-eight men who will make the trip to Stanford and this Dartmouth football unit will leave here Friday noon for the west coast. Pre-eminent among those chosen to make the trip were Arne Frigard, Stan Yudicky, and Len Clark, all of whom have been out of action on account of injuries. Frigard is still in the hospital with an infected foot and Yudicky was using a cane today, but the fact that they were chosen seems to indicate that they may possibly get into the game. Those making the trip were as follows:

OXY WORKS ON DEFENSE

Tigers Scrimmage Against Pomona Plays in Prep for Annual Grid Contest Saturday

While Pomona is working away out at Claremont to perfect an offense, Occidental will be busy tonight in a defense scrimmage against Sagehen formations. Both these rivals, of over thirty years' standing, wind up heavy workouts with these sessions and will taper off tomorrow afternoon with light exercise to conclude training before the big game slated for Saturday afternoon in the Rose Bowl.

Working with his charges to produce an offensive worthy of the name, Eugene Nixon, veteran Claremont mentor, expects to surprise Eddie Klenhole's Tigers with a drive speedy and powerful enough to walk off with the fray. Displaying the repertory usual to Sagehen teams of the past, the Pomona eleven of 1930 has gone through the forms, but lacked the punch of former years.

COACH ED. KLEINHOLZ

Potentially good material gives Nixon an equal advantage with the Oxy coach in planning an attack. Capt. Al Putnam, quarterback, carries the ball nicely and passes accurately. Bob Baynham and Hal Hager, starting halfbacks, are dependable ground gainers. Hager is one of the Sagehens' best punters. Murdy, fullback, leads the interference well and takes over the major portion of the kicking duties.

Short end runs, off-tackle plays and short, snappy forward passes constitute the principal weapons of Nixon's offensive machine. The Claremont eleven has the necessary equipment to match the Bengal assault, but so far this season the works have failed to operate.

Freshman teams of the two institutions will stage a "little big game" preliminary to the main encounter of the older brothers under the moleskin. Holding two wins and no losses in conference play, "Fuzz" Merritt's Sagechicks are favored to win and so cinch a tie with the La Verne babes for the frosh title. Malcolm McDonald's Tiger Cubs have upset the Engineer freshmen and may do as much for the Pomona peagreeners.

Al Rodi and Ralph Hing, fullback and tackle, respectively, co-captains of the Blue and White yearlings, are outstanding on Merritt's team. MacAllister, quarter; Ferguson, tackle, and Macnuca, end, are the highlights on the Oxy squad.

INVITATION FOR CLASH IS SENT TO ST. MARY'S

BY BRAVEN DYER

Coming forward in a commendable manner to aid the unemployment situation, the University of Southern California last night sent an official invitation to St. Mary's College of Moraga, Cal., to play a post-season game in the Los Angeles Coliseum, December 20, next, for the benefit of an unemployment relief fund in this city.

Due to the fact that the St. Mary's squad is now en route home from the East, no official acceptance could be received from northern officials last night, but it is felt that Louis Lefebre, graduate manager of the Moraga institution, will readily agree to the game.

EDWARD "SLIP" MADIGAN

Funds derived from the game will be administered by a joint committee representing the city and county of Los Angeles, the local Chamber of Commerce and the Community Chest.

Following a meeting of the University of Southern California athletic council last night, the following invitation was extended to St. Mary's, the communication being addressed to Louis Lefebre, graduate manager of the northern institution:

"In view of the drastic conditions of unemployment now prevailing and the need for public funds to meet the situation, the University of Southern California is issuing an invitation to St. Mary's College of Moraga, Cal., to play a football game in the Los Angeles Coliseum December 20 for the benefit of an unemployment relief fund in Los Angeles.

"It is against the policy of the university to play post-season games, but because of the extremity of the circumstances regarding the unemployment situation, which has been brought to our attention through representative civic and relief organizations of the community, the university believes that it is fitting to stage such a contest.

ANNUAL "BIG GAMES" JUST FORCE OF HABIT WITH FOOTBALL PUBLIC

BY BILL HENRY

That great motivating force in human activity known as the "force of habit" will be demonstrated this coming Saturday, when the so-called football teams of many college rivals of long standing, commit assault and battery upon one another in various parts of the country.

Harvard meets Yale. Stanford meets California. Occidental meets Pomona. Those are just a few examples—but they're good ones.

No championships are at stake. Winning or losing makes absolutely no difference to the world at large. All have been whipped by sundry upstart organizations.

Quite naturally you ask, "Why play at all?"

And the answer is, "Force of habit."

Long-haired, bewhiskered, heavily padded and highly incensed undergraduates of these institutions engaged in gridiron warfare before this century was born. Harvard and Yale have been at it for fifty years, Stanford and California for forty and Occidental and Pomona for well over thirty. They play whether anybody else cares or not.

Apparently some folks do care. You can't get into the Yale-Harvard game unless your paw and his paw all went there and have kept up their alumni dues ever since. The mere fact that Harvard has been bumped off by pretty nearly

AMATEUR MITT SLINGERS COLLIDE

Simon Pure Boxers Battle for Fun and Medals at Olympic in Biggest Tournament Ever Staged West of the Mississippi; More Bouts Tonight

BY FRANK ROCHE

Following a gruelling evening of contests which lasted to the wee small hours of the morning, amateur boxing stars await the gong tonight at the Olympic in the final round of the simon-pure tournament sponsored by the Los Angeles Athletic Club. Last night's program brought more than 100 young mitt flingers into action.

LIEUTENANT COMMANDER KENWORTHY

Most of the boys who performed were newcomers to the amateur picture here. The tournament which the Mercury Club is backing for the purpose of building up material for the 1932 Olympic Games was a pronounced success from the standpoint of entries. It was by far the biggest boxing tournament ever staged this side of the Mississippi.

The thumping of boxing gloves began at 8 o'clock sharp last evening. At an early hour this morning the boys who take medals as their reward for efforts in the prize ring were still at it in an effort to get in the finals. The amateurs may not take anything as a reward outside of medals but some of them certainly took plenty of punishment last night.

There was action in every class from the tiny flyweights to the ponderous heavyweights.

Following an examination in the afternoon by State physicians the boxers reported to Charley Keppen and promptly at 8 o'clock the tournament began.

Lieutenant - Commander (Duke) Kenworthy and Lieut. Jack Kennedy of the Navy refereed. Ernie Clark and Snowy Baker were the judges.

The best crowd in years to witness an amateur affair was on hand, close to 4000 witnessing the battles. Quite a number of sporting celebrities were ringside as well as a host of moving-picture stars.

DAWSON, COLEMAN TIE IN BOURNE GOLD BALL EVENT

Holing a mashie chip approach from the edge of the eighteen green for a birdie 3, Johnny Dawson of New York tied Fay Coleman of the California Country Club for the A. K. Bourne gold ball trophy with a thirty-six-hole total of 144 at the Pasadena municipal course yesterday afternoon.

Dawson was three strokes back of Coleman coming to the seventeenth green with the Southern California amateur champion considered a cinch to win, but the brilliant eastern amateur holed a long putt for a birdie 2 at the short seventeenth and then finished with a birdie to get a tie. Dawson registered a 70 and Coleman a 73.

Dawson and Coleman will play off for the trophy 1:15 Sunday afternoon. They will play in a three-some with A. K. Bourne.

Low net also resulted in a tie, Harry B. Wesbrook of Annandale, 148-6—142; Billy Jack of Girard, 150-8—142, and George Sperry, 156-14—142, being deadlocked for the silver ball. They will also play off Sunday.

The golf played yesterday at Pasadena surpassed anything seen on local links for some time. Coleman was out in 33, three under perfect figures to take a five-stroke lead over Dawson, but dropped it all by scoring a 40 coming in. Fay went completely haywire, missing several greens and three putting a couple of others.

HARMONY REIGNS WHILE A.A.U. FINISHES WORK

BY TED VOSBURGH

Associated Press Sports Writer

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19. (AP)—On the scene of the "battle of Washington" of four years ago between the Amateur Athletic Union and the National Collegiate Athletic Associations, the two organizations buried their differences today and unanimously elected Avery Brundage, head of the A.A.U., to the presidency of the American Olympic Association.

In an atmosphere of harmony and concerted effort that augured well for the success of the United States in the 1932 Olympic Games, the A.O.A., in quadrennial session, laid all the groundwork for America's participation at Los Angeles and Lake Placid.

A new constitution framed with the co-operation of the presidents of the A.A.U. and the N.C.A.A., was adopted without a dissenting voice.

GETS OFFICES

The A.A.U. got most of the important offices today, but nobody seemed to care. Dr. Charles W. Kennedy of Princeton University, president of the N.C.A.A., was made vice-president; Frederick W. Rubien of New York, member of the A.A.U., was re-elected secretary, and George W. Graves of Detroit, another A.A.U. man, was chosen treasurer, all without opposition.

The title of president emeritus was bestowed upon Dr. Graeme M. Hammond, the retiring president.

The new constitution, presented by Gustavus T. Kirby of New York as chairman of the constitution revision committee, indicated in detail how much voice the various sport-governing bodies in the country will have in conducting Olympic affairs, and was hailed as a distinct advance.

Among the developments of the one-day session were:

The rejection of an application for membership from the Rocky Mountain Conference on the ground its colleges permit their athletes to play semiprofessional baseball; the admission of the Missouri Valley Intercollegiate Athletic Association, called the "Big Six" and the rejection of an application from the Ohio High School Athletic Association because it was felt there is no place in the A.O.A. for a scholastic organization.

Optimistic reports were received concerning the number of foreign athletes to be represented at the games and the arrangements being made for the appointment of a committee of three to confer with the organization committee at Lake Placid and Los Angeles was authorized.

L. A. High Eleven Meets Lincoln Outfit in Feature Prep Grid Game Tomorrow Afternoon

TIGERS OUT TO TIE FOR TITLE

Four Teams Now Deadlocked for First Place

All Believe They Have Chance to Cop Crown

Toilers Likely to Come Through With Honors

BY IRVING ECKHOFF

Strange as it may seem, all four elevens, that are tied for first place in the City League, believe that Fate will smile on them individually tomorrow and when the smoke of battle from the final round of play clears, their team will be the undisputed champion.

Of the four, Manual Arts, Hollywood, Fremont and Lincoln, Coach Jim Blewett's Toilers have the best chance of the lot to take possession of the 1930 championship.

The Toilers have but to turn back the lowly Garfield Bulldogs, whom L. A. High trounced last week, 46-0, and in the meantime hope for a Roman victory over Lincoln.

The Tiger-L. A. High game listed for the Roman field is the feature game of the day, because if Jim Tunney's Tigers come through with a victory, Lincoln will tie for the title, and if they don't the race will be badly mixed up.

However, the Romans, after a more or less bad start, are now percolating on all eleven cylinders and unless the Tigers can show a stronger attack than they did against Fremont last Friday, Horace Bessee's outfit is very liable to tame the Bengals.

George Dirckx and his Fremont Pathfinders are pulling for a Lincoln win over L. A. High, and at the same time are hoping against hope that something will happen to Manual Arts in the Garfield struggle. If the Bulldogs should rise up and even hold the Toilers to a tie, the final standings would be very much affected.

Whatever chances the Hollywood Redskins have of even tying for the title are mighty slim and depend on how Manual comes out against Garfield. Should anything disastrous happen to the Toilers, Hollywood, if it beats Roosevelt tomorrow; and Fremont, if the Pathfinders can trim Fairfax; and Lincoln, if Tunney's Tigers can get over the Romans, will all tie for the championship.

No doubt about it, most anything can and will happen tomorrow and the best thing to do is either go to the Lincoln-L. A. High affair tomorrow, for that really is the key game, or buy a Saturday morning Times.

Two more games are listed, Poly at Franklin, with the Mechanics favored and Belmont at Jefferson, with the Democrats given the edge.

Swim Events on Same Card With Regatta

NEWPORT BEACH, Nov. 19.—Four swimming events will be added to the attractions here for the Christmas week regatta, to be staged on December 26, 27 and 28, it was announced today by the regatta committee of the Newport Harbor Chamber of Commerce committee, which is sponsoring the big event in co-operation with the local yacht clubs.

There will be swimming events for men, boys and another for women and girls, these three being for amateur entries, and another open to everyone. It is reported that several of the members of the Newport Beach life guards will enter the latter event. First and second prizes will be given in each of the four events. The swimming races will be staged at 11 a.m. Sunday morning, December 28, according to the present plans.

Plans for the power-boat race from Wilmington to Newport Bay, via Catalina, another cruiser race here, and races for all small sailing classes are going ahead well, Commodore J. A. Beek said today. The race from Wilmington is set for Saturday, December 27.

man; and halves—Moffatt and Caglieri.

The only surprise in the California selection, was the naming of Ray East as the starting right halfback, and the shifting of Ed Griffiths to the left-half position. Trainer Charley Volz said he did not think Hank Schaldach, regular left half and sparkplug of the Bears' offense, could stand the strain of a full game because of an injured knee.

The remainder of the California team was announced as follows: Ends, Avery and Thornton; tackles, Timmerman and Cahn; guards, Beckett and Capt. Handy; center, Eckmeyer; quarterback, Kirwan, and fullback, Garrity.

The Stanford team went through its last practice today and after a bonfire rally tonight left for an off-campus retreat to remain until game time.

Four thousand Stanford students sent the team on its way at one of the biggest bonfire rallies held in Stanford history. The bonfire pyre was in the shape of the University of California campanile and was built by Palo Alto carpenters with the help of the freshman class. Despite expected attempts of California students to set the blaze off prematurely, the rally was held on schedule.

The California team will not leave for its retreat until tomorrow night after the annual "big game" rally in Harmon gymnasium.

GEORGE PLANS TO USE TACKLE AGAINST FOE

The football tackle that Don George used so effectively in his last matches here is expected to be the hold that the young local mat star will depend upon in his efforts to dispose of Dan Koloff, the powerful Balkan mat lion, when they tangle in the finish feature event of Lou Daro's wrestling show at the Olympic Wednesday night.

Because of Koloff's tremendous neck and shoulder development George has practically decided not to try either headlocks or the flying head scissors grips against the rough 225-pounder. Koloff has shown in past matches here that the headlock is one hold he is always ready to give an opponent. He does it so that he can hook his foe with a body slam, a hold that he uses to crush his opponents with as he smashes them into the mat and then falls upon them.

Ever since George beat Koloff here early in May of this year the Balkan has been waiting for a chance to get the local youngster in a return bout. Their first match was a one-fall affair.

Henri De Glane, the spectacular French grappler, will clash with Ed (Strangler) Lewis, former world's champion, in the one-hour time limit special event. Steve Strelich, the "Terrible Swede," is scheduled to meet Lee Grimes of Australia in the opener.

"GEORGE KIRKWOOD" IS EXPELLED BY TROJANS

official yesterday, "that with all this loose chatter about proselyting and subsidizing of athletes we should find it necessary at this time to expel a boy who, by his own admission, practically burglarized his way in to play football under Howard Jones."

MAKES CONFESSION

Here is "Kirkwood's" complete statement as given out yesterday evening to newspaper men:

"Through no solicitation on the part of the University of Southern California or any person connected with the institution, I wish to state that I gained entrance as a regular student through deception. The following is a true statement of the facts concerning me:

"I graduated from Sumner High School, Sumner, Wash., in June, 1927, and the following September was regularly enrolled in the College of Puget Sound, Tacoma, Wash., under my real name, Spencer Kirkwood Purvis. While at the College of Puget Sound I competed in football during the seasons 1927 and 1928. I withdrew from the College of Puget Sound in February, 1929. I then decided that I wanted to attend another university and anxious to have three years of athletic competition. I concluded that this could be done by enrolling under an assumed name. About August, 1929, I wrote for an application blank for admission to the University of Southern California using the assumed name of George Spencer Kirkwood. In order to gain admission to the University of Southern California it was necessary that my credentials be sent direct from the high school to the Chairman of Admissions of the University of Southern California. I therefore had my principal forward my credentials to the University of Southern California under the assumed name of George Spencer Kirkwood. I proceeded to Los Angeles arriving there about a week before registration where I was notified that my credentials had been approved, for regular freshman admittance.

"The reason I chose to attend the University of Southern California was because of the great distance from my home town and because of my admiration for Coach Howard Jones and my desire to play under him and regret very much that I have betrayed the confidence that has been placed in me by all concerned and I sincerely trust that some day I may rectify the mistake I have made. I am wholeheartedly ashamed of what I have done and feel much better now that I have made a clean breast of the entire affair."

(Signed)

SPENCER KIRKWOOD PURVIS.

The story leading up to "Kirkwood's" dismissal is an unusual one. Tuesday afternoon a friend of the University of Southern California acquainted officials of the institution with certain facts concerning the player's status.

Hugh C. Willett, faculty athletic representative, and Willis O. Hunter, director of athletics, went to Bovard Field, called "Kirkwood" aside and asked him if his name was not Spencer Purvis.

DENIES ACCUSATION

"No, it is not," was Kirkwood's reply.

"Did you ever play at the College of Puget Sound in Tacoma?" was the next question.

"No, I did not," replied the player, "but I had a cousin by the name of Spencer Purvis who did."

"Does he resemble you?"

"Yes, he does," replied the player.

"Where is he now?"

"I don't know."

Further questioning was productive of nothing but denials from "Kirkwood" as to any irregularity in his name, and the officials departed apparently satisfied but resolved to make an investigation.

Late Tuesday night "Kirkwood" appeared at the home of Hunter and declared that he would make clean breast of the affair. He said that the facts, as given the university, were essentially correct in every detail, expressed sorrow for what he had done, and ended up by making the statement which appears in these columns.

Prof. Willett's statement dismissing "Kirkwood" from the university mailed to all members of the Pacific Coast Conference yesterday follows:

November 19, 1930.

"To all members of the Pacific Coast Intercollegiate Athletic Conference:

"Please cancel from our 1930 varsity eligibility certificate the name of KIRKWOOD, GEORGE (SPENCER.)

"This student has been dismissed from the University of Southern California because of his entrance and registration under an assumed name and because of the falsification of his entrance records.

"A statement of the athletic competition in which this student has engaged since August, 1929, will be filed with the president of the Pacific Coast Conference.

"H. C. WILLETT,
"Faculty Athletic Representative University of Southern California."

There was no attempt on the part of Southern California officials to hush up the matter, despite the fact that "Kirkwood's" dismissal, coming on top of the prominence which has been given dispatches on the question of intercollegiate athletics, places the university in an embarrassing position.

In fact, had the revelation been made ten days ago, it would not receive more than a few paragraphs at the most, as "Kirkwood" has not been a prominent player this season, although looked upon as a very promising prospect as a freshman.

TOOK MOTHER'S NAME

"Kirkwood" happens to be the maiden name of Purvis's mother. Both his mother and father are now dead and it is said that friends and relatives in the Northwest did not know he was enrolled at the University of Southern California, they having been told that he was in South America.

Every student who enters Southern California, be he an athlete or nonathlete, signs the following pledge: "I hereby certify that the information I submit in this application is complete and correct to the best of my knowledge and belief."

"Kirkwood" signed this pledge, but neglected to mention anything about playing at Puget Sound following his graduation from Sumner High School, nor did he mention that "Kirkwood" was an assumed name. On his registration certificate Kirkwood declared he had been at Sumner from 1923 to June, 1927. It develops that he played at Puget Sound in 1927 and '28 and enrolled as a freshman at Southern California in 1929. He entered with fourteen and one-half accepted credits and had maintained better than a C average in his studies, this being essential to athletic participation and graduation.

"This is a matter out of the hands of the athletic department. We have enough to handle with the normal run of athletic affairs.

"By his statement the player entered Southern California under an assumed name with forged entrance requirements made out for him by his principal at Sumner High School in Washington.

"I don't think it necessary for me to say that had the university athletic department known these facts the player never would have been issued a suit for football.

"If anybody has any information regarding any members of our squad they think should be divulged, we will welcome such information.

"Fortunately, from Southern California's standpoint, the player was no component part in whatever success we have had on the football field. He did start the Washington State game because of injuries to regulars, but since then has been a third-stringer.

"It seems to me inasmuch as irresponsible and conniving persons have brought about this situation, the time has come for expulsion of the main offender in this case, who, by the player's own statement, is the principal of Sumner High School."

Frank Brooks was principal of Sumner High School at the time "Kirkwood" graduated. It is said that Brooks also coached football at Washington school. Efforts were being made last night to get in touch with Brooks and get his side of the falsification of "Kirkwood's" entrance requirements.

"Kirkwood" first came into prominence last year when Orv Mohler was hurt as a quarterback with the frosh. The Sumner boy played nice football and Jones started him out this fall as understudy to Erny Pinckert at right halfback. A switch was soon made, however, "Kirkwood" going over to left half, where he subbed for Marger Apsit. However, the player could not block effectively, and after a so-so performance against Washington State, Tom Mallory moved up to understudy Apsit and "Kirkwood" went to the third string, where he has since performed. He was rated the best punter on the squad and a fine forward passer.

IT'S ALL NEWS TO PRESIDENT

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Nov. 19. (AP)—W. B. Owens, Stanford professor and president of the Pacific Coast Conference, said tonight the ineligibility of George Kirkwood, University of Southern California halfback, was "all news" to him.

He said, however, the conference has no rules covering the forfeiture of athletic contests because of the use of ineligible players.

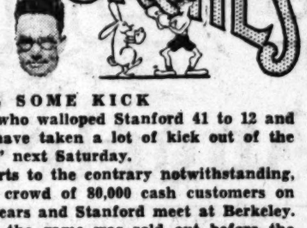
MOORE OUT TO CHECK CASANOVA

Tom Moore will be out to halt Sandy Casanova's winning streak at the Main-street Athletic Club Saturday night. Casanova has scored nine knockouts in as many starts but none of his opponents has had the class of Moore. The latter is a veteran who is thoroughly ringwise and who can still step six rounds with a lot of speed. In the other half of the double main event of two six-round bouts Harry Wallinder will be a strong favorite over Manuel Trevino, Mexican junior lightweight.

Three four-round bouts complete the card and each should be a slambang battle. They are: Jimmy Martinez vs. Santos Maniano, 112 pounds; Lucky Baldwin vs. Tony Galtan, 135 pounds and Melvin Bobo vs. Guillermo Gerola, 138 pounds.

RABBIT PUNCHES

BY PAUL LOWRY



STILL SOME KICK

THE brutal S.C. boys who walloped Stanford 41 to 12 and California 74 to 0 have taken a lot of kick out of the so-called "big game" next Saturday.

Nevertheless, all reports to the contrary notwithstanding, there will be a capacity crowd of 80,000 cash customers on hand when the Golden Bears and Stanford meet at Berkeley.

As a matter of fact, the game was sold out before the season even started.

The "big game" is the "big game" to California and Stanford undergraduates and alumni regardless of other scores. The minute the application blanks go out they are oversubscribed within a week.

This year a new record was established when Californians past and present oversubscribed their allotment by 4500 ducats four days after the blanks began coming back in the mail.

The public never has a chance at tickets for this game except through the scalpers, and the market is never drugged.

So while some portions of the world may be feeling sorry for the Berkeley boys and the Palo Alto boys the Bay Region public is engaged in its annual custom of chiseling for pasteboards.

A PEACEFUL LIFE

AS MENTIONED before, the Tournament of Roses Association is certainly leading a peaceful existence this year.

There wasn't an ounce of perplexity over the selection of Washington State as the standard bearer for the West on New Year's Day.

The Cougars came through undefeated and won the Coast Conference championship. That entitled them to the New Year's Day bid.

The representative of the East will be decided Thanksgiving when undefeated Alabama and Georgia, loser only to Tulane and victor over Yale and New York U. in intersectional games, meet to decide southern supremacy.

If Washington State wants Northwestern as a foe, in case the Purple beats Notre Dame, then that is Washington State's worry.

Washington State has a bigger drag with Northwestern than anybody else on the Coast. Dick Hanley, the Purple's coach, is an old Washington State star, and if anybody can turn the trick of bringing a Big Ten team to the Coast he should be the man.

However, Purdue, champion last year, was unable to gain the Big Ten's consent, and it is unlikely Northwestern will be any more successful.

BY THE way Hanley was not the quarterback and not the star of the Washington State team which beat Brown, 14 to 0, at Pasadena on New Year's Day of 1916.

It is true he played with the Cougar team in the Brown game.

But a robust gent named "Bull" Durham was the quarterback and directing genius of the Cougar attack which sent two touchdowns across the Brown line in the second half.

Hanley started the game at right half, giving way to Boone, who with Dietz and Bangs were the ground-gaining stars of the game in the second half.

Boone and Dietz each scored touchdowns, and Durham kicked both goals.

Ray Loomis of Glendale, who has been Washington State's contact man with the Tournament of Roses officials this year, played left end for the Cougars against Brown and was another star of a game played in a drizzling rain and on a slippery field.

ball rolling twenty feet past the cup. She played for her 4, the ball stopping two feet away. Mrs. Berg holed her putt for a 5, and then Mrs. Lifur missed to lose the hole and match.

Mrs. Lifur's defeat is a decided loss to the tournament, but Mrs. Berg has a world of credit coming to her for a victory as sensational as any seen here in many a day.

If Mrs. Berg defeats Miss Bea Gottlieb of Rancho in the second round this morning, she will have definitely arrived in tournament competition.

While Mrs. Lifur was being upset, favorites scored victories in every other instance. Mrs. C. J. Woerner of Lakeside and Mrs. Roy Green of California, defending champion, meet this morning in the feature match of the year. bid for the final Olympic track and field tryouts, and it was referred to the incoming executive committee along with an application from Salt Lake City for the Rocky Mountain sectional tryouts held in Denver in 1928. BEAVERS DUE FOR GRID TILT the Bruins were beaten, so by all reasoning the Oregon State team figures to beat the Westwood lads tomorrow night. Bill Spaulding's team has not shown anything much in Conference games that resembled much of a threat on offense. But tomorrow, according to the Westwood "railbirds," the Bruins will uncork a passing attack that will knock the Beavers bowlegged.

The Bruins have been working a new series of lateral passes and forward passes at the Westwood field all week. The Westwooders have several passes that resemble basketball formations that they hope will click against Oregon State.

Despite talk to the contrary, Bruin coaching officials insist that Bob Decker will start against the Beavers. He has a bone bruise that has given him considerable trouble, but he will be ready for action tomorrow night. Decker is the best ball carrier the Bruins have this year. He is a hard hitter, and if he gets going tomorrow may give the Staters some real trouble.

The Bruins have shaved off plenty of points from their opponents' scores this year as compared with last season. U.S.C. beat the Bruins, 76 to 0, in 1929, and this year it was 52 to 0. Thirty-seven points came off the Stanford score this season. The Oregon total was cut 20 points. Nine digits were shaved from St. Mary's, too. All in all, Spaulding has shown quite an improvement defensively with his team. Offensively the Bruins have not kept in step.

What they may show tomorrow night may make up somewhat for early season defeats. Spaulding had a green line, and for that matter a green backfield, at the start of the season. His team is well coached in fundamentals, and improves with every start. Don't be surprised if the U.C.L.A. boys turn on a lot of steam tomorrow night.

Howard Willoughby is lost for the season to the Bruins, it was announced yesterday. The star tackle has an injury that will necessitate an operation following the holidays. Lloyd McMillan has taken over Willoughby's berth. The Bruins will start Haight at left end in place of Mulhaupt. The latter is the regular end. He is all right but Spaulding evidently has something in mind for him to do later. He is one of the best pass receivers the Bruins have ever uncovered. Watch him Friday night, when he gets in. Capt. Solomon will start at quarterback.

The Oregon State team will arrive on the West Coast Limited and they will put up at the Hotel Huntington.

STARFERENCE VICTOR IN TANFORAN RACE

TANFORAN, Nov. 19. (AP)—Starference, with W. Johns up, easily won the Tiburon purse feature race here today. Betfandot, ridden by A. Hollinshead, made ground to be second, but was no match for the winner. Gregory, third, raced forwardly all the way.

CANZONERI MAY BATTLE IN OLYMPIC RING SOON

Tony Canzoneri, new lightweight champion, may show here in an overweight bout next month. The Olympic Club yesterday followed up reports that the champion was available by an offer to box either Tom Morgan or the Eddie Mack-Cecil Payne winner.

Payne and Mack are slated to go go to the post Tuesday night at the Grand-avenue club. The weight is 135 pounds. Morgan is supposed to hold the Pacific Coast lightweight title and he may figure in a bout with Mack or Payne and the winner take Canzoneri.

Both Mack and Payne have fought Canzoneri. Payne was outpointed by the Italian in Detroit last March. Mack was beaten by Canzoneri in Chicago a year ago last September after sustaining an injury to one ankle early in the bout.

Mack has yet to lose a fight here. He knocked out Baby Sal Sorio and Doc Snell and took two decisions from Goldie Hess and whipped Morgan and Maurice Holtzer.

Payne has lost but one fight on the Coast. That was to Johnny Lamar. He beat Hess twice, Hector McDonald, Richie King and Joe Guerro.

The Olympic is making plans to use Earl Mastro as soon as the Chicago featherweight star gets in shape. He started training yesterday at Murietta Hot Springs, but needs a little time.

Mastro's last fight was over two months ago, when he got a draw with Fidel La Barba in Chicago.

Pomona Five Starts Work

CLAREMONT, Nov. 19.—Basketball practice at Pomona College was opened yesterday, when Coach "Fuzz" Merritt sent his Sagehens against Pomona Junior College here yesterday in a no-score training contest. The Hens, led by Capt. Hal Hadfield, forward, had things their own way in the affair, and Merritt used all the men on the squad.

Besides Hadfield, Stan Hahn, forward; Owen Kelson and Frank Clements, guards, are returning letter men. Al Putnam, captain of the football team, is a veteran from two seasons ago, and he may report for the cage sport following the Occidental game. Several strong reserves from last year, including John Blanchard, Steve Stroud and Hoyt Atkin, forwards; Bud Fisher and Dick Roby, centers, have reported already. Bob Hickcox, guard, is still busy with football. Kermit Hansen, Jerry Ludden and Capt. Pete Crabtree of the frosh last season are expected to put up a fight for regular berths.

CHAFFEY JAYSEES TO INVADE HAWAII

ONTARIO, Nov. 19.—On the 26th inst., Chaffey Junior College football team numbering twenty-four members, will set sail from San Francisco for the Hawaiian Islands, where they have scheduled two football games. The first game will be with McKinley High School, December 6, and the other with Kamehameha University, December 13.

Hoppe Holds Lead in Match

NEW YORK, Nov. 19. (AP)—Continuing his great play to win the sixth block in succession, 300 to 75, tonight, Welker Cochran of Hollywood, Cal., took a lead of 1800 to 884 over Willie Hoppe at the halfway mark in their twelve-block match for the world's 18.1 balkline billiards championship.

Cochran won the afternoon block today, 300 to 239, ending it with an unfinished run of 33. Tonight he carried the cluster to 84 before he missed. The block went only eight innings, as Cochran made a high run of 100 and wound up with an unfinished run of 75. Hoppe never could get started and had a high run of 19.

The Hollywood star had an average of 37 4-8 for the block to Hoppe's 9 3-8. The grand averages now are: Cochran, 36 32-53; Hoppe, 16 48-52.

Inning scores for tonight's block:

Cochran, 84, 0, 2, 28, 26, 100, 8, 10, 75, 300—1800.
Hoppe, 2, 9, 17, 19, 5, 3, 17, 3, 75—884.

Officials of the Southern California hockey circuit met last night at the Winter Garden to consider two protests and when the meeting adjourned the Gilmore-Shell game played last week and the Sunfrost-Gilmore tussle played last Monday evening were ordered thrown out and played over again. Eligibility of several players was the cause of the rumpus and the club managers were warned to stay within the requirements of the league by-laws covering professional ice hockey players, who were the cause of the protests by Shell in one game and Gilmore in the other.

Tonight at the Garden, the circuit again gets under way when Doc Claman leads his powerful Shell Oil Tigers out to meet the Union Oil Pirates in a contest that should be filled with action from the opening bell.

Stoneham to Hold Interest in Giant Club

NEW YORK, Nov. 19. (Exclusive) William F. Kenny, millionaire friend of ex-Gov. Alfred E. Smith, has sold his stock in the New York Giants' baseball club to a group of politicians, of which Charles A. Stoneham, president and majority stockholder of the National Exhibition Company, corporate title of the Giants, is a member, it was learned today. Mr. Stoneham admitted he is one of the purchasers, but said he does not know who the others are.

This deal definitely puts an end to the long battle to oust Mr. Stoneham from the controlling position in the Giants' household, and intrenches him more firmly than ever.

He already owned 60 per cent of the stock, and now, with a share of Mr. Kenny's 20 per cent holdings, has virtually complete power over the Giants' business affairs.

Payment for the stock is to be made tomorrow or Friday.

Jordan Leads in Cue Event

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 19. (AP)—Charles E. Jordan of Los Angeles took the lead in the western sectional three-cushion billiard duel here tonight by outshooting Henry Solomon of Spokane, Wash., 50 to 39. This was the first of a three-block match of 150 points to qualify for the world's championship tournament.

Jordan, southwestern champion, ran out the first 50 points in sixty-six innings. Solomon, representing the Pacific Northwest, appeared to be off his game while Jordan made spectacular shots. Jordan made a high run of 6 and Solomon 5.

TROJANS PLAN CHARITY GAME

(Signed) WILLIS O. HUNTER, Director of Intercollegiate Athletics.

Prices for tickets have not yet been established. This will be worked out within the next day or so. In some quarters there is a demand for a graded scale from $1.50 to $5, although others feel that it will be best to have the entire Coliseum sold at $3 per ticket.

PLAN 90,000 CROWD

By December 20 the Coliseum will seat 90,000 persons. At $3 per head this will bring a gate of close to $300,000, inasmuch as box seats will be sold at a higher price. There will be no rental for the Coliseum for this game, the 12 per cent which the Coliseum generally deducts for games, being contributed to the charity cause in this instance. The only expense, outside of tickets, will be that of the two teams competing.

St. Mary's last played the Trojans in 1928. Southern California won that game, 19 to 6. The teams played in 1925, Howard Jones's first year here, Southern California winning, 12 to 0.

In 1924 the Saints came here and defeated the Trojans, 14 to 10, Gus Henderson coaching the S.C. team at that time. This was the year of the break between California and Stanford on one side and S.C. on the other. The Trojans played California on November 1 and lost, 7 to 0, the break being announced just as Henderson's team went on the field. The Stanford game, originally set for November 8, was canceled and instead, St. Mary's came south on that date and won.

KNOCKED OFF FORDHAM

St. Mary's has a fine team this season, having gone east last Saturday and won over the hitherto undefeated Fordham eleven of New York, 20 to 12. The squad is coached by Edward (Slip) Madigan, former Notre Dame player and one of the most colorful mentors in the country. California upset the Galloping Gaels, 7 to 6, this season, in the only defeat in two years for St. Mary's.

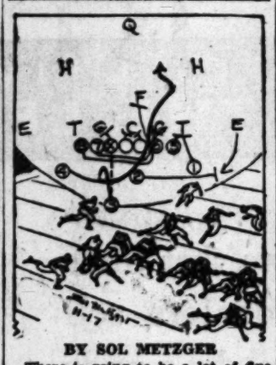
The Trojans close their regular season December 6 with Notre Dame in the Coliseum.

St. Mary's has two all-American candidates on its team, Fred Stennett, halfback, and Harry Ebding, end. Both are seniors and have been outstanding grid performers for three years.

ANSWER HELD UP UNTIL TOMORROW

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 19. (Exclusive)—Louis Lefebre, St. Mary's graduate manager, tonight received the invitation from the University of Southern California to play a post-season game. Lefebre, while keenly interested in the proposed game, asked that St. Mary's answer be deferred until Friday, when the team will arrive home from its triumphant tour of the East.

Line Attack of Ohio Paves Way for Run



BY SOL METZGER

There is going to be a lot of fine sport at Illinois this Saturday, when Ohio State comes to town for the final game of the season for both these elevens. Both coaches want a victory as neither team has been any too strong this fall. Here is one of the fine plays Ohio will depend upon to crack wide the Illinois line and thus pave the way for its passing attack, the type of attack that Zuppke's men most fear.

The ball is snapped to No. 3, who bucks straight ahead, spins and then hands the ball to No. 4, crossing to the right rear. No. 2 is already out to spill the defensive left end, while No. 1 helps his right end. No. 5, box the defensive left tackle.

A mass of players drive at the point of attack, between the defensive center and left guard. The interfering members of this group are the short side-linemen, No. 7 and 8, who lead No. 4 through, if the hole has been made, and give him a break into the open field, where individual ability at dodging, straight-arming and change of pace decides the issue. It's either a big ground gainer or a complete block behind the line.

RUBE ELLIS KAYOES SPEERS IN SECOND

Rube Ellis won on a knockout over Jack Speers in the second round of the Pico Bowl fights last night. Speers was a substitute. John Pozz took a four-round decision over Vic McNeal in the semi-wind-up. Bobby Bridges and Warren Farrell battled to a draw in the four-round special. Percy Rodreguez outpointed Rito Martinez in the curtain-raiser.

Yale, Harvard Base Season's Success on Traditional Game

ELI HAS BETTER RECORD OF TWO

Teams Rated on Even Terms for Crucial Battle

One Play May Decide Issue in Annual Big Game

Crimson Lateral Pass Attack May Defeat Blue

BY GRANTLAND RICE

[Copyright, 1930, by North American Newspaper Alliance.]

The value of a traditional rival in sport can hardly be better shown or proved than in the coming meeting of Yale and Harvard.

Yale has lost only one game this season after a hard schedule and that was an early game to Georgia. Harvard hasn't won a game since mid-October. In its last five starts the Crimson has lost four and tied one. Yet by beating Yale Harvard can round out a pretty fair season, after all, and by losing to Harvard Yale will consider her season something of a flop. Princeton came near giving Bill Roper a big season last week when it almost beat Yale, after a record even rougher than the Crimson order.

There are those who will rise up to remark that this is largely bunk—but it isn't. Any golfer will tell you there are certain old rivals he would rather beat than all the strangers and mere acquaintances in the world. Jim would rather trim Bill than beat Bobby Jones. Yale can finish a fine season by stopping Harvard abruptly, and Harvard can take practically all the poison from the various stings of the season by hanging a wreath of thorns around Eli's neck.

In addition to this both Yale and Harvard have two strong football teams, Harvard's main trouble having come from a serious attack of injuries through the fall. Harvard banked too heavily on her lateral passing attack and when the Mays-Devens combination was broken up it was too late to build another, which can't be done in one season along effective lines. But there are any number of high-class football players on both teams and there is sure to be a swirl of action and interest from start to finish.

In the same way Yale has played better football than Harvard has shown most of the year, but the gap has not been big Army beat Harvard 7 to 0 and Yale and the Army tied at 7-7. Dartmouth beat Harvard 7-2 and Yale and Dartmouth tied at 0-0. This doesn't show any vast difference in the two main rivals faced by the Blue and Crimson teams.

Having lost the last two Harvard games, Yale is out for this one with all the drive and charge Eli has. Having known one of her worst seasons, Harvard is keener than ever to make up for much of the deficit by beating Yale. But they need no such incentives. It is quite enough to know that Yale and Harvard are meeting to understand the situation.

Yale has better reserves and a sounder all-around attack. Last Saturday at Princeton Yale's second team outplayed the first, which is something of a tribute to the coaching of Mal Stevens and his staff. So far as football form up to date goes, Yale has the edge, but this game, like that of last year, may be decided largely on one play. Yale has had trouble breaking up the lateral pass for the last two years, and if the same trouble exists on Saturday Yale will probably be beaten.

When Jimmy McLarnin steps into the ring against Billy Petrolle on Friday night there is a large chance that the Fargo Express will be facing the best fighter now in the game, pound for pound.

The only one who might give McLarnin an argument on this point is Mickey Walker, still one of the wonders of his game. McLarnin and Walker come closer to expressing in action just what the fight game should mean than any other two men. And this is largely because they work along the lines of attack and not defense. The mental attitudes of both are all on offensive lines. This is the factor that made Jack Dempsey the most popular of the fighting machines. It is doubtful if Dempsey ever thought in terms of self-protection, or defense. It has been the manly art of attack rather than the manly art of self-defense with Dempsey, McLarnin and Walker, and there are not many who walk along this same road.

Many have expressed the opinion that Bobby Jones's absence from tournament play would take away a lot of interest from both the open and the amateur. There may be some slackening of interest in the open, but it will not be pronounced. When Gene Tunney retired he happened to leave no successor who was even close. But when Bobby Jones retires he leaves such great golfers to battle for the top as Mac Smith, Armour, Hagen, Horton Smith, Sarazen, Diegel and ten or twenty others who are capable of holding interest through a seventy-two-hole scrap. There will again be over 1200 entries trying to qualify for the open and the survivors will number most of the great golfers of the world. As far as the amateur championship is concerned, there should be even greater interest for it will now be an open fight where before it was largely a one-man parade.

SAGEHEN HARRIERS TO TACKLE BRUINS

CLAREMONT, Nov. 19.—Coach Bob Strehle will send his Pomona College cross-country team against the U.C.L.A. Bruins here Friday afternoon in the second practice engagement of the season for the Sagehens. The Hens bowed recently to the strong Los Angeles Junior College Cubs, who also hold a victory over the Bruins, and they are working to take the Uclans into camp.

Sheldon Smith, John Morrison, Bill White, Ollie Brogdon and Stan Warburton all have shown up well in training for Pomona.

Six Canadian Hockey Stars Cross Border

The immigration ban has been lifted on six Canadian hockey players, who are now on their way here to join the Los Angeles Millionaires, who open the season at the Winter Garden Ice Palace next Monday. Due to the unemployment situation, hockey players are no longer admitted as entertainers, a large cash bond being necessary in each case. After several days of waiting, during which wires changed hands between Mel Malwick here, Manager Kenny MacKenzie at Winnipeg and United States immigration officials at Washington, the six athletes were permitted to cross the border on the assumption that they were not cutting Americans out of their jobs. Lindsay Carver was held up at Vancouver, while Filkin, Pridham, Gray, Sanders and Campbell were at Winnipeg.

"BIG GAMES" A FORCE OF HABIT

everybody except Vassar College doesn't affect the interest in the game and, what's more, doesn't affect the outcome of it, either. It's a toss-up.

The same thing goes for California and Stanford up at Berkeley. You'd think, off-hand, that teams that had lost to a down-State rival, 41 to 12 and 74 to 0, respectively, couldn't draw anything but flies. However, the Stanford-California game has been sold out since last August and it is as good as sold out for next year and the year after that, and so on.

Occidental and Pomona, to come right down close to home, have the oldest continuously carded game in the West. They tangled first in 1895 and have a record of thirty years' uninterrupted competition. As a result of this lengthy rivalry the Occidental-Pomona game has come to mean more to each school than the championship of the Southern California Conference, or any half a dozen other games put together. A rotten season becomes a success for the team that wins the annual tangle.

And how they do battle. For the last three years they've been separated by a touchdown or less. In the past ten years only on one occasion have more than 10 points separated these old-time rivals. Terrible Occidental teams have rise n up to beat better Pomona teams. The same thing goes for Pomona.

This year, on their records, the teams are rather evenly matched. Occidental and Pomona each lost to San Diego by a single touchdown. They lost to Arizona by identically the same score. Caltech beat Occidental by six points and Pomona by two. Each team beat Redlands by a touchdown. The only mutual rival that gives the edge to one team is Whittier. The Tigers ran riot against the Poets to win, 25 to 0, while Pomona, in turn, collapsed before the Whittier onslaught by as lopsided a score.

Pomona and Occidental are, by their own choice, small colleges. The big universities graduate classes every year that are as large in number as the entire alumni body of one of these two schools. That being the case they aren't like to fill the Pasadena Rose Bowl to overflowing, but the crowd will be much too large for the home field of either school.

A brisk demand for tickets is reported by Manager Ellsworth of Occidental who says that the doddering old alumni of both institutions are planning to mingle beneath the leafy boughs of Brookside Park for the purpose of eating and telling lies about each other previous to the game and will adjourn to the mammoth Rose Bowl in time for the preliminary freshman game which starts at noon while the general public will probably not begin moving in very rapidly until 2:15 o'clock when the varsity contest will be called.

GARFIELD QUINTET TRIMMED BY BELL

Completely outclassing the weak Garfield basketball team, the Bell High School quintet hung up a 31-to-9 victory over the Bulldogs yesterday in their first practice game of the season played on the loser's court. Garfield failed to score a single point in the first half, while Bell chalked up fifteen. In the last quarter the Bulldogs managed to hit the hoop for 9 points, Bell scoring 16. Roedeger and Lyman starred for the visitors. In a preliminary game, the Bell lightweights trimmed the Bullpups, 21 to 7.

The line-ups:

Bell (31.)		Garfield (9.)
Roedeger	F.	Johnson
Harmon	F.	Gormley
Lyman	C.	Tyler
Carlucci	G.	Bell
Frazier	G.	Cheney

BLEWETT BROTHERS MEET ON GRIDIRON

Johnny Blewett, coach of the San Diego Marine football team, will come to Los Angeles tomorrow to confer with Bill Blewett, his brother and coach of the Los Angeles Fire Department, on the preliminary details of the game Sunday between the Smoke-Eaters and the Devil Dogs. Thirty-five Leathernecks will be on the squad that the Marines will send here to battle the Firemen.

The Marines are anxious to beat the Firemen this year. They lost to the Smoke-Eaters last season and Johnny Blewett and his players are still sore about it.

BRUNMIER LOOMS AS REAL DARK HORSE AT SPEEDWAY

While the spot light in the local racing colony was yesterday focused upon Ralph De Palma, Herman Schurch, Bill Cummings, Fred Frame, Babe Stapp and several other drivers who will be making their first appearance of the season at the Legion Ascot Speedway Sunday afternoon, a good portion of local fandom is looking for a "dark horse" to come through the winner in the 100-lap sweepstakes.

The "dark horse" may be none other than "Count" Arvel Brunmier, the Whittier youth who two weeks ago, staged a "dime-novel" finish when he drove home to win first money with his car completely out of commission.

Brunmier, who arose from comparative obscurity to become a sensation at the Legion course in a few months' time, set a dizzy pace throughout the race, and when his motor started missing at the ninety-sixth lap, he "stuck to his guns" and barely managed to finish ahead of "Shorty" Cantlon, the Detroit ace.

Legion officials announced yesterday that the program that was followed two weeks ago will be offered Sunday. The qualifying will start at 12 noon, the races at 2:30 p.m., and the Italian Helmet Dash, twenty-lap consolation and 100-lap feature will be staged in the order named.

RIVAL CLUB SQUADS PLAY TIE AT SQUASH

Teams representing the Pasadena Athletic and Jonathan clubs fought to a draw in the first of a series of squash games played at Pasadena. In the first event, Carl Kegley of the Jonathan Club succeeded in taking two out of three from Harry Williams, the Pasadena club champion. The situation was evened up, however, when H. G. Boultinghouse, runner-up for the Pasadena club champions, took H. Coorpender to task for two out of three games.

R. C. Samuelson lost two straight to F. A. E. Lowell of the Jonathan Club, and the Pasadena club then balanced the affair again when L. Button won two out of three from Herbert Day.

GOEDERS GETS INITIAL HOLLYWOOD MAIN EVENT

Joe Goeders gets his first main event at the Hollywood American Legion stadium tomorrow night and he will be a short-ender because George Courtney has the better reputation. Courtney didn't live up to his reputation when he fought Tom Patrick. That is the dope being circulated. Goeders stopped Jimmy Hanna last week at San Diego and unless Courtney shows some improvement over his showing against Patrick he will probably run second when the referee declares a winner.

Many a boy has gotten his start at Hollywood. Goeders last fought there as a preliminary boy in the special event. He beat Joe Bitto easily. Since then he has improved greatly and has done most of his fighting in San Diego. He is a Santa Ana boy.

Jimmy Mack should beat Ernie Hood in the semi-wind-up. Mack appears too rugged and hits too hard for boys like Hood. This fight looks to be the best of the preliminary bouts.

Hood. This fight looks to be the best of the preliminary bouts.

In the special Johnny Previs will get the call over Marcelino Lomelli. They are lightweights. The four-rounders will be Johnny Rogers and Tony Ross and Mickey Erno and Addie Bejuiao. They are bantamweights.

ROGERS AND SON TO STAR IN POLO TILT

With Will Rogers, gum-chewing comedian, and his up-and-coming young son, Will, Jr., teaming up for the day at the forward positions on the Rovers, the Buccaneers with whom they clash on the Uplifters' polo field next Sunday are pat to have a busy afternoon. Both of the Rogerses are very proficient in the matter of shooting goals, and aiding and abetting each other at No. 1 and No. 2 they are expected to ring up quite a goodly number for the Rovers.

The line-ups:

Rovers		Buccaneers
Will Rogers, Jr.	No. 1	T. Lyell Puckett
Will Rogers	No. 2	John Brandeis
Chas. Crawford	No. 3	Snowy Baker
Lionel Pedley	Back	Carl Beal

Common Sense Sugge

The "LAST INCH" Test

IT is sensible to buy cigars that you can smoke down to the very last inch, with keen enjoyment all the way. Admiration Cigars are cool, mild, mellow, from the first puff to the very last. Their 100% Havana fillers are aged a full year to impart mellowed mildness; they are hand-made to assure free drawing, the secret of cigar coolness.

See if you can smoke your cigar down to the last inch. If it gets hot, strong or bitter, it has failed in the "Last Inch" test. If it stays cool, mild and mellow as Admirations do, it has passed.

TARZAN AND THE GOLDEN LION

By Edgar Rice Burroughs

...country have you attempted to thwart the ...queen," La charged fiercely. "Know then, ...holds power of life and death over you, ...Priest though you be, as well as the mean... of Opar. Our legends tell us that more than ...Priest has been offered upon the Flaming ...Beware—lest you be added to that list!" ...sheathed his knife. But those who knew ...knew that he but waited for a propitious ...to have Tarzan's life blood.

F28 Copyright, 1930, by Edgar Rice Burroughs, Inc. All rights reserved.

Cadj had a strong following among the priests and people of Opar. La had aroused their antagonism by her mad infatuation for the ape-man, years before. Furthermore, by their laws she had been compelled to mate with Cadj. But she made no effort to conceal her hatred and loathing for him. Cadj knew this, so it was not strange that he entertained treasonable thoughts toward his queen. Besides, there was another woman in the case. Oah, a lesser priestess, who aspired to the power and offices of La.

...said be done away with, then Cadj had ...soon enough to have Oah made High Priestess. ...as yet both were bound by the superstitious ...of their flaming deity. Because of this fact the ...La was not in danger for the present. It ...realize, however, but the slightest spark to ...the fire of treason dormant in the hearts of ...natives. So far she was well within her rights ...ordering the sacrifice of Tarzan by the High ...but her fate, her very life, she knew, depended ...her future treatment of the prisoner.

All this time Tarzan had shewn no sign of life. Ignoring Cadj, La now crossed to the ape-man's side and silently, for several minutes, looked down upon him. Who can say what were her thoughts? "If he still lives," she said at last, "construct a litter and bear him back to Opar." This the priests did, with enigmatic faces, laying their gigantic burden, still bound, on a litter which they made. Thus it was that once again came Tarzan of the Apes into the ancient city of the Atlantians. Came again a living sacrifice to be offered upon the golden altar of the Flaming Sun-god of Opar!

Earth Rooted, But Air Minded

GEE, FELLAS, LOOK THERE! THAT'S THE WAY TO TRAVEL. WE'LL ALL BE DOING IT BEFORE WE KNOW IT.
BELIEVE ME, WALT, I'M GOING TO HAVE ONE OF THOSE THINGS IF IT'S THE LAST THING I DO.
THAT'S WHAT IT WILL BE, BILL— THE LAST THING YOU DO.
THEY CHARGE SO MUCH FOR LESSONS. I WONDER IF A FELLA COULDN'T LEARN TO RUN ONE BY HIMSELF.
ABOUT THE TIME THEY GET THE ROADS ALL FIXED UP THEY'LL BE TAXING US FOR AIR LANES.
I'D HAVE ONE NOW IF I COULD GET A DECENT TRADE-IN ON THE OLD BUS.
ANYWAY, IF YOU RUN OUT OF GAS ALL YOU HAVE TO DO IS TAKE A PARACHUTE TO THE NEAREST FILLING STATION.
I BETCHA I COULD LEARN BY MYSELF. I WOULDN'T GO UP OVER FIFTY OR A HUNDRED FEET UNTIL I GOT THE HANG OF THE THING.
